The Routledge Handbook of Henri Lefebvre, The City and Urban Society Michael E. Leary-Owhin, John P.

McCarthy, 2019-11-21 The Routledge Handbook of Henri Lefebvre The City and Urban Society is the first edited book to focus on Lefebvre's urban theories and ideas from a global perspective making use of recent theoretical and empirical developments with contributions from eminent as well as emergent global scholars The book provides international comparison of Lefebvrian research and theoretical conjecture and aims to engage with and critique Lefebvre's ideas in the context of contemporary urban social and environmental upheavals to use Lefebvre's spatial triad as a research tool as well as a point of departure for the adoption of ideas such as differential space to reassess Lefebvre's ideas in relation to nature and global environmental sustainability and to highlight how a Lefebvrian approach might assist in mobilising resistance to the excesses of globalised neoliberal urbanism The volume draws inspiration from Lefebvre's key texts The Production of Space Critique of Everyday Life and The Urban Revolution and includes a comprehensive introduction and concluding chapter by the editors The conclusions highlight implications in relation to increasing spatial inequalities increasing diversity of needs including those of migrants more authoritarian approaches and asymmetries of access to urban space Above all the book illustrates the continuing relevance of Lefebvre's ideas for contemporary urban issues and shows via global case studies how resistance to spatial domination by powerful interests might be achieved The Handbook helps the reader navigate the complex terrain of spatial research inspired by Lefebvre In particular the Handbook focuses on the series of struggles globally for the right to the city and the collision of debates around the urban age cityism and planetary urbanisation It will be a guide for graduate and advanced undergraduate teaching and a key reference for academics in the fields of Human Geography Sociology Political Science Applied Philosophy Planning Urban Theory and Urban Studies Practitioners and activists in the field will also find the book of relevance Society and Environment: A Historical Review Jaqueline Tyrwhitt, 2015-05-01 Jaqueline Tyrwhitt 1905-1983 was a British town planner editor and educator This book includes four of Tyrwhitt's key texts to illustrate how she forged and promoted a synthesis of Patrick Geddes' bioregionalism and the utopian ideals of European Modernist urbanism which influenced post-war academic discourse and professional practice in urban planning and design internationally The key texts reprinted in this book are contributions from the Town and Country Planning Textbook 1950 which was published as an outcome for the Correspondence Course in Town Planning for members of the Allied Forces which Tyrwhitt ran It was designed to meet the requirements created by passage of the 1947 Town and Country Act and helped to shape a generation of planning practitioners in the UK and commonwealth countries Deprivation, State Interventions and Urban Communities in Britain, 1968-79 Peter Shapely, 2017-08-16

Focusing on a series of policy initiatives from the late 1960s through to the end of the 1970s this book looks at how successive governments tried to address growing concerns about urban deprivation across Britain. It provides unique insights into policy and governance and into the socio-economic and cultural causes and consequences of poverty. Starting with the impact of redevelopment policies, immigration and the rise of the inner city, this book examines the pressures and challenges that explain the development of policy by successive Labour and Conservative governments. It looks at the effectiveness and limits of different community development approaches and at the inadequacies of policy in tackling urban deprivation. In doing so, the book highlights the restricted impact of pilot projects and reform of public services in resolving deprivation as well as the broader limits of social planning and state welfare. Crucially, it also plots the shift in policy from an emphasis on achieving statutory service efficiencies and rolling out social development programmes towards an ever greater stress on regeneration and support for private capital as the solution to transforming the inner city.

Spaces of Congestion and Traffic David Rooney, 2018-09-03 This book provides a political history of urban traffic congestion in the twentieth century and explores how and why experts from a range of professional disciplines have attempted to solve what they have called the traffic problem. It draws on case studies of historical traffic projects in London to trace the relationship among technologies, infrastructures, politics and power on the capital's congested streets. From the visions of urban planners to the concrete realities of engineers and from the demands of traffic cops and economists to the new world of electronic surveillance, the book examines the political tensions embedded in the streets of our world cities. It also reveals the hand of capital in our traffic landscape. This book challenges conventional wisdom on urban traffic congestion, deploying a broad array of historical and material sources to tell a powerful account of how our cities work and why traffic remains such a problem. It is a welcome addition to literature on histories and geographies of urban mobility and will appeal to students and researchers in the fields of urban history, transport studies, historical geography, planning history and the history of technology.

Planning the Twentieth-century American City Mary Corbin Sies, Christopher Silver, 1996 Arguing that planning in practice is far more complicated than historians usually depict, the authors examine closely the everyday social, political, economic, ideological, bureaucratic and environmental contexts in which planning has occurred. In so doing, they redefine the nature of planning practice, expanding the range of actors and actions that we understand to have shaped urban development.

Bordered Cities and Divided Societies Scott A. Bollens, 2021-03-18 Bordered Cities and Divided Societies is a provocative, moving and poetic encounter with the hearts and minds of individuals living in nine cities of conflict, violence and healing: Jerusalem, Belfast, Johannesburg, Nicosia, Sarajevo, Mostar, Barcelona, Bilbao and Beirut. Based on research spanning 25 years, including 360 interviews and over two and a half years of in-country field research, this innovative work employs a series of concise, reflective narrative essays grouped into four thematic sections to provide a humanistic on-the-ground understanding of divided cities, conflict and peacemaking. Incorporating both scholarly analyses based on empirical research and introspective essays, Bollens digs underneath grand narratives of conflict to illuminate the complexities and paradoxes of living amid nationalistic political strife and the challenges of planning and policymaking in divided societies Richly illustrated the book includes informative synopses about the cities that provide access for general readers while extensive connections to recent literature enhance the book's research value to scholars Contemporary Archaeology and the City Laura McAtackney, Krysta Ryzewski, 2017-07-14 Contemporary Archaeology and the City foregrounds the archaeological study of post industrial and other urban transformations through a diverse international collection of case studies Over the past decade contemporary archaeology has emerged as a dynamic force for dissecting and contextualizing the material complexities of present day societies Contemporary archaeology challenges conventional anthropological and archaeological conceptions of the past by pushing temporal boundaries closer to if not into the present The volume is organized around three themes that highlight the multifaceted character of urban transitions in present day cities creativity ruination and political action The case studies offer comparative perspectives on transformative global urban processes in local contexts through research conducted in the struggling post industrial cities of Detroit Belfast Indianapolis Berlin Liverpool Bel m and post Apartheid Cape Town as well as the thriving urban centres of Melbourne New York City London Chicago and Istanbul Together the volume contributions demonstrate how the contemporary city is an urban palimpsest comprised by archaeological assemblages of the built environment the surface and buried sub surface that are traces of the various pasts entangled with one another in the present This volume aims to position the city as one of the most important and dynamic arenas for archaeological studies of the contemporary by presenting a range of theoretically engaged case studies that highlight some of the major issues that the study of contemporary cities pose for archaeologists The Fear of Population Decline Michael S. Teitelbaum, 2013-10-22 The Fear of Population Decline provides an elaborated discussion on the concept of population decline The book is comprised of seven chapters that show the extent to which demographic developments form a part of a much longer continuum of discussion and behavior In the opening chapter the book discusses the nature of population decline and then proceeds to demonstrate the complex ways in which fears of population decline emerged in the period 1870 1945 Chapter 4 details the advancement in the period 1945 1965 while Chapters 5 and 6 discuss the phenomenon of baby bust and policy responses to it The last chapter talks about the nature and possible dangers of population decline The text will be of great interest to readers who are concerned with the implication of population decline for the society as a whole
