The Georgian garden John Kingston Galpine, John Harvey, 1983      A History of Zinnias Eric Grissell, 2020-03-30 A History of Zinnias brings forward the fascinating adventure of zinnias and the spirit of civilization With colorful illustrations this book is a cultural and horticultural history documenting the development of garden zinnias one of the top ten garden annuals grown in the United States today The deep and exciting history of garden zinnias pieces together a tale involving Aztecs Spanish conquistadors people of faith people of medicine explorers scientists writers botanists painters and gardeners The trail leads from the halls of Moctezuma to a cliff diving prime minister from Handel Mozart and Rossini to Gilbert and Sullivan from a little known confession by Benjamin Franklin to a controversy raised by Charles Darwin from Emily Dickinson who writes of death and zinnias to a twenty year old woman who writes of reanimated corpses and from a scissor wielding septuagenarian who painted with bits of paper to the Black Grandma Moses who painted zinnias and inspired the opera Zinnias Zinnias are far more than just a flower They represent the constant exploration of humankind s quest for beauty and innovation      Retailing and the Language of Goods, 1550-1820 Nancy Cox, 2016-03-03 In this book the author explores the various meanings assigned to goods sold retail from 1550 to 1820 and how their labels were understood The first half of the book focuses on these labels and on mercantile language more broadly how it was used in trade and how lexicographers and others approached what for them were new vocabularies In the second half the author turns to the goods themselves and their relationships with terms such as luxury choice and love terms that were used as descriptors in marketing goods The language of objects is a subject of ongoing interest and the study of consumables opens up new ways of looking at the everyday language of the early modern period as well as the experiences of trade and consumption for both merchant and consumer      Cultivating Commerce Sarah Easterby-Smith, 2018 A new social history of botany in Britain and France 1760 1815 demonstrating the significance of commerce horticulture and amateur scholarship      Green Desire Rebecca Weld Bushnell, 2018-07-05 For Rebecca Bushnell English gardening books tell a fascinating tale of the human love for plants and our will to make them do as we wish These books powerfully evoke the desires of gardeners they show us gardeners who like poets imagine not just what is but what should be In particular the earliest English garden books such as Thomas Hill s The Gardeners Labyrinth or Hugh Platt s Floraes Paradise mix magical practices with mundane recipes even when the authors insist that they rely completely on their own experience in these matters Like early modern books of secrets early gardening manuals often promise the reader power to alter the essential properties of plants to make the gillyflower double to change the lily s hue or to grow a cherry without a stone Green Desire describes the innovative design of the old manuals examining how writers and printers marketed them as fiction as well as practical advice for aspiring gardeners Along with this attention to the delights of reading it analyzes the strange dignity and pleasure of garden labor and the division of men s and women s roles in creating garden art The book ends by recounting the heated debate over how much people could do to create marvels in their own gardens For writers and readers alike these green desires inspired dreams of power and self improvement fantasies of beauty achieved without work and hopes for order in an unpredictable world not so different from the dreams of gardeners today The Huntington Library Quarterly Henry E. Huntington Library and Art Gallery,1992

University of Toronto Quarterly University of Toronto,1895 An English Arcadia Harriet Ritvo,1992 Essays presented at the symposium An English Arcadia landscape and architecture in Britain and America held at the Huntington on 26 and 27 October 1991 in conjunction with an exhibition An English Arcadia 1600 1990 designs for gardens and garden buildings in the care of the British National Trust Meanings of the Garden Mark Francis,Randolph T. John Brinckerhoff Jackson,1988 Gilbert White and His Records Paul G. M. Foster,1988 New Zealand's Economic Native Plants Robert Cecil Cooper,R. C. Cambie,1991 In addition to its value as a national resource the native flora of New Zealand is among the most ancient in the world Here two experts draw on their unique knowledge of traditional Maori usage scientific research and economic developments in an eye opening account of past present and possible future uses of New Zealand plants The authors review the materials and products which can be obtained from plants along with their use in landscaping and conservation Many of the applications they examine are in chemistry dyestuffs tannins resin acids alkaloids and horticulture plants for gardens and conservatories others concern the extraction or manufacture of medicinal products food and beverages fibers essential oils and perfumes Plants may check erosion or slow run off grasses can be used for pasture or turf and microalgae are important oxygenators of sewage ponds Lichens fix atmospheric nitrogen vital to the well being of forests themselves a source of timber Informing their account throughout is the authors belief that the genetic resource of New Zealand s native flora should be tended and maintained in stark contrast to the traditional European approach of exploitation and replacement with introduced species Plants are listed with common scientific and Maori names and there is a comprehensive index of chemical terms The book is illustrated with photographs both of paintings and actual specimens Broad in its appeal New Zealand s Economic Native Plants will interest teachers and students of botany ecology chemistry biology and Maori studies as well as horticulturalists historians environmentalists and chemists Ecology and Design in Landscape British Ecological Society. Symposium,1986 Represents the outcome of a joint meeting of the Landscape Institute and the British Ecological Society at which the whole new relationship between ecology and design in landscape was explored by leading ecologists and landscape architects from a wide range of countries Daily Lives and Daily Routines in the Long Eighteenth Century Gudrun Andersson,Jon Stobart,2021-08-12 This book explores the ways in which the lives and routines of a wide range of people across different parts of Europe and the wider world were structured and played out through everyday practices It focuses on the detail of individual lives and how these were shaped by spaces and places by movement and material culture both the buildings they occupied and the objects they used in their everyday lives Drawing on original research by a range of established and emerging scholars each chapter peers into the lives of people from various social groups as they went about their daily lives from citizens on the streets to aristocrats at home in their country houses and from the urban elite at leisure to seamen on board ships bound for the East Indies For all these people daily routines were important in structuring their lives giving them a rhythm that was knowable and meaningful in its temporal regularity be that daily weekly or seasonal So too were their everyday encounters and relationships with other people within and beyond the home these shaped their practices movements and identities and thus served to mould society in a broader sense

Pen, Print and Communication in the Eighteenth Century Caroline Archer-Parré, Malcolm Dick, 2020 This volume considers writing and printing in parallel it highlights the intersections between the two methods of communication considers how writing and printing were deployed in the construction of personal and cultural identities and explores the production distribution and consumption of private and public letters words and texts during the eighteenth century AB Bookman's Weekly ,1992 Whitaker's Cumulative Book List ,1984 British Books in Print ,1985

Imagining Early Modern London J. F. Merritt, 2001-08-30 The 120 years that separate the first publication of John Stow's famous Survey of London in 1598 from John Strype's enormous new edition of the same work in 1720 witnessed London's transformation into a sprawling augustan metropolis very different from the compact medieval city so lovingly charted in the pages of Stow Imagining Early Modern London takes Stow's classic account of the Elizabethan city as a starting point for an examination of how generations of very different Londoners men and women antiquaries merchants skilled craftsmen labourers and beggars experienced and understood the dramatically changing city A series of interdisciplinary essays explore the ways in which Londoners interpreted and memorialized their past how individuals located themselves mentally socially and geographically within the city and how far the capital's growth was believed to have a moral influence upon its inhabitants Early Canadian Gardening Eileen Woodhead, 1998-08-31 Reproducing a rare 1827 plant and seed catalogue possibly the earliest extant catalogue of its kind in Canada Early Canadian Gardening presents an extensive range of garden plants trees shrubs fruits and flowers that were grown for food medicines and dyestuffs as well as ornamental purposes Eileen Woodhead provides a detailed description and brief history of the cultivation and use of each plant up to the present day Most of the descriptions are accompanied by detailed drawings by the author who found and grew many of the original varieties in the catalogue The book provides a valuable account of the business of horticulture in the first decades of the nineteenth century the practices of importers merchants farms and households placing it within the broader context of social history It includes an appendix of historic sites and botanical gardens in Ontario as well as sources for heritage seeds Early Canadian Gardening is a ground breaking account of the practice and significance of horticulture during the period of settlement in Upper Canada and stands as a remarkable work of historical botany It will be an invaluable source document for horticulturists and botanists historians and garden enthusiasts with an interest in heritage plants
