

The background of the title page is a dramatic painting. It depicts a large, dark Zeppelin airship flying across a cloudy, orange-hued sky. Below the airship, a city is shown at night, with a large, bright fire or explosion visible in the foreground, illuminating the surrounding area. The overall tone is somber and historical.

The German Air Raids on Great Britain, 1914-1918 Joseph Morris (B.A., A.F.R.Ae.S.), 1926 Air Raids on South-West Essex in the Great War Alan Simpson, 2015-07-30 A quarter of a century before the Blitz of 1940 the inhabitants of south west Essex were terrorized by an earlier aerial menace Over the course of four years German Zeppelins Gothas and Giants flew above their homes unleashing hundreds of highly explosive and incendiary bombs on London During three of these raids bombs were dropped on Leyton and many others landed elsewhere in south west Essex These early air raids are now largely forgotten in local memory but for the inhabitants of the time the attacks were unprecedented unexpected and lethal In the years since the Great War a great deal of literature has been published on London s first air raids and about the defence network that evolved around the metropolis but what happened in the capital s eastern suburbs and the nearby Essex countryside has received less coverage This meticulously researched and insightful book attempts to put that right looking at the area which in 1914 was part of south west Essex but now comprises the London boroughs of Waltham Forest Redbridge Havering Newham and Barking and Dagenham Focussing in particular on Leyton and Ilford this is the first book to ever examine what happened before and after the raiders reached and bombarded the capital The author has included a wide range of contemporary letters diaries and newspaper reports from local sources plus several previously unseen photographs To set the story in its wider context the book also contains a wealth of information about the defence of the London area generally and vivid reports from combatants on both sides

The German Air Raids on Great Britain, 1914-1918 Joseph Morris (captain), 1969 Case Studies in Strategic Bombardment R. Cargill Hall, Air Force History and Museums Program (U.S.), 1998 The Development of British Naval Aviation, 1914-1918 Alexander Howlett, 2021-06-08 The Royal Naval Air Service RNAS revolutionized warfare at sea on land and in the air This little known naval aviation organization introduced and operationalized aircraft carrier strike aerial anti submarine warfare strategic bombing and the air defence of the British Isles more than 20 years before the outbreak of the Second World War. Traditionally marginalized in a literature dominated by the Royal Flying Corps and the Royal Air Force the RNAS and its innovative practitioners nevertheless shaped the fundamentals of air power and contributed significantly to the Allied victory in the First World War. The Development of British Naval Aviation utilizes archival documents and newly published research to resurrect the legacy of the RNAS and demonstrate its central role in Britain's war effort. Henry Williamson and the First World War Anne Williamson, 2004-02-28 Henry Williamson is known for his book Tarka the Otter yet his time in World War I trenches affected him profoundly. This book draws on his letters, diaries, photographs and notebooks written at the time to give us a detailed account of life in the trenches of the First World War. It also offers us a rare insight into the making of a novelist. The Royal Flying Corps, the Western Front and the Control of the Air, 1914-1918 James Pugh, 2017-05-12 By the middle of 1918 the British Army had successfully mastered the concept of all arms warfare on the Western Front. This doctrine integrating infantry, artillery, armoured vehicles and crucially air power was to prove highly effective and formed the basis of major military operations for the next hundred years. Yet whilst much has been written on the utilisation of ground forces the air element still tends to be studied in isolation from the army as a whole. In order to move beyond the usual aircraft and aces approach this book explores the conceptual origins of the control of the air and the role of the Royal Flying Corps RFC within the British army. In so doing it addresses four key themes. First it explores and defines the most fundamental air power concept the control of the air by examining its conceptual origins before and during the First World War. Second it moves beyond the popular history of air power during the First World War to reveal the complexity of the topic. Third it reintegrates the study of air power during the First World War specifically that of the RFC into the strategic, operational, organisational and intellectual contexts of the era as well as embedding the study within the respective scholarly literatures of these contexts. Fourth the book reinvigorates an entrenched historiography by challenging the usually critical interpretation of the RFC's approach to the control of the air providing new perspectives on air power during the First World War. This includes an exploration of the creation of the RAF and its impact on the development of air power concepts. The First Blitz Ian Castle, 2015-10-20 The First Blitz tells the story of Germany's strategic air offensive against Britain and how it came to be neutralized. The first Zeppelin attack on London came in May 1915 and with it came the birth of a new arena of warfare the home front. German airships attempted to raid London on 26 separate occasions between May 1915 and October 1917 but only reached the capital and bombed successfully on nine occasions. From May 1917 onwards this theatre of war entered a new phase as German Gotha bombers set out to attack London in the first bomber raid. London's defences were again overhauled to face this new threat providing the basis for Britain's defence during World War II. This comprehensive volume tells the story of the first aerial campaign in history as the famed Zeppelins and then the Gotha and the massive Staaken Giant bombers waged war against the civilian population of London in the first ever Blitz. Let the Zeppelins

Come David Marks,2017-03-15 A unique insight into the Zeppelin raids through postcards and memorabilia Review of Current Military Literature , Quarterly Review of Military Literature ,1941 The Conduct of Hostilities in International Humanitarian Law, Volume I Wolff Heintschel von Heinegg,2023-06-14 This volume is the first of two addressing the legal regime governing the use of force during armed conflicts Traditionally labeled Hague Law today the norms it examines are commonly referred to as conduct of hostilities rules At the heart of this body of law is the principle of distinction which requires that civilians and civilian objects be distinguished from combatants and military objectives during military operations It is the purest expression of the foundational balance between humanitarian considerations and military necessity that has underpinned international humanitarian law since its inception The essays selected consider the theoretical and practical difficulties of maintaining the balance in the face of evolving means and methods of warfare and competing perspectives as to how it is best achieved Also addressed is the law governing warfare at sea and in the air Essays focusing on the former examine early norms and analyze their continuing relevance to today s maritime operations whilst those exploring the latter inject much needed clarity into the subject an essential task in light of the centrality of aerial warfare in modern combat operations Historical Origins of International Criminal Law Morten Bergsmo,CHEAH Wui Ling,YI Ping,2014-12-12 The historical origins of international criminal law go beyond the key trials of Nuremberg and Tokyo but remain a topic that has not received comprehensive and systematic treatment This anthology aims to address this lacuna by examining trials proceedings legal instruments and publications that may be said to be the building blocks of contemporary international criminal law It aspires to generate new knowledge broaden the common hinterland to international criminal law and further consolidate this relatively young discipline of international law The anthology and research project also seek to question our fundamental assumptions of international criminal law by going beyond the geographical cultural and temporal limits set by the traditional narratives of its history and by questioning the roots of its substance process and institutions Ultimately we hope to raise awareness and generate further discussion about the historical and intellectual origins of international criminal law and its social function The contributions to the three volumes of this study bring together experts with different professional and disciplinary expertise from diverse continents and legal traditions Volume 1 comprises contributions by prominent international lawyers and researchers including Judge LIU Daqun Professor David Cohen Geoffrey Robertson QC Professor Paulus Mevis and Professor Jan Reijntjes UFOs of the First World War Nigel Watson,2015-01-05 Lieutenant R S Maxwell took off in his BE2C fighter but saw nothing unusual until 8 25 p m when according to his report My engine was missing irregularly and it was only by keeping the speed of the machine down to 50 mph that I was able to stay at 10 000 feet I distinctly saw an artificial light to the north of me and at about the same height I followed this light northeast for nearly 20 minutes but it seemed to go slightly higher and just as quickly as myself and eventually I lost it completely in the clouds Such sightings occurred frequently during the war The reasons are fascinating in themselves the first is that aviation is in its infancy so light phenomena at altitude are a new experience The second is fear for the first time a real threat came from the skies It wasn't just the Western Front on 21 August 1915 twenty New Zealand soldiers allegedly saw eight bread loaf shaped clouds over Hill 60 Suvla Bay A British regiment the First Fourth Norfolk of several hundred men was then noticed marching towards Hill 60 They marched into the cloud which lifted off the ground and were never seen again The Beauty and the Sorrow Peter Englund, Peter Graves, 2012-09-04 An intimate narrative history of World War I told through the stories of twenty men and women from around the globe a powerful illuminating heart rending picture of what the war was really like In this masterful book renowned historian Peter Englund describes this epoch defining event by weaving together accounts of the average man or woman who experienced it Drawing on the diaries journals and letters of twenty individuals from Belgium Denmark France Great Britain Germany Austria Hungary Italy Australia New Zealand Russia Venezuela and the United States Englund's collection of these varied perspectives describes not a course of events but a world of feeling Composed in short chapters that move between the home front and the front lines The Beauty and Sorrow brings to life these twenty particular people and lets them speak for all who were shaped in some way by the War but whose voices have remained unheard Battle of Britain 1917 Jonathan Sutherland, Diane Canwell, 2006-06-19 In the autumn of 1916 the Germans began to equip with the Gotha twin engine bomber The Gothas were designed to carry out attacks across the channel against Britain A group of four squadrons was established in Belgium and they carried out their first bombing raid towards the end of May 1917 This 22 aircraft sortie against the town of Folkestone caused 95 deaths In mid June a force of 18 Gothas attacked London in broad daylight Over 90 British fighters met them but not one Gotha was brought down This bombing raid caused 162 deaths From mid September an even larger more potent bomber joined the Gothas The Zeppelin Staaken Riesenflugzeug or Giant bomber It had a range of about 800km 500 miles The Gotha Giant night raids continued throughout 1917 almost unscathed until December when the British began to have success in intercepting the Gothas at night Anti aircraft fire was also becoming more effective and the increased use of barrage balloons affected the bombers By the end of the war a 50 mile long line of barrage balloons surrounded London In the meantime the Giants continued a small but influential campaign against London On 16 February during a four aircraft raid a Giant dropped a 1 000 kg 2 200 lb bomb the largest used by anyone in the war and blew up a wing of the Chelsea hospital
