

Dedication

To Him who loves us,
and freed us from our sins
by His blood,
and has made us to be
a kingdom and priests—
to serve His God and Father—
to Him be glory and dominion
forever and ever.
Amen.

Revelation 1:5-6

A Brief Word from the Author

I thought you might be interested to know how this book came to be. I've had in the back of my mind for years that the glory of God would be an important topic to write about. And a practical one as well.

But how to do it? The problem is not that material is lacking on the subject. The word glory is found 194 times in the Old Testament and 165 times in the New Testament, not counting the many additional occurrences of the verb to glorify. However, books devoted exclusively to God's glory are scarce, and even standard theologies say little about it except in a general way or in a reference to church creeds. Just for fun I looked at the indexes in eight theologies. Only two include an entry for the "glory of God." Six (including my own!) had nothing.

Some years ago I listened to a series of messages on the glory of God. Though thoroughly biblical and well prepared, the series made only a slight impression on me. I remembered little of what was said. Why? Possibly because the speaker tried to include too many Scripture references without arranging them into categories that could be easily remembered. Nevertheless a seed had been planted, though in my own thinking a void remained.

Then, a few years ago I received an overseas phone call asking me to fill in at a Bible conference for another speaker who had to cancel. I said I would, and asked the director, Joe Jordan, if he had a theme in mind. "Yes," he replied, "the glory of God." I swallowed hard, because the conference was only a few weeks away, and I would need to prepare eight brand-new messages.

I studied. The Lord helped. The messages were prepared, given in English, interpreted into another language, and blessed by the grace of God.

Senses of Devotion William Dyrness,2013-03-29 This ethnographic study focuses on the religious imagery and practices of a sample of Buddhist temples and Muslim mosques in the greater Los Angeles area As a way of expanding interfaith dialogue it is framed as a conversation between the largely Christian researchers and the seventy five respondents who were asked about the images space and practices of their religious experience From the respondents in their various religious settings it seeks to distill the specific religious imaginations and aesthetic profiles that might be said to characterize their experience to discover what might be considered the living images of these faiths Set in the context of contemporary discussions of the nature of religion and visual culture this richly textured study of visual and sensory practices in religion raises fundamental questions about the place of belief and ritual practice and the role these play in our increasingly pluralistic religious culture

"Faith, Gender and the Senses in Italian Renaissance and Baroque Art " ErinE. Benay,2017-07-05 Taking the Noli me tangere and Doubting Thomas episodes as a focal point this study examines how visual representations of two of the most compelling and related Christian stories engaged with changing devotional and cultural ideals in Renaissance and Baroque Italy This book reconsiders depictions of the ambiguous encounter of Mary Magdalene and Christ in the garden John 20 11 19 known as the Noli me tangere and that of Christ's post Resurrection appearance to Thomas John 20 24 29 the Doubting Thomas as manifestations of complex theological and art theoretical milieus By focusing on key artistic monuments of the Italian Renaissance and Baroque periods the authors demonstrate a relationship between the rise of skeptical philosophy and empirical science and the efficacy of the senses in the construction of belief Further the authors elucidate the differing representational strategies employed by artists to depict touch and the ways in which these strategies were shaped by gender social class and educational level Indeed over time St Thomas became an increasingly public and therefore masculine symbol of devotional verification juridical inquiry and empirical investigation while St Mary Magdalene provided a more private model for pious women celebrating mostly behind closed doors the privileged and active participation of women in the faith The authors rely on primary source material paintings sculptures religious tracts hagiography popular sermons and new documentary evidence By reuniting their visual examples with important often little known textual sources the authors reveal a complex relationship between visual imagery the senses contemporary attitudes toward gender and the shaping of belief Further they add greater nuance to our understanding of the relationship between popular piety and the visual culture of the period Message of the East, 1915

Harwood,2013-01-14 Much of the emerging Protestantism of the sixteenth century produced a Reformation in conscious opposition to formal philosophy Nevertheless sectors of the Reformation produced a spiritualizing form of Platonism in the drive for correct devotion Out of an understandable fear of idolatry or displacement of the uniquely redemptive place of Christ Christian piety moved away from the senses and the material world freshly uncovered in the Reformation This volume argues however that in the quest for restoring true religion sectors of the Protestant tradition impugned too severely the material components of prior Christian devotion Larry Harwood argues that a similar spiritualizing tendency can be found in other Christian traditions but that its applicability to the particulars of the Christian religion is nevertheless questionable Moreover in that quest of a spiritualizing Protestant true religion the Christian God could shade toward the conceptual god of the philosophers with devotees construed as rationalist philosophers Part of the paradoxical result was to propel the Protestant devotee toward a denuded worship for material worshipers of the Christian God who became flesh The Christian Oratory: Or the Devotion of the Closet, Displayed in a Variety of Important and Interesting Subjects.
