Conquest Narrative Scott Savran,2017-09-08 Arabs and Iranians in the Islamic Conquest Narrative analyzes how early Muslim historians merged the pre Islamic histories of the Arab and Iranian peoples into a didactic narrative culminating with the Arab conquest of Iran This book provides an in depth examination of Islamic historical accounts of the encounters between representatives of these two peoples that took place in the centuries prior to the coming of Islam By doing this it uncovers anachronistic projections of dynamic identity and political discourses within the contemporaneous Islamic world It shows how the formulaic placement of such embellishment within the context of the narrative served to justify the Arabs rise to power whilst also explaining the fall of the Iranian Sasanian empire The objective of this book is not simply to mine Islamic historical chronicles for the factual data they contain about the pre Islamic period but rather to understand how the authors of these works thought about this era By investigating the intersection between early Islamic memory identity construction and power discourses this book will benefit researchers and students of Islamic history and literature and Middle Eastern Studies

The Eastern Frontier Robert Haug, 2019-06-27 Transoxania Khurasan and Ukhraistan which comprise large parts of today's Central Asia have long been an important frontier zone. In the late antique and early medieval periods the region was both an eastern political boundary for Persian and Islamic empires and a cultural border separating communities of sedentary farmers from pastoral nomads. Given its peripheral location the history of the eastern frontier in this period has often been shown through the lens of expanding empires. However in this book Robert Haug argues for a pre-modern Central Asia with a discrete identity a region that is not just a transitory space or the far flung corner of empires but its own historical entity. From this locally specific perspective the book takes the reader on a 900 year tour of the area from Sasanian control through the Umayyads and Abbasids to the quasi-independent dynasties of the Tahirids and the Samanids. Drawing on an impressive array of literary numismatic and archaeological sources Haug reveals the unique and varied challenges the eastern frontier presented to imperial powers that strove to integrate the area into their greater systems. This is essential reading for all scholars working on early Islamic Iranian and Central Asian history as well as those with an interest in the dynamics of frontier regions

Atlas of Islamic History Peter Sluglett, Andrew Currie, 2015-01-30 This Atlas provides the main outlines of Islamic history from the immediate pre-Islamic period until the end of 1920 that is before most parts of the Muslim world became sovereign nation states. Each map is accompanied by a text that contextualises explains and expands upon the map and are fully cross referenced. All of the maps are in full colour 18 of them are double page spreads and 25 are single page layouts. This is an atlas of Islamic not simply Arab or Middle Eastern history hence it covers the entire Muslim world including Spain North West and East Africa the Indian sub-continent Central Asia and South East Asia. The maps are not static in that they show transitions within the historical period to which they refer for instance the stages of the three contemporaneous Umayyad Fatimid and Abbasid caliphates on Map 10 or the progress of the Mongol invasions and the formation of the various separate Mongol khanates between 1200 and 1300 on Map 21. Using the most up to date cartographic and innovative design techniques the maps break new ground in illuminating the history of Islam. Brought right up to date with the addition of a Postscript detailing The Islamic World since c 1900 a Chronology from 500 BCE to 2014 and additional endpaper maps illustrating The Spread of Islam through the Ages and The Islamic World in the 21st Century the Atlas of Islamic History is an essential reference work and an invaluable textbook for undergraduates studying Islamic history as well as those with an interest in Asian History Middle East History and World History more broadly

The History of al-Ṭabarī Vol. 5 Abū Jaʿfar Muḥammad ibn Jarīr al-Ṭabarī, 1999-11-04 This volume of al-Ṭabarī's History provides the most complete and detailed historical source for the Persian empire of the Sāsānids whose four centuries of rule were one of the most glorious periods in Persia's long history History and Identity in the Late Antique Near East Philip Wood, 2013-04-04 This book examines the importance of the past both real and imagined in constructing contemporary culture in the period AD 500-1000. It goes beyond history writing in a narrow sense to examine philosophy, theology, liturgy and jurisprudence as vehicles for tradition and the imagination of a past golden age. The papers straddle the Roman-Persian frontier and go well into the Islamic period; together they push the boundaries of late antiquity into the varied language traditions not just Greek but also Syriac, Armenian, Coptic and Arabic. State, 1991 Iran Laura Etheredge, Assistant Editor, Middle East Geography, 2011-01-15 Examines the culture, politics and history of Iran and describes the geography of the country The Palgrave Encyclopedia of Imperialism and Anti-Imperialism Immanuel Ness, Zak Cope, 2016-04-29 The Palgrave Encyclopedia of Imperialism and Anti-Imperialism objectively presents the prominent themes, epochal events, theoretical explanations and historical accounts of imperialism from 1776 to the present. It is the most historically and academically comprehensive examination of the subject to date. The Great Islamic Conquests AD 632-750 David Nicolle, 2014-06-06 Few centuries in world history have had such a profound and long-lasting impact as the first hundred years of Islamic history. In this book David Nicolle examines the extensive Islamic conquests between AD 632 and 750. These years saw the religion and culture of Islam erupt from the Arabian Peninsula and spread across an area far larger than that of the Roman Empire. The effects of this rapid expansion were to shape European affairs for centuries to come. This book examines the social and military history of the period, describing how and why the Islamic expansion was so successful.
