

There is no end to the curiosity as well as the wonder surrounding the wonder child Subarna. There are five main reasons for this:

1. At the age of one and a half, he memorized the chemistry periodic table.
2. At the age of two, he was interviewed in a college in the United States.
3. Interview with Voice of America.
4. At the age of 3, he experimented with batteries with the help of a lemon.
5. At the age of three and a half, he received an invitation to meet the president of a famous college.

At just one and a half years old, he had a clear idea of the chemistry phase table and memorized it. As usual, his mother was teaching him math. Suddenly Subarna said, 'If one plus one equals two, then  $2 \text{ plus } 2 = 4$  and  $n + n = 2n$ , right?' Rashidul Bari was looking at his students' papers in the next room. Hearing such a wonderful thing, he ran to Subarna. Tears of joy in his eyes. My wife wanted to know, why are you crying? Without answering that question, Barry said, 'Do you know who is sitting in front of us? Karl Friedrich Goss (German mathematician). Fascinated by his one-and-a-half-year-old son's mathematical talent, Rashidul Bari started giving him advanced math and science lessons. And so at the age of 2, he memorized the periodic table of chemistry.

As word of this incredible word spread among the students and teachers of the City University of New York, word of this wonderful genius also spread in Barry Science Lab and on social media. Gerald Poznan, vice president of Medgar Evers College, wants to test Subarna's talent. All the elements of the golden period table surprise Poznan. He was so fascinated that day that one year later, on November 25, Poznan called him again.

Then a call came from the Bangla section of the Voice of America. Father Barry took her to the Voice of America studio in Washington DC. There Sabrina Chowdhury Donna interviewed her and they picked it as the best junior interview of the year and rebroadcast it on the English New Year. But the most amazing thing happened when this two-and-a-half-year-old child was trying to name all the elements of the periodic table. All the journalists including Rokeya Haider, the head of the Bangla department, observed this talent in amazement.

In the meantime, many have done scientific experiments. Which has an electric battery. That's why he's studying physics and chemistry again. He is making different types of batteries. One of them is the lemon battery. To make it you need 4 lemons, 4 nails, 4 pennies, and 5 alligator clips. With these, he can make an electric circuit and create potential differences and light the light. June 12, 2015. Daniel Cabot, who is currently the Physics Chair at Limon College, invited Subarna to Limon College to see this talent and fascinated him by making a golden battery.
