The Post Colonial Literature Of Lusophone Africa African Studies:

Lusophone Africa Fernando Arenas,2011 Situates the cultures of Portuguese speaking Africa within the postcolonial global era

A History of Postcolonial Lusophone Africa Patrick Chabal,David Birmingham,2002-06-13 useful timely and important a good and informative book on the Lusophone countries Portuguese colonialism and postcolonial influences

Phyllis Martin Indiana University This book produced by the obvious and distinguished corps of country specialists fills a real gap in both state level and regional broadly defined studies of contemporary Africa

Norrie MacQueen University of Dundee Although the five Portuguese speaking countries in Africa that gained independence in 1974 75 Angola Mozambique Guinea Bissau Cape Verde and S o Tom e Pr ncipe differ from each other in many ways they share a history of Portuguese rule going back to the 15th century which has left a mark to this day

Patrick Chabal and his co authors assess the nature of the Portuguese legacy using a twofold approach In Part I three analytical thematic chapters by Chabal examine what the five countries have in common and how they differ from the rest of Africa In Part II individual chapters by leading specialists each devoted to a specific country survey the histories of those countries since independence

The book places the postcolonial experience of the Lusophone countries within the context of their precolonial and colonial past and compares and contrasts their experience with that of non Lusophone African states

The result is a comprehensive readable and up to date text and reference work on the evolution of postcolonial Portuguese speaking Africa

Anticolonial Form Alexandra Reza, 2024-01-24 Anticolonial Form Literary Journals at the End of Empire addresses the relationship between culture and politics in two journals published in Europe by African writers Presence Africaine launched in Paris in 1947 and Mensagem published between 1948 and 1964 in Lisbon Grounded in extensive archival work the book argues for a comparative and transnational approach to postcolonial literary studies for the significance of the literary journal as a key form in the development of African writing in French Portuguese and English and for a historically and geographically contingent understanding of the relationships between literature culture and politics This book takes up the idea of articulation to bring forward the contingent and fugitive connections that networks of literary journals fostered between francophone anglophone and lusophone writers in the conjuncture of decolonization in the 1950s and 1960s It argues that comparison as a praxis and a method was central to the anticolonial charge of those journals on whose pages we see an iterative back and forth between writing from and about different parts of the colonial world a recursive effort to establish how ideas and analyses developed in one part of the colonial world could travel and be adopted and adapted in others Many scholars have argued convincingly that the institutionalized practice of comparison in the academic field of comparative literature is itself imbricated with histories of colonialism Reza's argument takes on a particular significance in the context of that critique as the anticolonial comparison on which she focuses offers a different tradition of relational praxis from which to think about connection and comparison itself Literary Research and Postcolonial Literatures in
