British Council Nepal Celebrates 65 Years of Strengthening Cultural and Educational Ties in Commemoration of the 100th Anniversary of the UK-Nepal Friendship Treaty.

The British Council Nepal is commemorating sixty-five years of collaboration, partnership and impact with an exhibition at its London head office. This milestone coincides with the centennial celebration of the UK-Nepal Friendship Treaty, underlining the enduring diplomatic ties between the two nations.

Rob Fenn, the British Ambassador to Nepal, expressed gratitude for the opportunity to acknowledge this milestone. "The relationship between the UK and Nepal has endured, and the British Council Nepal has played a pivotal role in strengthening cultural and educational ties between our two nations," said H.E. Rob Fenn.

"The British Council's exhibition highlights cultural and educational exchanges between Nepal and the UK, reflecting on the past and indicating prospects for future collaborations. This exhibition aims to broaden and strengthen friendship, collaboration, and cooperation between the two nations against the backdrop of a bilateral relationship spanning over two centuries." - H.E. Gyan Chandra Adhikari, Nepal Ambassador to the UK.

Established 65 years ago as part of the diplomatic relationship between the UK and Nepal, the British Council Nepal began with the inauguration of the first British Library. Since then, it has become a key and trusted partner for the Government of Nepal in educational and cultural reforms, impacting millions of lives across the country.

Shahida MacDougall, the Country Director of the British Council Nepal, reflected on the journey from the establishment of the first British Library to the present day. "Six decades later, we have reached millions of lives by working with individuals and institutions," she noted, emphasising the transformative impact the British Council Nepal has had on Nepal's educational and cultural landscape.

The London head office exhibition pays tribute to the British Council's efforts and significant contributions in the education and culture sectors. Over the past 65 years, the British Council Nepal has fostered partnerships, facilitated collaborations and implemented programmes that have left a lasting impact on the communities it serves.

The exhibition is open for public till 1 April 2024 at 1 Redman Pl, London E20 1JQ, United Kingdom

The Press And The Public The Story Of The British Press Council

David Hemmings Pritchard

The Press And The Public The Story Of The British Press Council:

The Press and the Public George Murray, 1972 In the late 1940s a constant public and political pressure led a Royal Commission to conduct investigations into such alleged press practices as its monopolistic tendencies its suspected bribery of film critics its allowance of advertisers to dictate editorial policy and its blacklisting of name figures that included Noel Coward Haile Selassie and Claire Luce As a result of the Commission's findings in 1953 the first British Press Council was formed a jury of respected journalists and laymen who ride herd on the press in Britain This account by George Murray one of the first chairmen of the Council and one of Britain's best known editorial writers reviews the Council's origins and tells the story of its battles in becoming a truly self regulatory body Because of the interest in creating a similar body in this country Mr Murray's account will have exceptional relevance to events in this country today The News of the World and the British Press, 1843-2011 Laurel Brake, Chandrika Kaul, Mark W. Turner, 2016-03-16 This volume is the first scholarly treatment of the News of the World from news rich broadsheet to sensational tabloid Contributors uncover new facts and discuss a range of topics including Sunday journalism gender crime empire political cartoons the mass market investigative techniques and the Leveson Inquiry The British Press and the Greek Crisis, 1943-1949 Gioula Koutsopapanagou, 2020-02-01 This book provides the first detailed analysis of how interactions between government policy and Fleet Street affected the political coverage of the Greek civil war one of the first major confrontations of the Cold War During this period the exponential growth of media influence was an immensely potent weapon of psychological warfare Throughout the 1940s the press maintained its position as the most powerful medium and its influence remained unchallenged The documentary record shows that a British media consensus was more fabricated than spontaneous and the tools of media persuasion and manipulation were extremely important in building acceptance for British foreign policy Gioula Koutsopapanagou examines how this media consensus was influenced and molded by the British government and how Foreign Office channels were key to molding public attitudes to British foreign policy These channels included system of briefings given by the News Department to the diplomatic correspondents and the contacts between embassies and the British foreign correspondents Holding the Media Accountable David Hemmings Pritchard, 2000 Real world studies of accountability in broadcast news cable TV newspapers and other media Media Ethics and Accountability Systems Claude-Jean Bertrand, 2018-04-17 Over the last few years the O J Simpson case then the Lewinsky Clinton affair and scores of minor scandals have dominated the US press often taking precedence over important domestic and international issues This tabloidization of the news media both here and abroad has proved that the market cannot insure media quality In a democracy for media to function well they must be free of both political and economic muzzling The only solution is to add self regulation or quality control by professionals and public to the other two forces the market and state regulation In this controversial volume Claude Jean Bertrand sets out to define a set of accountability systems democratic efficient and harmless to insure true freedom and quality of media This brief highly literate volume focuses not on philosophical foundations of media ethics or case stories but on what is now missing in the codes Many books deal with media ethics but few deal with accountability Media Ethics and Accountability Systems zeroes in on the many nongovernmental methods of enforcing quality control and on the difficulty of getting the media microcosm to accept such accountability To remedy this lack Bertrand proposes rethinking existing media accountability systems some 30 to 40 in number and creation of new ones He observes that existing systems are rooted in four basic approaches training the education of citizens in media use and the incorporation of ethics courses in journalistic education evaluation criticism positive and negative not only from politicians consumerists and intellectuals but from media professionals themselves monitoring by independent academic experts over extended periods of time into the long term effects and feedback giving ear to the various segments of media users and their needs and tastes rather than scrutinizing sales and ratings Media Ethics will be of particular interest to academics in the fields of communication and journalism as well as to the general reader with an interest in public issues and a civic concern for society
