Who's Afraid of Human Cloning? Gregory E. Pence, 1998-11-05 Human cloning raises the most profound questions about human nature our faith in ourselves and our ability to make decisions that could significantly alter the character of humanity In this exciting and accessible book Gregory Pence offers a candid and sometimes humorous look at the arguments for and against human cloning Originating a human being by cloning Pence boldly argues should not strike fear in our hearts but should be examined as a reasonable reproductive option for couples Pence considers how popular culture has influenced the way we think about cloning and he presents a lucid and non technical examination of the scientific research and relevant moral issues in the cloning debate This book is a must read for anyone who is concerned about the impact of technology on human life and for those with interests in medical ethics sociology and public policy

Genetic Afterlives Noah Tamarkin, 2020-09-11 In 1997 M E R Mathivha an elder of the black Jewish Lemba people of South Africa announced to the Lemba Cultural Association that a recent DNA study substantiated their ancestral connections to Jews Lemba people subsequently leveraged their genetic test results to seek recognition from the post apartheid government as indigenous Africans with rights to traditional leadership and land retheorizing genetic ancestry in the process In Genetic Afterlives Noah Tamarkin illustrates how Lemba people give their own meanings to the results of DNA tests and employ them to manage competing claims of Jewish ethnic and religious identity African indigeneity and South African citizenship Tamarkin turns away from genetics researchers results that defined a single story of Lemba peoples true origins and toward Lemba understandings of their own genealogy as multivalent Guided by Lemba people s negotiations of their belonging as diasporic Jews South African citizens and indigenous Africans Tamarkin considers new ways to think about belonging that can acknowledge the importance of historical and sacred ties to land without valorizing autochthony borders or other technologies of exclusion

Relatedness in Assisted Reproduction Tabitha Freeman, Susanna Graham, Fatemeh Ebtehaj, Martin Richards, 2014-08-14 Assisted reproduction challenges and reinforces traditional understandings of family kinship and identity Sperm egg and embryo donation and surrogacy raise questions about relatedness for parents children and others involved in creating and raising a child How socially morally or psychologically significant is a genetic link between a donor conceived child and their donor What should children born through assisted reproduction be told about their origins Does it matter if a parent is genetically unrelated to their child How do experiences differ for men and women using collaborative reproduction in heterosexual or same sex couples single parent families or co parenting arrangements What impact does the wider cultural socio legal and regulatory context have In this multidisciplinary book an international team of academics and clinicians bring together new empirical research and social science legal and bioethical perspectives to explore the key issue of relatedness in assisted reproduction

Understanding Reproduction in Social Contexts Caitlin Killian, 2025-06-12 In today's post Roe world U S maternal mortality is on the rise and laws regarding contraception involuntary sterilization access to reproductive health services and criminalization of people who are gestating are changing by the minute Using a reproductive justice framework Understanding Reproduction in Social Contexts walks students through the social landscape around reproduction through the life course Chapters by cutting edge reproductive scholars practitioners and advocates address the social control of fertility and pregnancy the promises and perils of assisted reproductive technologies experiences of pregnancy miscarriage abortion and birth and how individuals make sense of and respond to the cultural social and political forces that condition their reproductive lives The book takes an intersectional approach and considers how gender sexuality fatness disability class race and immigration status impact both an individual's health and the healthcare they receive The inclusion of timely topics such as increased legal limitations on abortion transpeople and reproduction and new developments in assisted reproduction and family formation speaks to the current generation of students An essential text for undergraduate and graduate courses on families gender public health reproduction and sexuality

The Concept of the Gene in Development and Evolution Peter J. Beurton, Raphael Falk, Hans-Jörg Rheinberger, 2000-05-29 Advances in molecular biological research in the latter half of the twentieth century have made the story of the gene vastly complicated the more we learn about genes the less sure we are of what a gene really is Knowledge about the structure and functioning of genes abounds but the gene has also become curiously intangible This collection of essays renews the question what are genes Philosophers historians and working scientists re evaluate the question in this volume treating the gene as a focal point of interdisciplinary and international research It will be of interest to professionals and students in the philosophy and history of science genetics and molecular biology

Having and Raising Children Uma Narayan, 2010-11-01 As the term family values achieves prominence in the rhetoric of political debate the social issues at the heart of today's political controversies deserve to be studied in depth This volume brings together a group of philosophers political scientists and legal scholars to explore a wide range of specific topics dealing with the legal ethical and political dimensions of familial relationships Topics addressed include the rights of unwed fathers the nature of children's autonomy children's rights to divorce their parents parental rights with respect to medical treatment and religious education of children surrogate parenting same sex parenting and single parent families Collectively the essays point out that many contemporary issues pertaining to the having and raising of children pose genuinely hard choices for public policy makers for those who make and enforce the laws and for citizens who would like to engage in informed and critical democratic debate on these issues

Families in the U.S. Karen V. Hansen, Anita Iltis Garey, 1998 Attempts to do justice to the complexity of contemporary families and to situate them in their economic political and cultural contexts This book explores the ways in which family life is gendered and reflects on the work of maintaining family and kin relationships especially as social and family power structures change over time

Reflections of Our Past John H. Relethford, Deborah A. Bolnick, 2018-03-26 The rise of the multi billion dollar ancestry testing industry points to one immutable truth about us as human beings we want to know where we come from and who our ancestors were John H Relethford and Deborah A Bolnick explore this topic and many more in this second edition of Reflections of Our Past Where did modern humans come from and how important are the biological differences among us Are we descended from Neandertals How should we understand the connections between genetic ancestry race and identity Were Native Americans the first to inhabit the Americas Can we see evidence of the Viking invasions of Ireland a millennium ago even in the Irish of today Through engaging examination of issues such as these and using non technical language Reflections of Our Past shows how anthropologists use genetic information to suggest answers to fundamental questions about human history By looking at genetic variation in the world today and in the past we can reconstruct the recent and remote events and processes that have created the variation we see providing a fascinating reflection of our genetic past
