The Global Crisis In Foreign Aid:

The Global Crisis in Foreign Aid Richard Grant, Jan Nijman, 1998-06 The internal destabilization of many poor countries that accompanied the end of the Cold War and the general failure of structural adjustment programs have changed the nature and allotment of foreign aid around the world Major donors of foreign aid such as the United States Japan and the European Union have been shifting their geographical priorities in allocating aid as well as their project emphasis since the end of the Cold War In addition multilateral aid agencies the World Bank the United Nations and the International Monetary Fund are attempting to redress past failures of aid and revamp policies and priorities Moreover aid recipients in Africa the Middle East Asia Eastern Europe the former Soviet republics and Central America are establishing priorities of their own and evaluating the success and failure of past aid programs This volume stands out in the literature on foreign aid because it includes contributions from eight policy representatives from a range of important donor and recipient countries the United States Japan the Netherlands Bolivia Egypt Bangladesh El Salvador and Poland Timely in its assessment of the crisis and the transition in the foreign aid regime the book provides a view from inside the policy process and imparts a researcher's perspective on the changing priorities for donors and recipients The wide ranging essay most previously unpublished aim to shed light on the changing political economic and regional geographies of aid at the end of the twentieth century

Foreign Aid in a World in Crisis Viktor Jakupec, Max Kelly, John McKay, 2024-02-29 This book investigates the geopoliticisation of foreign aid in recent years against a background of global overarching crises such as climate change conflict Covid 19 economic crisis energy shortages and migration Foreign aid has historically been understood as assisting both with the development objectives of the recipients and with the trade and geopolitical interests of the donors In the first decades of the 21st century however this balance has been shifted by a series of complex global challenges This book argues that donors have now moved towards framing aid as a geopolitical instrument wherein aid can be given or withheld based on power or political intent thus imposing the donor's specific values and norms This book provides an in depth analysis of this weaponisation of foreign aid within a framework of global disruption and ultimately concludes that the world is at a tipping point towards a new socio political world order Asking important questions about the power dynamics at play within the aid sector this book will be an important read for researchers across development studies political science international relations and global affairs

The Millennium Development Goals: Challenges, Prospects and Opportunities Nana #N/A, 2017-07-05 As the 15 year Millennium Development Goals approach their conclusion we can now measure their larger successes and failures in more than snapshot fashion and we can begin to consider how best to shape the international development agenda for the coming decades based on what we have learned But the performance and outlook for the MDGs can neither be reduced to the sum of its eight goals nor be divorced from international dynamics the hard interests of states and other actors and the global dynamics that impact on both For that reason this volume balances contextual analysis the role of formative and constraining forces the importance of normative considerations and illuminating case studies to deliver a study of the MDGs which has depth and nuance as well as breadth Poised between judging the recent performance and the future promise of the MDGs this book is substantial provocative and timely This book was published as a special issue of Third World Quarterly Foreign Aid in the Middle East Beáta Paragi,2019-02-28 What do we mean by gifts in International Relations Can foreign aid be conceptualized as a gift Most foreign aid transactions are unilateral and financially unreciprocated yet donors expect to benefit from them Previous research dealing with foreign aid has analyzed the main donor motives and interests in providing financial support This book offers an in depth analysis of the invisible political or social exchange taking place between recipient countries and donors when a grant agreement is signed Focusing on Egypt Jordan Palestine and Israel the main beneficiaries of Western foreign aid the book uses gift theories and theories of social exchange to show how international social bonds are shaped by foreign aid and in what ways recipient countries are obliged to return the gift they receive Foreign aid is a means of buying stability or democracy in the region but Beata Paragi is interested here to understand the actual feasibility of Western assistance Looking at the context of the Arab Spring the book examines how aid impacts on a recipient country s domestic political events such as war the quest for self determination the struggle against occupation and the fight for dignity An original contribution to Middle East Studies and International Relations the research presents an alternative interpretation of foreign aid and show how external funds interact with local developments and realities Foreign Aid and Development Finn Tarp,2000-08-17 Aid has worked in the past but can be made to work better in the future This book offers important new research and will appeal to those working in economics politics and development studies as well as to governmental and aid professionals Foreign Aid of Gulf States Mohammad Yaghi,Hanaa Almoaibed,Silvia Colombo,2025-09-29 This book explores how Gulf States foreign aid strategies have transformed in the wake of 9 11 and the 2011 Arab Uprisings It traces the shift from a solidarity based model to aid increasingly driven by political and military objectives particularly in conflict zones like Yemen Libya and Syria The book analyzes enduring traits and evolving trends in aid allocation highlighting a growing emphasis on humanitarian assistance transparency and alignment with global governance norms Yet a persistent preference for bilateral aid raises questions about long term impact and transparency The politicization of aid post 2011 reveals how Gulf donors wield aid as a tool of geopolitical influence Looking ahead the book outlines a research agenda that examines the rebranding of Gulf aid the implications of its militarization the role of economic diversification and the influence of shifting regional dynamics such as Saudi Iran relations and the Abraham Accords on future strategies This book is essential reading for scholars policymakers and practitioners in international development political science Middle Eastern studies and global governance The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Third World Quarterly The Future of Foreign Aid A. Sumner,R. Mallett,2012-12-18 Sumner and Mallett review the literature on aid in light of shifts in the aid system and the increasing concentration of the world's poor in middle income countries. As a consequence they propose a series of practical policy relevant options for future development cooperation with the aim of provoking discussion and informing policy. A Study of China's Foreign Aid Y. Shimomura, H. Ohashi, 2013-11-20 This book provides a new perspective of China's controversial foreign aid strategy. The chapters offer a thorough examination of data to show how China has created knowledge in its long experiences of aid and how this accumulated knowledge could contribute to other developing countries. The book also examines China's aid philosophy and strategy through an Asian perspective instead of the Western perspective that is postulated in existing academic literature. This is important as China shares a number of common features with other Asian donors including India and Japan. Finally the book explores how to utilize the potential effect of this rising major donor for worldwide development and poverty reduction.

Foreign Aid and Emerging Powers Iain Watson, 2014-07-11 Current debates on emerging powers as foreign aid donors often fail to examine the myriad geopolitical, geoeconomic and geocultural tensions that influence policies of Official Development Assistance (ODA). This book advocates a regional geopolitical approach to explaining donor relationships and provides a multidisciplinary critical assessment of the contemporary debates on emerging powers and foreign aid, bringing together economic and geopolitical approaches in the light of the 2015 completion of the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs). Moving away from established debates, assessing the advantages and disadvantages of foreign aid, this book challenges the current geopolitical assumptions of the emerging powers concerning issues such as south-south solidarity, shared development experience and multipolarity. It analyses how donor governments sell aid to recipients through enabling different cultural assumptions and soft power narratives of national identity and provides empirical evidence on agendas such as aid effectiveness, aid for trade, public-private partnerships and green growth aid. The book examines the role of and relationships between the leading traditional and emerging power Asian donors specifically and explores the different and contested perspectives and patterns of ODA policy through an alternative account of emerging power foreign aid to leading African and Asian recipients. This book provides a valuable resource for postgraduate students and practitioners across disciplines such as development economics and geopolitics of development, uniquely approaching the debate from the perspective of emerging powers and donors.
