The Longest Fight William Gildea, 2012-06-19 Many people came to Goldfield Nevada America's last gold rush town to seek their fortune However on a searing summer day in September 1906 they came not to strike it rich but to watch what would become the longest boxing match of the twentieth century between Joe Gans the first African American boxing champion and Battling Nelson a vicious and dirty brawler It was a match billed as the battle of the races In The Longest Fight the longtime Washington Post sports correspondent William Gildea tells the story of this epic match which would stretch to forty two rounds and last two hours and forty eight minutes A new rail line brought spectators from around the country dozens of reporters came to file blow by blow accounts and an entrepreneurial crew's film of the fight shown in theaters shortly afterward endures to this day The Longest Fight also recounts something much greater the longer battle that Gans fought against prejudice as the premier black athlete of his time It is a portrait of life in black America at the turn of the twentieth century of what it was like to be the first black athlete to successfully cross the nation's gaping racial divide Gans was smart witty trim and handsome with one punch knockout power and groundbreaking defensive skills and his courage despite discrimination prefigured the strife faced by many of America's finest athletes including Jesse Owens Jackie Robinson and Muhammad Ali Inside the ring and out Gans took the first steps for the African American athletes who would follow and yet his role in history was largely forgotten until now The Longest Fight is a reminder of the damage caused by the bigotry that long outlived Gans and the strength courage and will of those who fought to rise above

Goldfield Ted Faye, 2023 There was a time when Goldfield Nevada was known around the world as a city growing in the desert seemingly out of nowhere with no natural resources except for the extremely rich and plentiful mineral found in the ground gold In England they were afraid the amount of gold mined in Goldfield would flood the market making gold worthless In Germany gold seekers heard of the riches and made their way to the remote desert site Those that had gone to Alaska for the great Klondike rush were now headed to Nevada Goldfield was the last great gold rush on the American frontier Discovered in 1902 its boom lasted about a decade and then came the inevitable and fateful decline Yet its story is largely unknown Nevada historians and scholars have documented Goldfield for years others have amassed vast collections of ephemera artifacts and photographs and some have even collected and restored the town's most impressive buildings Through personal photo albums and accounts of those who were there this book reflects life in Goldfield Nevada the last great American gold rush

Journal of the West, 2005    Minerals Yearbook, 1912    Utah Historical Quarterly J. Cecil Alter, 2003 List of charter members of the society v 1 p 98 99    Preserving the Glory Days Shawn Hall, 1999 Nye County is Nevada's largest and least populated county but it is also the site of many of the state's most colorful ghost towns and mining camps The county's economy throughout its history has been largely based on its mines first exploiting veins of gold and silver and more recently deposits of raw materials for modern industry such as molybdenum and barite It was here that famous boomtowns like Tonopah and Rhyolite sprang up after the discovery of nearby lodes brought in rushes of prospectors and the merchants who supported them But the county includes many smaller shorter lived camps and numerous abandoned stagecoach and railroad stops associated with defunct mining operations This book offers a lively informative record of Nevada's isolated interior Hall first published a guide to Nye County's ghost towns in 1981. Since then he has continued his research into the county's past and has uncovered much new information and corrected some errors. To prepare this revised and greatly expanded edition he revisited all 175 sites recorded earlier and has added more than 20 previously unlisted sites.
