The Multiple Worlds of Pynchon's Mason & Dixon

Elizabeth Jane Wall Hinds, 2009 New essays examining the interface between 18th and 20th century culture both in Pynchon's novel and in the historical past Thomas Pynchon's 1997 novel Mason Dixon went further using the same style wit and erudition to re create an 18th century when America was being formed as both place and idea Pynchon's focus on the creation of the Mason Dixon Line and the governmental and scientific entities responsible for it makes a clearer statement than any of his previous novels about the slavery and imperialism at the heart of the Enlightenment as he levels a dark and hilarious critique at this America This volume of new essays studies the interface between 18th and 20th century culture both in Pynchon's novel and in the historical past It offers fresh thinking about Pynchon's work as the contributors take up the linkages between the 18th and 20th centuries in studies that are as concerned with culture as with the literary text itself Contributors Mitchum Huehls Brian Thill Colin Clarke Pedro Garcia Caro Dennis Lensing Justin M Scott Coe Ian Copestake Frank Palmeri Elizabeth Jane Wall Hinds is Professor and Chair of the English Department at SUNY Brockport

Mason-Dixon Line Trudier Harris, 2009-06 New Yorker James Baldwin once declared that a black man can look at a map of the United States contemplate the area south of the Mason Dixon Line and thus scare himself to death. In The Scary Mason Dixon Line renowned literary scholar Trudier Harris explores why black writers whether born in Mississippi New York or elsewhere have consistently both loved and hated the South. Harris explains that for these authors the South represents not so much a place or even a culture as a rite of passage Not one of them can consider himself or herself a true African American writer without confronting the idea of the South in a decisive way Harris considers native born black southerners Raymond Andrews Ernest J Gaines Edward P Jones Tayari Jones Yusef Komunyakaa Randall Kenan and Phyllis Alesia Perry and nonsouthern writers James Baldwin Sherley Anne Williams and Octavia E Butler The works Harris examines date from Baldwin s Blues for Mr Charlie 1964 to Edward P Jones s The Known World 2003 By including Komunyakaa s poems and Baldwin s play as well as male and female authors Harris demonstrates that the writers preoccupation with the South cuts across lines of genre and gender Whether their writings focus on slavery migration from the South to the North or violence on southern soil and whether they celebrate the triumph of black southern heritage over repression or castigate the South for its treatment of blacks these authors cannot escape the call of the South Indeed Harris asserts that creative engagement with the South represents a defining characteristic of African American writing A singular work by one of the foremost literary scholars writing today The Scary Mason Dixon Line superbly demonstrates how history and memory continue to figure powerfully in African American literary creativity
