The Potters Colonial Craftsmen:

Colonial Craftsmen ,1999-07-20 The vanished ways of colonial America s skilled craftsmen are vividly reconstructed in this superb book by Edwin Tunis With incomparable wit and learning and in over 450 meticulous drawings the author describes the working methods and products houses and shops town and country trades and individual and group enterprises by which the early Americans forged the economy of the New World In the tiny coastal settlements which usually sprang up around a mill or near a tanyard the first craftsmen set up their trades The blacksmith cooper joiner weaver cordwainer and housewright working alone or with several assistants invented their own tools and devised their own methods Soon they were making products that far surpassed their early models the American ax was so popular that English ironmongers often labeled their own axes American to sell them more readily In the town squares a colonist could have his bread baked to order bring in his wig to be curled have his eyeglasses ground his medicine prescription filled or buy snuff for his many pocket boxes With the thriving trade in bespoke or made to order work fine American styles evolved many of these are priceless heirlooms now the silverware of Paul Revere and John Coney redware and Queensware pottery Poyntell hand blocked wallpaper the Kentucky rifle Conestoga wagon and the iron grillework still seen in some parts of the South The author discusses in detail many of the trades which have since developed into important industries like papermaking glassmaking shipbuilding printing and metalworking often reconstructing from his own careful research the complex equipment used in these enterprises The ingenious liberty loving artisans left few written records of their work and only Mr Tunis with his painstaking attention to authentic detail and his vast knowledge could present such a complete treasury of the way things were done before machines obliterated this phase of early American life The Colonial Craftsman Carl

Potters Leonard Everett Fisher,2001 Text and pictures describe how craftsmen in colonial America made pottery The Craftsman ,1904 An illustrated monthly magazine in the interest of better art better work and a better more reasonable way of living Gustav Stickley's Craftsman Farms Mark Alan Hewitt,2001-03-01 From 1911 to 1917 Craftsman Farms now a major museum was the home of Gustav Stickley one of the central figures in the American Arts and Crafts Movement This book unravels the rich and sometimes contradictory ideas that informed not only Stickley but many of the artists and literary figures of the progressive era in America The year 1900 was the fulcrum in a long arc of utopian ideals dating back to Thomas Carlyle John Ruskin and William Morris in England a movement which would eventually lead up to the art communes of the Guild of Handicraft Woodstock and the MacDowell colony Craftsman Farms was at the center of a large group of American experiments in living the artistic life With this book Mark Alan Hewitt provides a foil for a critical examination of the theories that guided many architects artists and craft artisans at the turn of the last century Illustrated with specially commissioned photographs as well as many archival photographs from the Winterthur Museum and Library this book provides both a visual and historical record of Stickley's life and work during his most fertile creative period
