Mascia-Lees, Patricia Sharpe, 2012-02-01 Taking a Stand in a Postfeminist World offers an engaged cultural criticism in a postfeminist context At the end of the twentieth century an increasingly globalized world has given rise to a cultural complexity characterized by a rapid increase in competing discourses fragmented subjectivities and irreconcilable claims over cultural representation and who has the right to speak for or about others While feminism has traditionally been a potent site for debates over questions that have arisen out of this context recently it has become so splintered and suspect that its insights are often dismissed as predictable seriously reducing its capacity to offer powerful cultural criticism In this postfeminist context the authors argue for a cultural criticism that is strategic not programmatic and that preserves the multiple commitments ideas and positions required of interactions and identifications across lines of cultural racial and gender difference Selecting sites where such interactions are highlighted and under current scrutiny film consumer culture tourism anthropology and the academy the authors theorize and demonstrate the struggles and maneuvers required to take a stand on a wide range of issues of significance to the contemporary cultural moment Sheroes Varla Ventura,1998-01-01
