Prebish, Martin Baumann, 2002-12-04 The first authoritative volume on the totality of Buddhism in the West Westward Dharma establishes a comparative and theoretical perspective for considering the amazing variety of Buddhist traditions schools centers and teachers that have developed outside of Asia Leading scholars from North America Europe South Africa and Australia explore the plurality and heterogeneity of traditions and practices that are characteristic of Buddhism in the West This recent dramatic growth in Western Buddhism is accompanied by an expansion of topics and issues of Buddhist concern The contributors to this volume treat such topics as the broadening spirit of egalitarianism the increasing emphasis on the psychological as opposed to the purely religious nature of practice scandals within Buddhist movements the erosion of the distinction between professional and lay Buddhists Buddhist settlement in Israel the history of Buddhism in internment camps repackaging Zen for the West and women's dharma in the West The interconnections of historical and theoretical approaches in the volume make it a rich multi layered resource Fast Food/Slow Food Richard Wilk, 2006-08-25 Wilk and his colleagues draw upon their own international field experience to examine how food systems are changing around the globe The authors offer a cultural perspective that is missing in other economic and developmental studies and provide rich ethnographic data on markets industrial production and food economies This new book will appeal to professionals in economic and environmental anthropology economic development agricultural economics consumer behavior nutritional sciences environmental sustainability and globalization studies Buddhist Missionaries in the Era of Globalization Linda Learman, 2004-11-30 This insightful volume dispels the common notion that Buddhism is not a missionary religion by revealing Asian Buddhists as active agents in the propagation of their faith It presents at the same time a new framework with which to study missionary activity in both Buddhist and other religious traditions Included are case studies of Theravada Chinese and Tibetan Buddhist teachers and congregations as well as the Pure Land Shingon Zen and Soka Gakkai traditions of Japan Contributors examine both foreign and domestic missions and the activities of emigrant communities showing the resources and strategies garnered by late nineteenth and twentieth century Buddhists who worked to uphold and further their respective traditions often under difficult circumstances Based on anthropological fieldwork and historical research the essays break new ground and provide better analytical tools for studying mission activity than previously available They provide instructive comparisons with Anglo American Protestant missionary thinking and offer insights into the internal dynamics of Sri Lankan and Japanese missions as they make their way in Protestant and Catholic societies Also included are nuanced studies of two major missionary figures in late twentieth century Chinese Buddhism and a fascinating look at the present Dalai Lama's relationships with his devotees and the American government viewed through an exposition of the abiding tradition within Tibetan Buddhism that combines mission activity with the political goals of exiled lamas Contributors Stuart Chandler Peter B Clarke C Julia Huang Steven Kemper Linda Learman Sarah LeVine Richard K Payne Cristina Rocha George J Tanabe Jr Gray Tuttle Buddhism in the Modern World David L.
