Taking Stock Of The Army's Base Realignment And Closure Selection Process:

Taking Stock of the Army's Base Realignment and Closure Selection Process William Michael Hix, 2001 The Army has been doing its part to help downsize the defense establishment closing 23 major installations in the four rounds of base closures and realignments Yet this work states that many believe that excess installation capacity remains so more rounds are sure to come

Taking Stock of the Army's Base Realignment and Closure Selection Process, 2001 During the last decade the Army like the other military departments has been accommodating the downsizing of the defense establishment in part by reducing its installation structure during congressionally mandated rounds of base closures and realignments Four rounds of closures and realignments have resulted in the closure of 97 major defense installations including 23 belonging to the Army Many more minor installations have been closed and others have been realigned Nevertheless many believe that excess installation capacity remains Hence more base realignments and closures BRACs may occur possibly as early as 2003 The Army's process for selecting installations has remained fairly constant during the last three rounds in 1991 1993 and 1995 The process has much to commend it and in fact has received the most praise of the processes of any of the three military departments Yet the process has shortcomings and can be improved for any future rounds This report offers ten criteria it argues should characterize an effective BRAC process and analyzes the Army's 1995 process in light of those criteria It then goes on to suggest an improved process
