(Complete) Robert Southey,2020-09-28 I was in the fourth night of the story of the Doctor and his horse and had broken it off not like Scheherezade because it was time to get up but because it was time to go to bed It was at thirty five minutes after ten o'clock on the 20th of July in the year of our Lord 1813 I finished my glass of punch tinkled the spoon against its side as if making music to my meditations and having my eyes fixed upon the Bhow Begum who was sitting opposite to me at the head of her own table I said It ought to be written in a Book There had been a heavy thunder storm in the afternoon and though the thermometer had fallen from 78 to 70 still the atmosphere was charged If that mysterious power by which the nerves convey sensation and make their impulses obeyed be as experiments seem to indicate identical with the galvanic fluid and if the galvanic and electric fluids be the same as philosophers have more than surmised and if the lungs according to a happy hypothesis elaborate for us from the light of heaven this pabulum of the brain and material essence or essential matter of genius it may be that the ethereal fire which I had inhaled so largely during the day produced the bright conception or at least impregnated and quickened the latent seed The punch reader had no share in it I had spoken as it were abstractedly and the look which accompanied the words was rather cogitative than regardant The Bhow Begum laid down her snuff box and replied entering into the feeling as well as echoing the words It ought to be written in a book certainly it ought They may talk as they will of the dead languages Our auxiliary verbs give us a power which the ancients with all their varieties of mood and inflections of tense never could attain It must be written in a book said I encouraged by her manner The mood was the same the tense was the same but the gradation of meaning was marked in a way which a Greek or Latin grammarian might have envied as well as admired Pshaw nonsense stuff said my wife's eldest sister who was sitting at the right hand of the Bhow Begum I say write it in a book indeed My wife's youngest sister was sitting diagonally opposite to the last speaker she lifted up her eyes and smiled It was a smile which expressed the same opinion as the late vituperative tones there was as much of incredulity in it but more of wonder and less of vehemence My wife was at my left hand making a cap for her youngest daughter and with her tortoiseshell paper work box before her I turned towards her and repeated the words It must be written in a book But I smiled while I was speaking and was conscious of that sort of meaning in my eyes which calls out contradiction for the pleasure of sporting with it Write it in a book she replied I am sure you won't and she looked at me with a frown Poets have written much upon their ladies frowns but I do not remember that they have ever described the thing with much accuracy When my wife frowns two perpendicular wrinkles each three quarters of an inch in length are formed in the forehead the base of each resting upon the top of the nose and equidistant from each other The poets have also attributed dreadful effects to the frown of those whom they love I cannot say that I ever experienced any thing very formidable in my wife's At present she knew her eyes would give the lie to it if they looked at me steadily for a moment so they wheeled to the left about quick off at a tangent in a direction to the Bhow Begum and then she smiled She could not prevent the smile but she tried to make it scornful My wife's nephew was sitting diagonally with her and opposite his mother on the left hand of the Bhow Begum Oh he exclaimed it ought to be written in a book it will be a glorious book write it uncle I beseech you My wife s nephew is a sensible lad He reads my writings likes my stories admires my singing and thinks as I do in politics a youth of parts and considerable promise The Doctor, &c. ... Robert Southey,1834 Remembering
