, The Muslim Women (Protection of Rights on Marriage) Bill 2019 Salim Khan Anmol, 2022-08-15 The Muslim Women Protection of Rights on Marriage Bill 2019 New English Latest Edition Marriage is said to be the union of two people and is seen as the purest and oldest institution in India The object of marriage for every religion is different For example marriage in Hindus is considered to be a dharma but every religion places an obligation to get married for some or other reason Where marriages among Hindus are considered a sacred institution marriage among Muslims is seen as a contract Unlike Hindu Law Mohamedan Law or Muslim Law is not codified This leads to chaos and confusion regarding the various ceremonies and authenticity of various things related to marriage like consent age divorce maintenance etc In order to deal with different problems that arose due to the non codification of Muslim law the parliament passed various acts The article explains all these acts and their important provisions It also describes the nature and essential conditions of a Muslim marriage Nature of Muslim marriage Marriage in Muslim law is known as Nikah It is an Arabic word which means union of two people Baillie s Digest defines Muslim marriage as a contract done to legalise sexual relationships and the procreation of children while on the other hand in Hedaya a guide or commentary on Islamic Law nikah means carnal conjunction in its primitive sense As said by the Prophet of Islam marriage is his sunna practices of the Prophet Muhammad and his followers must obey his practices and follow them properly When we talk about the nature of Muslim marriage a question that always arises is whether it is a sacrament or a contract Some jurists opined that marriage in Muslims is a civil contract while others argue that it has a sacrament attached to itself Thus while studying the nature of Muslim marriage three different aspects are taken into consideration These are Legal aspect Social aspect Religious aspect Legal aspect of Muslim marriage The legal aspect says that among Muslims marriage is a civil contract because it has similar characteristics to a contract These are Like a contract there is a proposal i e Ijab by one party and acceptance i e Qubul by the other party In a contract free consent plays an important role Similarly there can be no marriage without the consent of the parties and such consent must not be obtained through fraud coercion force or undue influence If a minor is married by their guardians then the minor has a right to repudiate the marriage on attaining the age of majority which is the same as the age of puberty in Muslims This option of puberty is also known as khyar ul bulugh Similarly a contract entered into by a guardian on behalf of a minor can be set aside or controlled by him on attaining a majority The parties to a marriage are allowed to enter into any kind of ante nuptial or post nuptial agreement if it is enforceable by law The only condition is that it must be reasonable and not contrary to their religion The terms of marriage in the nikahnama can be altered according to the wishes of the bride and groom but it must be within the limits of the law In the case of Abdul Kadir v Salima 1886 it was held that Muslim marriage is a contract and not a sacrament Not 'Completely' Divorced Anisa Buckley, 2019-12-03 Within Muslim communities in Australia there is great diversity in Islamic practice and religiosity When it comes to marriage and divorce however many Muslims still wish to observe religious procedures alongside civil ones and while marriage is relatively straightforward divorce raises more complications. The situation of women in limping marriages in particular has raised debates among Muslims and the Australian public regarding the autonomy of Muslim women and the function of community family law processes. Based upon in-depth research with divorced Muslim women, community leaders and local religious authorities, Buckley reveals the complexities facing Muslim women in negotiating family expectations, cultural norms and traditional Islamic laws. Through their stories and experiences, the Muslim women in this book demonstrate how they are able to navigate the intricacies of religious and civil processes and in so doing are reformulating what a complete divorce looks like. Islamic Studies Series Volume 29 Love & sex in Islam, Gendered Morality Zahra M. S. Ayubi, 2019-07-30. Islamic scriptural sources offer potentially radical notions of equality. Yet medieval Islamic philosophers chose to establish a hierarchical male-centered virtue ethics. In Gendered Morality, Zahra Ayubi rethinks the tradition of Islamic philosophical ethics from a feminist critical perspective. She calls for a philosophical turn in the study of gender in Islam based on resources for gender equality that are unlocked by feminist engagement with the Islamic ethical tradition. Developing a lens for a feminist philosophy of Islam, Ayubi analyzes constructions of masculinity, femininity and gender relations in classic works of philosophical ethics. In close readings of foundational texts by Abu Hamid Muhammad al-Ghazali, Nasir ad-Din Tusi and Jalal ad-Din Davani, she interrogates how these thinkers conceive of the ethical human being as an elite male within a hierarchical cosmology built on the exclusion of women and nonelites. Yet in the course of prescribing ethical behavior, the ethicists speak of complex gendered and human relations that contradict their hierarchies. Their metaphysical premises about the nature of the divine, humanity and moral responsibility indicate a potential egalitarian core. Gendered Morality offers a vital and disruptive new perspective on patriarchal Islamic ethics and metaphysics, showing the ways in which the philosophical tradition can support the aims of gender justice and human flourishing. Family law in contemporary Iran Marianne Bøe, 2015-01-20. Passed into law over a decade before the Revolution, the Family Protection Law quickly drew the ire of the conservative clergy and the Ayatollah Khomeini in 1979. In fact, it was one of the first laws to be rescinded following the revolution. The law was hardly a surprising target, however, since women's status in Iran was then and continues now to be a central concern of Iranian political leaders, media commentators and international observers alike. Taking up the issue of women's status in a modern context, Marianne Bøe offers a nuanced view of how women's rights activists assert their rights within an Islamic context by weaving together religious and historical texts and narratives. Through her substantial fieldwork and novel analysis, Bøe undermines both the traditional view of Islamic Feminism as monolithic and clears a path to a new understanding of the role of women's rights activists in shaping and synthesizing debates on the shari'a, women's rights and family law. As such, this book is essential for anyone studying family law and the role of women in contemporary Iran. Comparative Law - Engaging Translation Simone Glanert, 2014-06-27. In an era marked by processes of economic, political and legal integration that are arguably unprecedented in their range and impact the translation of law has assumed a significance which it would be hard to overstate The following situations are typical A French law school is teaching French law in the English language to foreign exchange students Some US legal scholars are exploring the possibility of developing a generic or transnational constitutional law German judges are referring to foreign law in a criminal case involving an honour killing committed in Germany with a view to ascertaining the relevance of religious prescriptions European lawyers are actively working on the creation of a common private law to be translated into the 24 official languages of the European Union Since 2004 the World Bank has been issuing reports ranking the attractiveness of different legal cultures for doing business All these examples raise in one way or the other the matter of translation from a comparative legal perspective However in today's globalised world where the need to communicate beyond borders arises constantly in different guises many comparatists continue not to address the issue of translation This edited collection of essays brings together leading scholars from various cultural and disciplinary backgrounds who draw on fields such as translation studies linguistics literary theory history philosophy or sociology with a view to promoting a heightened understanding of the complex translational implications pertaining to comparative law understood both in its literal and metaphorical senses

Conflict of Laws Maebh Harding, 2013-10-08 Conflict of Laws provides a straight forward and accessible introduction to English private international law It examines the jurisdiction of English courts and whether their judgments are enforced and recognized overseas and the effect of foreign judgments in England Recent years have seen an increased Europeanization of English Law which has transformed the subject and this fifth edition takes into account key recent developments and regulations including proposed changes to Brussels I Rome II The Maintenance Regulation Rome III the proposed Rome IV and the proposed Succession Regulation Harding provides students with a clear understanding using pedagogic methods such as Key Issues checklists at the start of every chapter to help track important points for further study Figures are used to aid understanding through visual learning Further Reading is included at the end of every chapter to encourage and support additional study Further developments addressed in the fifth edition include The use of common law doctrines in EU cases such as West Tankers The EU imperative for family relationships to be recognized across the EU in the context of citizens' rights Civil Partnerships and recognition of same sex partnership Rome III Rome IV and the distinction between maintenance and matrimonial property Adoption Parental Responsibility and International Child Abduction Surrogacy and Assisted Reproduction Conflict of Laws is an ideal choice for undergraduate and postgraduate students seeking a comprehensive yet accessible introduction to private international law

Islam Jamila Hussain, 2011-09-19 This book provides an introduction to Islamic law for western readers It explains the origin and development of the Shariah Islamic law It contains updated chapters on the Islamic laws of War and Peace including juristic opinions on the legality of suicide bombing and the use of modern weapons of mass destruction It explains the commonalities and the differences in family laws and the differences in Muslim opinion concerning the status of women It contains a completely rewritten chapter on Islamic finance and rounds off with a look at Muslim communities in Australia and the way they live their lives Status of Muslim Women in India Hajira Kumar, Jamia Millia Islamia (India). Sarojini Naidu Centre for Women's Studies, 2002 This Book Throws Light On The Various Situations Which Colour The Profile Of Indian Muslim Women The Authors Have Taken Care Of The Past And Present Conditions Of Muslim Women As A Result A Social Forecast For Their Future Is Possible Historical Perspective Is A Unique Feature Of This Book Especially As The Subsequent Chapters On Socio Economic Perspectives Of The Contemporary Situation Create A Linkage Between The Past And The Present Another Innovative Feature Is A Paper On The Participation Of Muslim Women In Panchayati Raj Two Papers Have Also Been Devoted To Legal Problems And Muslim Personal Law The Approach Of These Papers Include A Deep Sensitivity Of The Authors Towards The Sufferings Of Muslim Women Without Diluting The Objectivity The Book Will Be Equally Useful For Academicians Women Activists And Grassroot Workers Adjudication in Religious Family Laws Gopika Solanki, 2011-04-25 This book argues that the shared adjudication model in which the state splits its adjudicative authority with religious groups and other societal sources in the regulation of marriage can potentially balance cultural rights and gender equality In this model the civic and religious sources of legal authority construct transmit and communicate heterogeneous notions of the conjugal family gender relations and religious membership within the interstices of state and society In so doing they fracture the homogenized religious identities grounded in hierarchical gender relations within the conjugal family The shared adjudication model facilitates diversity as it allows the construction of hybrid religious identities creates fissures in ossified group boundaries and provides institutional spaces for ongoing intersocietal dialogue This pluralized legal sphere governed by ideologically diverse legal actors can thus increase gender equality and individual and collective legal mobilization by women effects institutional change Family, Religion and Law Prakash Shah, Marie-Claire Foblets, 2016-04-15 This collection discusses how official legal systems do and should respond to the reality of a plurality of family types and origins within their jurisdictions It further examines the challenges that arise for practitioners including lawyers and judges when faced with such plurality Focussing on empirical research the volume presents legal and sociological data of unprecedented comparative depth It also includes a discussion of how members of minority families respond to the need to organise their legal relationships and to resolve their disputes in the shadow of official legal systems which differ from those of their familial and communal traditions The work invites reflection and demonstrates the urgency and complexity of the questions regarding the search for justice in the field of family life in Europe today Muslim Law Dr. Mamta Trichal, Prof. V.N. Pandey, 2018-01-01 This is an attempt to provide an easily accessible introduction to islam and islamic law Adjudicating Family Law in Muslim Courts Elisa Giunchi, 2013-12-04 While there are many books on Islamic family law the literature on its enforcement is scarce This book focuses on how Islamic family law is interpreted and applied by judges in a range of Muslim countries Sunni and Shi a as well as Arab and non Arab

It thereby aids the understanding of shari a law in practice in a number of different cultural and political settings It shows how the existence of differing views of what shari a is as well as the presence of a vast body of legal material which judges can refer to make it possible for courts to interpret Islamic law in creative and innovative ways
