Autobiographics Leigh Gilmore, 1994 In the first comprehensive feminist critique of autobiography as a genre Leigh Gilmore incorporates writings that have not up to now been considered part of the autobiographical tradition Offering subtle and perceptive readings of a wide variety of texts from the confessions of medieval mystics to contemporary works by Chicana and lesbian writers she identifies an innovative practice of autobiographics which covers the entire spectrum of women's self representation

Lady Friends Karen L. Ito, 2018-08-06 Many indigenous Hawaiians who have moved to the islands cities languish at the bottom of the socioeconomic scale and are thought to have lost their cultural roots Initially apolitical urban Hawaiians were often skeptical of activists who sought to revitalize traditional ways yet as Karen L Ito shows Hawaiian women in particular continue to maintain and express crucial aspects of their cultural heritage in their lifestyle and interactions with others Ito conducted intensive fieldwork with six Honolulu families all of which shared the distinguishing characteristics of Hawaii's matrifocal society In her close examination of the friendships and family relations among the women in these households she focuses on the significance of a traditional manner of speech known as talk story which they use when conversing together She describes how her subjects employ metaphoric language to address issues concerning responsibility retribution understandings of self and personhood and methods for conflict resolution For these lady friends Ito finds the emotional quality and quantity of their social relationships help define personal identity while their common concepts of morality bind them together By applying ethnopsychological strategies to the exploration of culture Ito demonstrates cultural continuity at a level where most observers would not expect to find it Lady Friends brings a new dimension to Hawaiian research

Locating Cultural Creativity John Liep, 2001-02-20 This book reexamines the interconnectedness of culture and creativity in an increasingly hybrid world They argue that while many of the old certainties about high culture and artistic canons may now be disintegrating culture and creativity themselves are still very much a reflection of social processes involving power and the control of resources Case studies include youth subcultures in Europe experimental theatre derived from the Brazilian candomblé dance the role of memory in mythology among the Pukapukan of Polynesia the evolution of football and polo in Argentina gender relations in Algerian raï music the notion of authenticity in artistic movements in Zanzibar traditional and modern practices of the Lio in Indonesia and kula exchange and social movements in the Trobriand Islands in the Pacific
