The Dreaded Comparison Race And Animal Slavery:

The Dreaded Comparison Marjorie Spiegel,1996 The Dreaded Comparison provocatively presents the first in depth exploration of the similarities between the violence humans have wrought against other humans and our culture's treatment of non human animals Marjorie Spiegel's examination of power and the source of oppressive behavior is essential reading for anyone interested in psychology history African American studies or animals This highly original book is at once chilling and enlightening and vitally important to our efforts to understand the roots of individual and societal violence Animal Rights/human Rights David Alan Nibert,2002 This accessible and cutting edge work offers a new look at the history of western civilization one that brings into focus the interrelated suffering of oppressed humans and other animals Nibert argues persuasively that throughout history the exploitation of other animals has gone hand in hand with the oppression of women people of color and other oppressed groups He maintains that the oppression both of humans and of other species of animals is inextricably tangled within the structure of social arrangements Nibert asserts that human use and mistreatment of other animals are not natural and do little to further the human condition Nibert's analysis emphasizes the economic and elite driven character of prejudice discrimination and institutionalized repression of humans and other animals His examination of the economic entanglements of the oppression of human and other animals is supplemented with an analysis of ideological forces and the use of state power in this sociological expose of the grotesque uses of the oppressed past and present Nibert suggests that the liberation of devalued groups of humans is unlikely in a world that uses other animals as fodder for the continual growth and expansion of transnational corporations and conversely that animal liberation cannot take place when humans continue to be exploited and oppressed Animals and Race Jonathan W. Thurston-Torres,2023-02-01 The intersection of race and species has a long and problematic history Western thinking specifically has demonstrated a societal need to try to conceive of race as a purely biological fact rather than a social construct This book is an academic activist challenge to that instinct prioritizing anti racism in its observation of the animal race intersection Too often as B n dicte Boisseron has indicated this intersection typically appears in the form of animal activists instrumentalizing racial discrimination as a vehicle to approach animal rights But why does this intersection exist and perhaps more importantly how can we challenge it moving forward This volume examines those two critical questions taking an interdisciplinary approach in moving across subjects including art history film studies American history and digital media analysis Our interpretation of animals has for centuries been fundamental in the development of Western race thinking This collection of essays looks at how this perspective contributes to the construction of racial discrimination prioritizing ways to read the animal in our culture as a means for working to dismantle this conception Animals, Race, and Multiculturalism Luís Cordeiro-Rodrigues,Les Mitchell,2017-12-20 This book focuses on multiculturalism racism and the interests of nonhuman animals Each are in their own right rapidly growing and controversial fields of enquiry but how do
