Tales Of Faith:

Tales of Faith & Wonder Hans Christian Andersen,1997 Presents fifteen fairy tales including Thumbelina The Ugly Duckling The Loveliest Rose in the World and The Emperor s New Clothes with brief Christian commentary Tales of Faith Salomon Alter Halpern,1968 Tales of Faith Holly Ordway,2022-06-13 How can we share the Gospel and make disciples in our modern culture Many people including young people from Christian homes are walking away from the faith or have never had it presented to them in a compelling manner However our polemical distracted media environment makes it difficult to have thoughtful discussions about anything In this context literature and the arts have a powerful role to play by providing an engaging and inviting way to share the Christian faith In Tales of Faith Holly Ordway shows how literature and especially old literature can foster fruitful discussions that allow us to meet people where they are and help them move closer to knowing Christ or to knowing and loving him more fully and deeply Here readers will find a practical accessible guide to using literature to discuss topics such as the nature of God virtues and vices the Crucifixion longing and sadness and much more For each literary text Ordway provides an introductory essay a selection from the text or the whole poem for short pieces questions for discussion or personal reflection activities and recommended resources Drawing from ancient classics like the Odyssey and the Aeneid and medieval masterpieces like Beowulf and the Divine Comedy and providing both practical advice and spiritual guidance for the reader Tales of Faith offers teachers parents and all lovers of classic literature an invaluable resource for sharing the faith through story Tales of Faith Salomon Alter Halpern,1968 Tales for Teens Faith Coxe Bailey,2011-10-01 Stories in Faith Gail Forsyth-Vail,Tracey L. Hurd,2007 Tales of Faith V. Y. Mudimbe,2016-10-06 This book explores African religious practice and its relation to African identity It takes the problem of faith as its central theme emphasizing the particular existential tensions dividing yet uniting the Christian and the African Drawing on Heidegger and Sartre it analyses these tensions underlying and creating the dialogues of hybridity or metissage

Faith, Ethics, and Church David Aers, 2000. Examination of key texts: Chaucer to Wyclif sheds new light on medieval spirituality. The relationship between versions of the late medieval Church, faith, ethics, and the lay powers as explored in a range of late fourteenth and early fifteenth century texts written in England is the subject of this book. It argues that they disclose strikingly diverse models of Christian discipleship and examines the sources and consequences of such differences. Issues investigated include whether the Church could shape modern communities and individual identities and how it could combine its status as a major landlord and trader without being assimilated by the various networks of earthly power and profit. The book begins with Chaucer's treatment of received versions of faith, ethics, and the Church and moves via St Thomas, Ockham, Nicholas Love, Gower, the Gawain poet, and Langland, who pursues the issues with particular intensity and focus, to Wyclif's construal of Christian discipleship in relation to his projected reform of the Church. Interdisciplinary in approach, the book will be of interest to all those studying late medieval Christianity and literature. DAVID AERS is James B. Duke Professor of English and Professor of Historical Theology at Duke University.
