Categories in Social Interaction Kevin A. Whitehead, Elizabeth Stokoe, Geoffrey Raymond, 2024-12-30 This book investigates the situated re production of categories from the most mundane and unremarkable to those most strongly associated with power and privilege By examining the reciprocal relationships between categorial phenomena and the basic structures and practices of social interaction the book provides a new framework for integrating conversation analysis and membership categorization analysis Across its ten chapters the book describes a conversation analytic approach to studying categories and categorization charts the development and history of membership categorization analysis and addresses core methodological challenges and practices associated with using this approach After mapping out the new framework developed in the book each chapter describes intersections between categorial phenomena and the domains that comprise the infrastructure of social interaction The book concludes by exploring applications interventions and impacts of understanding categories in ways examined across the preceding chapters and by considering future avenues for excavating categorial practices in the ordinary institutional and technological settings of human social life Categories in Social Interaction is essential reading for social scientists with an interest in categories of people and categorizing practices and especially for practitioners and students of conversation analysis membership categorization ethnomethodology and discursive psychology

Resources in Education ,1998      The Book of Peace Karen Green, Constant J. Mews, Janice Pinder, 2016-11-29 Christine de Pizan one of the earliest known women authors wrote the Livre de paix Book of Peace between 1412 and 1414 a period of severe corruption and civil unrest in her native France The book offered Pizan a platform from which to expound her views on contemporary politics and to put forth a strict moral code to which she believed all governments should aspire The text s intended recipient was the dauphin Louis of Guyenne Christine felt that Louis had the political and social influence to fill a void left by years of incompetent leadership Drawing in equal parts from the Bible and from classical ethical theory the Livre de paix was revolutionary in its timing viewpoint and content This volume edited by Karen Green Constant J Mews and Janice Pinder boasts the first full English translation of Pizan s work along with the original French text The editors also place the Livre de paix in historical context provide a brief biography of Pizan and offer insight into the translation process

Mediatized Fan Play Line Nybro Petersen, 2022-04-10 Addressing fans digital practices this book places fans play at the centre of a networked mainstream culture that seems to increasingly cater to amalgamate with and adapt to fans mediatized play Through case studies of the fan communities of the

Hamilton musical and Norwegian streaming hit SKAM along with examples from many other online fan communities the book dives into how fans navigate and create play rules as part of their community building in a networked digital landscape and how they use the digital affordances of social media to engage in language play It analyses the role of mediatized fan play in the context of political culture and identifies processes of fanization as fans play moods and modes are integrated into politics Finally the book discusses the role of fan play in the context of the global conspiracy theory QAnon as those instigating the conspiracy and those who are fans of the movement engage in dark play and deep play respectively The book suggests that we might understand fan communities as pioneer communities in the sense that there is increased value placed on fans mood work and fan play is integrated into other societal domains This is an engaging book for scholars and students studying media studies and cultural studies particularly courses on fan studies film studies television studies and mediatization

Routledge Introductions to Applied Linguistics is a series of introductory level textbooks covering the core topics in Applied Linguistics primarily designed for those beginning postgraduate studies or taking an introductory MA course as well as advanced undergraduates Titles in the series are also ideal for language professionals returning to academic study The books take an innovative practice to theory approach with a back to front structure This leads the reader from real world problems and issues through a discussion of intervention and how to engage with these concerns before finally relating these practical issues to theoretical foundations Additional features include tasks with commentaries a glossary of key terms and an annotated further reading section Exploring Intercultural Communication investigates the role of language in intercultural communication paying particular attention to the interplay between cultural diversity and language practice This book brings together current or emerging strands and themes in the field by examining how intercultural communication permeates our everyday life what we can do to achieve effective and appropriate intercultural communication and why we study language culture and identity together The focus is on interactions between people from various cultural and linguistic backgrounds and regards intercultural communication as a process of negotiating meaning cultural identities and above all differences between ourselves and others Including global examples from a range of genres this book is an essential read for students taking language and intercultural communication modules within Applied Linguistics TESOL Education or Communication Studies courses Publishers' Circular and General Record of British and Foreign Literature, and Booksellers' Record, 1897

Remote Online Language Assessment: Eliciting Discourse from Children and Adults Natalia Gagarina, Angel Chan, Wenchun Yang, 2024-08-20 Being able to collect valid data is crucial for empirical science disciplines such as linguistics developmental psycholinguistics clinical psycholinguistics and speech and hearing sciences In recent years there has been an increasing use of digital devices for remote language assessments such as online elicitation of language samples apps for eliciting expressive and productive lexical abilities and online questionnaires With the ongoing COVID 19 pandemic still affecting many lives globally there have been numerous disruptions of face to face in person language assessments leading many researchers to conduct their language assessments online Despite the necessity of remote language assessments and the convenience they may bring to both assessors and assessees the potential merits limits and problems of remote testing have not yet been systematically explored and understood This timely Research Topic seeks contributions that mobilize new evidence and or insightful and nuanced discussions to address questions such as can we control online testing so that it is as good as face to face in person testing and if so how Do we have evaluative evidence of such practices and if so how robust is the evidence What adaptations and concerns can and cannot be accommodated at the present time What opportunities are offered by recent technological advances Are there certain conditions in which online testing works better or worse Last but not least how do differences between offline in person language assessments and online remote assessments affect the results of testing The current topic has two main foci the first deals with the assessment of conversational discourse in general and narrative discourse in particular in both children and young adults Communicative competence at the discourse level has been considered an essential and ecologically valid component in language assessments of children and adults for three key reasons 1 this competence is crucial for an individual s everyday functioning and academic and social life 2 it provides information about an individual s socio cognitive and linguistic abilities and 3 it is a versatile test of language skills at the levels of content form use and their integration The second focus is on comparing the results elicited via in person assessments and remote online assessments This Research Topic welcomes empirical articles discussing new evidence perspective and opinion papers on issues at the conceptual methodological interface and methods articles presenting approaches that can offer opportunities for remote testing of developmental discourse supported by recent technological advances Potential themes may include but are not limited to comparisons of remote versus in person testing modes using a within participants research design learner variables such as age gender language status monolingual multilingual and clinical status typically developing children and adults children and adults with clinical conditions such as developmental language disorder autism spectrum disorder which may affect the efficacy of remote testing linguistic variables such as the use of referential and relational devices and mental state language which may be subject to more variations when being assessed remotely new methods that offer opportunities for the remote testing of developmental and adult discourse supported by recent technological advances articles addressing the same research question within developmental narrative discourse but using different i e either online or offline research methods

Unbridled William Robert, 2022-02-14 A study of religion through the lens of Peter Shaffer s play Equus In Unbridled William Robert uses Equus Peter Shaffer s enigmatic play about a boy passionately devoted to horses to think differently about religion For several years Robert has used Equus to introduce students to the study of religion provoking them to conceive of religion in unfamiliar even uncomfortable ways In Unbridled he is inviting readers to do the same A play like Equus tangles together text performance practice embodiment and reception Studying a play involves us in playing different roles as ourselves and others and those roles as well as the imaginative work they require are critical to the study of religion By approaching Equus with the reader turning the play around and upside down Unbridled transforms standard approaches to the study of religion engaging with themes including ritual sacrifice worship power desire violence and sexuality as well as thinkers including Judith Butler Sigmund Freud Karl Marx Friedrich Nietzsche and Jonathan Z Smith As Unbridled shows the way themes and theories play out in Equus challenges us to reimagine the study of religion through open questions contrasting perspectives and alternative modes of interpretation and appreciation
