pertinent questions about the Psalms worship in the Jerusalem Temples and ancient music Mitchell's reading is thorough and eclectic his thinking is imaginative and novel and his writing engaging and thought provoking This is an enjoyable book for a musician and Psalms scholar Dr Megan Daffern Chaplain Jesus College Oxford Expository Times Book Review 2017 This study in a unique combination of psalter exegesis historical localization and music historical observations reveals the thesis that Psalms 120-134 were redacted between 975 and 959 BC for the consecration of Solomon's Temple on 15 Ethanim Tishri 959 BC and that one of each of these 15 psalms was sung during the Succoth festival on the 15 steps of the Temple of Jerusalem The author proposes that the poets of these psalms were David for Ps 122 124 131 and 133 Solomon for Psalm 127 and by virtue of its Aramaic coloring Jeduthun and the Merarite Levites Ps 120 121 123 125 126 130 and 132 In these attributions and in the reconstruction of the original chant Mitchell draws on the masoretic cantillation on rabbinic and early Christian sources on psalmody on ancient oriental representations of musicians and instruments and also on gematria

Reading the Songs of Ascents (Psalms 120-134) in Context Sung-Soo Kim, 2003      Synopses and Lists Teresa Bernheimer, Ronny Vollandt, 2023-12-19 Textual practices in pre modern societies cover a great range of representations from the literary to the pictorial Among the most intriguing are synopses and lists While lists provide a complete enumeration of ideas people events or terms synopses juxtapose one against the other To understand how they were planned produced and consumed is to gain insight into the practices of what one can call management of knowledge in a time before our own The present volume is the product of two workshops held in 2019 and 2021 as part of the research focus Textual Practices in the Pre Modern World Texts and Ideas between Aksum Constantinople and Baghdad which was generously supported and funded by the Centre for Advanced Study CAS at Ludwig Maximilians Universit t LMU Munich Aiming to understand how synopses and lists function in the literatures of the great intellectual traditions of late antiquity the ancient Near East ancient philosophy and the three monotheistic religions Judaism Christianity and Islam the volume offers a historical and transcultural perspective on synopses and lists highlighting the centrality of these textual practices to allow storing retrieving selecting and organising this knowledge Both make deliberate yet not always explicit choices as to what is included and excluded thereby creating lasting hierarchies and canons      As Though We Were Dreaming Keith Ruckhaus, 2013-10-22 The Eastern Christian liturgical tradition of Lent has long included the chanting of the Songs of Ascents Pss 120 134 as entrance songs of not only the special penance service known as the Liturgy of the Presanctified Gifts but also of the season of repentance Ruckhaus commentary in As Though We Were Dreaming provides theological insight and exegetical breadth to this group of Psalms Even more so Ruckhaus drives the reader to engage the Songs of Ascents and participate in the descent and ascent of meaningful and life changing repentance The commentary here does more than just compare the struggle of the ancient Jews reflected in the Songs of Ascents with that of the early Christian community and our own experience Ruckhaus insists on a guttural connection between the anxiety and hope of reconstituting the people of God after the disaster of the exile and that of the passion of Jesus The gospel story is already genetically encoded in the story of Israel The liturgical incorporation of the Songs of Ascents in the Liturgy of the Presanctified Gifts grounds the Church s participation in the Great Story We don t borrow the ancient psalms of the Jews struggle to reconstitute a kingdom of God we share in that struggle      The Pilgrim Psalms Joel A. Jews and the early Christians in the Mediterranean lands during the period from 1000 BCE to 400 CE. He considers the physical religious and social setting of the music and how the music was performed. The extent to which early Christian music may have retained elements of the musical tradition of Judaism is also considered. After reviewing the subject's historical setting and describing the main sources, the author discusses music at the Jerusalem Temple and in a variety of spheres of Jewish life away from it. His subsequent discussion of early Christian music covers music in private devotion, monasticism, the Eucharist, and gnostic literature. He concludes with an examination of the question of the relationship between Jewish and early Christian music and a consideration of the musical environments that are likely to have influenced the formation of the earliest Christian chant. The scant remains of notated music from the period are discussed and placed in their respective contexts. The numerous sources that are the foundation of the book are evaluated objectively and critically in the light of modern scholarship. Due attention is given to where their limitations lie and to what they cannot tell us as well as to what they can. The book serves as a reliable introduction as well as being an invaluable guide through one of the most complex periods of music history.

Centrality Practiced Melody D. Knowles, 2006. At the end of exile, the boundaries of sacred geography were open for renegotiation. YHWH could once again dwell in Jerusalem in a rebuilt temple, and temple centrality could be renewed. Yet how were such abstract theological and geographical commitments enacted? To what extent was the influence of the city felt and practiced in Yehud or far away Egypt and Babylon? To answer such questions, this volume examines centrality through the practices of animal sacrifice, pilgrimage, tithing, and the use of incense and figurines. Unique in its appraisal of centrality via religious practice and in its integration of the biblical text and archaeological record, this study offers a compelling portrait of the variegated centralities of the Jerusalem temple in the Persian period. The Message of the Psalter David C. Mitchell, 1997-01-01. This intriguing work argues that the book of Psalms has been redacted to reflect a programme of eschatological events like that of Zechariah 9-14. These events include the ingathering of exiled Israel by a bridegroom king, his establishment of a kingdom followed by his violent death, the scattering of Israel in the wilderness, and their subsequent regathering and further imperilment, their rescue by a king from the sky who establishes his kingdom from Zion, brings peace and prosperity to the earth, and receives the homage of the nations. There is an appendix of apocalyptic midrashim translated into English for the first time. www.mornstar.co.uk
