Student Loans in China Baoyan Cheng, 2011-03-24 In 1989 China started charging tuition on a very small scale at a number of universities as a result of the global trend of cost recovery policies thus ending the free higher education era in China It was not until 1997 that all higher education institutions in China started charging tuition and fees Both the expansion of higher education and the wide gap between income and tuition and fees have created an increasingly high proportion of students who are academically qualified but cannot afford to go to college To address the problem of the increasing number of financially needy students in 1999 China launched the pilot Government subsidized Student Loan Program GSSLP in eight cities This program was extended to full time students at all of the 1 942 public higher education institutions in 2000 and has been undergoing revisions ever since including major ones in 2004 and 2007 As of 2009 the number of financially needy students in China reached 5 27 million accounting for 23 06 percent of the total enrollment of 22 85 million at higher education institutions in China Behind those statistics are young people who suffer in many ways This book provides multiple perspectives namely global comparative empirical practical and philosophical ones on the GSSLP the largest financial aid program in current China It not only provides information on financial aid policies especially the GSSLP in China but also offers a comparative perspective by examining student loan programs in the United States and Australia which are more mature and better developed Using original dataset the empirical and practical perspectives examine the effect of the GSSLP on students behavior and look into the different aspects of the GSSLP including students perceptions of and attitudes toward the program as well as its implementation In addition to these technical aspects of the GSSLP this book also examines the larger concepts of equality and social justice from a philosophical perspective and argues

Critical Reflections on the Internationalisation of Higher Education in the Global South Emnet Tadesse Woldegiorgis, Cheryl Qiumei Yu, 2024-04-26 If you are involved in academia policy making or are simply curious about the complex features of internationalisation in the Global South this work is your roadmap to deeper more critical reflections on the internationalisation of higher education

The China Boom and Its Discontents Ross Garnaut, Ligang Song, 2005-10-01 China is shaping the global economy as never before An insatiable demand for commodities energy resources and capital and deepening integration to the world economy has won China acclaim Yet 25 years of rapid industrial development far reaching economic reforms and increasing international competition have also created an array of challenging domestic policy demands The China Boom and its Discontents discusses the financial and social challenges that have emerged in the wake of rapid economic growth Recent research on demographic trends labour movements financial development social security urbanisation and trade agreements highlight the unfinished progress of reforms in China The Worldwide

Transformation of Higher Education David P. Baker, Alexander W. Wiseman, 2008-05-19 Enrollment in institutions of higher education around the world is growing Some scholars have suggested that one reason for this expansion is that the role of higher education has shifted over the last 50 years from an elite to a mass institution This book discusses the worldwide transformation of higher education from multiple perspectives The Interruption of Heteronormativity in Higher Education Michael Seal, 2019-07-29 This book examines how heteronormativity in higher education can be interrupted and resisted Located within the theoretical framework of queer and critical pedagogy and based on extensive empirical research the author explores the dynamics of heteronormativity and its interruption on professional courses in a range of higher education institutions Reactions to attempt to interrupt it were nuanced while strategies of contested engagement avoidance and retreat were expressed heterosexualities were largely unexamined and unarticulated Coming out needs to be a pedagogical act carried out concurrently with the interruptions of other social constructions and binary oppositions The author calls for co created and co held meta reflexive and liminal spaces that emphasise inter subjectivity encounters and working in the moment These spaces must de construct and reconstruct pedagogical power and knowledge to promote collective intersubjective consciousnesses and widen the vision of the reflective practitioner to that of the pedagogical practitioner This pioneering book is a call to action to all those concerned with interrupting and problematising presumed binary categories of sexuality within the heterosexual matrix China in the Global Economy Challenges for

China's Public Spending Toward Greater Effectiveness and Equity OECD, 2006-02-14 This book provides a detailed and up to date picture of the current state of China's public expenditure policies the main reforms that are being undertaken and the problems that remain to be resolved Chinese Nationalism in the Global Era Christopher R. Hughes, 2006-04-07

Presenting an analysis of the tension between nationalism and globalization in China since the beginning of the reform and opening period in the late 1970s to the present day this book makes a unique contribution to the on going debate on the nature of Chinese nationalism It shows how nationalism is used to link together key areas of policy making including economic policy national unification and foreign policy Hughes provides historical context to the debate by examining how nationalism became incorporated into the ideology of the Chinese Communist Party in the 1980s and the ways in which this strengthened and combined with globalization discourse through the domestic crisis of the Tiananmen Massacre and the external shock of the Cold War's conclusion The different perspectives towards this resulting orthodoxy are discussed including those of the state and dissent in mainland China and the alternative views from Taiwan and Hong Kong Based on

Chinese sources throughout this book offers a systematic treatment of Chinese nationalism providing conceptual insights that allow the reader to grasp the complex weave of Chinese nationalist sentiment today and its implications for the future
