identifying the use of voice in these works as a way of articulating gendered identities French Women's Writing 1848-1994 Diana Holmes, 2000-01-12 A wide range of French women writers are surveyed including Sand Colette Beauvoir and Duras among the canonized and many marginalized or forgotten and contemporary names not yet widely known outside France These writers are seen within the political economic and cultural context of women s lives and how these have changed across a century and a half Underpinning the whole account is the relationship between gender and language proliferation of visual codes metaphors and references to the gaze in women s novels published in Britain between 1778 and 1815 is more significant than scholars have previously acknowledged The book s innovative survey of the oeuvres of four culturally representative women novelists of the period spanning the Anglo French War and the Battle of Waterloo reveals the importance of visuality the continuum linking visual and verbal communication It provided women novelists with a methodology capable of circumventing the cultural strictures on female expression in a way that concealed resistance within the limits of language In contexts dominated by frustrated utterance penetrating gazes and the perpetual threat of misinterpretation Jane Austen Ann Radcliffe Maria Edgeworth and Frances Burney used references to the visible and the invisible to comment on emotions socio economic conditions and patriarchal abuses Visuality in the Novels of Austen Radcliffe Edgeworth and Burney offers new insights into verbal economy and the gender politics of the era by reassessing expression and perception from a uniquely telling point of view

Romance and Readership in Twentieth-Century

France Diana Holmes, 2006-12-14 Romance in modern times is the most widely read yet the most critically despised of genres Associated almost entirely with women as readers and as writers its popularity has been argued by gender traditionalists to confirm women s innate sentimentality while feminist critics have often condemned the genre as a dangerous opiate for the female masses This study adopts the more positive perspective of critics such as Janice Radway and takes seriously the pleasure that women readers consistently seem to find in romance Drawing on the social constructionist feminism of Simone de Beauvoir the psychoanalytical theories of Jessica Benjamin and a range of social theorists from Bourdieu to Zygmunt Bauman the book uncovers the history of romantic fiction in France from the late nineteenth to the early twenty first century and explores its place in women s lives and imaginations Romance is not defined as it usually is solely in terms of its mass market form Rather the history of women s popular fiction is traced in its full context as one dimension of a literary story that encompasses the mainstream or middlebrow as well as high culture Thus this study ranges from the formula romance from the pious but popular Delly to global brand Harlequin through middlebrow bestsellers like Marcelle Tinayre Fran oise Sagan R gine Deforges to critically esteemed stories of love in the work of such authors as Colette Simone de Beauvoir Elsa Triolet and Camille Laurens Criss crossing the boundaries of taste and class as well as those of sexual orientation the romance has been at times reactionary at others progressive utopian and contestatory It has played an important part in the lives of twentieth century women providing both a source of imaginative escape and a fictional space in which to rehearse and make sense of identity relationship and desire
