The Rhetoric of Cultural Dialogue Jeffrey S. Librett, 2000 In this groundbreaking work the author effects the first extended rhetorical philosophical reading of the historically problematic relationship between Jews and Germans based on an analysis of texts from the Enlightenment through Modernism by Moses Mendelssohn Friedrich and Dorothea Schlegel Karl Marx Richard Wagner Friedrich Nietzsche and Sigmund Freud The theoretical underpinning of the work lies in the author's rereading in terms of contemporary rhetorical theory of the medieval tradition known as figural representation which defines the Jewish Christian relation as that between the dead prefigural letter and the living fulfilled spirit After arguing that the German Enlightenment ultimately plays out the historical phantasm of a necessary Judaization of Protestant rationality the author shows that German Early Romanticism consists fundamentally in the attempt to solve the aporias raised by this impossible confrontation between Protestant spirit and Jewish letter In readings of Dorothea Schlegel Mendelssohn's daughter and her husband Friedrich Schlegel the author provides a new interpretation of the Neo Catholic turn of later German Romanticism Further he situates the proleptic end and reversal of the project of Jewish emancipation in the two extreme versions of late nineteenth century anti Judaism those of Marx and Wagner here viewed as binary concretizations of a specifically post Romantic paganized Protestantism Finally the author argues that twentieth century Modernism as represented by Nietzsche and Freud renews if in a multiply ironic displacement the secret Judaizing tendencies of the Enlightenment Fascism and Communism both denigrate this Modernism which affirms the letter of language as quasi synonymous with the force of temporality or anticipatory repetition that disrupts all claims to the full presence of spirit The book ends with a note on recent debates about Holocaust memory

Scientific Conceptualization and Ontological Difference Dimitri Ginev, 2019-07-22 Ginev works out a conception of the constitution of scientific objects in terms of hermeneutic phenomenology Recently there has been a revival of interest in hermeneutic theories of scientific inquiry The present study is furthering this interest by shifting the focus from interpretive methods and procedures to the kinds of reflexivity operating in scientific conceptualization According to the book's central thesis a reflexive conceptualization enables one to take into consideration the role which the ontic ontological difference plays in the constitution of scientific objects The book argues for this thesis by analyzing the formation of objects of inquiry in a range of scientific domains stretching from highly formalized domains where the quest for objects' identities is carried out in terms of objects' emancipation from structures to linguistic and historiographic programs that avoid procedural objectification in their modes of conceptualization The book sets up a new strategy for the dialogue between the theories of scientific inquiry and hermeneutic phenomenology

Online teaching practices Karin Bolldén, 2015-04-21 The aim of this study was to describe and analyse online teaching practices in the Swedish higher education context The study had an online ethnographic approach and was based on empirical data on the teaching in two university courses The study rested primarily on observational data but interviews and available documents also formed the basis for analysis Empirical data were analysed with a perspective of practice theory a perspective within a sociomaterial account The results showed that online teaching was characterised by an embodied sociomaterial practice The teacher s body could be understood as both multiple and closely interwoven with technology Furthermore the teacher s body was used in the teaching situation to reduce technological complexity but also along with other forms of materiality to prefigure what kind of teaching would take place Teacher interventions in online environments could furthermore be understood as relational to both technology that is the virtual material arrangement and teachers doings and sayings that is the teaching practice Teacher interventions were aimed at making the arrangement intelligible for the students The study showed that teacher interventions arranged both students and information and communication technology ICT in order to make them work as a teaching practice The teaching practice that emerged was characterised as an interplay between virtual materiality and social practice where asymmetric relations between teachers and the ICT prevailed A Ricoeur Reader

Smith,2019-12-12 A Critique of Anti racism in Rhetoric and Composition The Semblance of Empowerment critiques current antiracist ideology in rhetoric and composition arguing that it inadvertently promotes a deficit model of empowerment for both students and scholars Erec Smith claims that empowerment theory which promotes individual communal and strategic efficacy is missing from most antiracist initiatives which instead often abide by what Smith refers to as a primacy of identity an over reliance on identity particularly a victimized identity to establish ethos Scholars of rhetoric composition communication and critical race theory will find this book particularly useful A Theory of Nonviolent Action Stellan

Vinithagen,2015-11-15 In this ground breaking and much needed book Stellan Vinithagen provides the first major systematic attempt to develop a theory of nonviolent action since Gene Sharp s seminal The Politics of Nonviolent Action in 1973 Employing a rich collection of historical and contemporary social movements from various parts of the world as examples from the civil rights movement in America to anti Apartheid protestors in South Africa to Gandhi and his followers in India and addressing core theoretical issues concerning nonviolent action in an innovative penetrating way Vinithagen argues for a repertoire of nonviolence that combines resistance and construction Contrary to earlier research this repertoire consisting of dialogue facilitation normative regulation power breaking and utopian enactment is shown to be both multidimensional and contradictory creating difficult contradictions within nonviolence while simultaneously providing its creative and transformative force An important contribution in the field A Theory of Nonviolent Action is essential for anyone involved with nonviolent action who wants to think about what they are doing The Will of the Many Marianne

Maeckelbergh,2009-09-07 Never before has the idea of democracy enjoyed the global dominance it holds today but neoliberalism has left the practice of democracy in deep crisis This book argues that the most promising model for global democracy is not coming from traditional political parties or international institutions but from the global networks of resistance to neoliberal economics known collectively as the Alter globalisation movement Through extensive ethnography of decision making practices within these movements Maeckelbergh describes an alternative form of global democracy in the making Perfect for activists and students of political anthropology this powerful and enlightening book offers radical changes

Metahistory Hayden White,2014-12-30 This penetrating analysis of eight classic nineteenth century thinkers explains how historians use literary techniques to write sophisticated historical works Since its initial publication in 1973 Hayden White s Metahistory has remained an essential book for understanding the nature of historical writing In this classic work White argues that a deep structural content lies beyond the surface level of historical texts This latent poetic and linguistic content which White dubs the metahistorical element essentially serves as a paradigm for what an appropriate historical explanation should be To support his thesis White analyzes the complex writing styles of historians like Michelet Ranke Tocqueville and Burckhardt and philosophers of history such as Marx Hegel Nietzsche and Croce The first work in the history of historiography to concentrate on historical writing as writing Metahistory sets out to deprive history of its status as a bedrock of factual truth to redeem narrative as the substance of historicity and to identify the extent to which any distinction between history and ideology on the basis of the presumed scientificity of the former is spurious This fortieth anniversary edition includes a new preface in which White explains his motivation for writing Metahistory and discusses how reactions to the book informed his later writing In a new foreword Michael S Roth a former student of White's and the current president of Wesleyan University reflects on the significance of the book across a broad range of fields including history literary theory and philosophy This book will be of interest to anyone in any discipline who takes the past as a serious object of study Media and the Marketplace Eoin G. Hayden White Robert Doran, 2013-06-06 This anthology of new essays by an international group of preeminent scholars explores the ground breaking work of Hayden White whose thought beginning with his seminal Metahistory 1973 has revolutionized the way we think about the philosophy of history historiography narrative and the relation between history and literature Representing a variety of disciplines and approaches the contributions to this volume testify to the far reaching effects and significance of White's philosophy of history Individual essays relate White's ideas to contemporary art cognitive studies Heideggerian hermeneutics experimental history Kant's transcendental philosophy analytic philosophy of history Marxist cultural theory the Kantian sublime and American academic historiography A substantial introduction by the editor traces the genesis of White's philosophy of history situating it with respect to both the Anglo American and Continental traditions The volume also features a previously unpublished essay by White which offers a concise overview of his later thought and a Comment written specifically for this volume in which White revisits the question of the philosophy of history

Professional Practice and Learning Nick Hopwood, 2016-01-22 This book explores important questions about the relationship between professional practice and learning and implications of this for how we understand professional expertise Focusing on work accomplished through partnerships between practitioners and parents with young children the book explores how connectedness in action is a fluid evolving accomplishment with four essential dimensions times spaces bodies and things Within a broader sociomaterial perspective the analysis draws on practice theory and philosophy bringing different schools of thought into productive contact including the work of Schatzki Gherardi and recent developments in cultural historical activity theory The book takes a bold view suggesting practices and learning are entwined but distinctive phenomena A clear and novel framework is developed based on this idea The argument goes further by demonstrating how new coproductive relationships between professionals and clients can intensify the pedagogic nature of professional work and showing how professionals can support others learning when the knowledge they are working with and sense of what is to be learned are uncertain incomplete and fragile
