Ireland was the breathtaking chronicle of Brian Boru the Great King who led the bickering chiefs of Ireland to unity under his reign. He overthrew traditions, reformed society, and became the Irish Charlemagne. The Ireland of 1014 was a dream Brian Boru had dreamed and brought into being. Now, with all the fire and brilliance for which her writing is known, Morgan Llywelyn takes us there to the battlefield where Brian died and to Brian's fifteen-year-old son, Donough, whose mother is the voluptuous and treacherous Gormlaith, with her lust for life and power undiminished by age. Donough, the son who is determined to make the High Kingship of Brian Boru's Ireland his own. I know he's too young, but he's all we have left, says Fergal, and thus the boy takes his first command on the bloody ground of Clontarf. From there, he must move to establish his right to rule in Kincora and to make the kings of Ireland accept him as their High King. Yet Donough is torn, torn by his hatred for his mother and by his all-consuming passion for the beautiful pagan girl Cera, who remains beyond his reach. For the High King must have a Christian consort. At the Publisher's request, this title is being sold without Digital Rights Management Software (DRM) applied.

The Sacred Combe Simon Barnes, 2016-01-14. Reflections on the natural world and our place within it from one of our finest natural history writers, nature writing at its very best. We've all got one. A secret, special place. Hidden. Enclosed. A little greener and more fertile than the world outside. Here, the birds are slightly more exotic, slightly more confiding, the grass greener and the fruit sweeter. To know such a place to love such a place is part of being human. Sometimes it's a place of myth, like the Garden of Eden. Sometimes it exists in fictional form, like Narnia or Shangri-La. Sometimes it comes in memories of a golden day in childhood or in a glorious, doomed love affair. Sometimes it's a real place that we dare not go back to for fear that it or we had changed. And just occasionally it's a real place. A place where you leave a small piece of your heart and return as often as you can so as not to lose it. It's a place of privilege. Simon Barnes found such a place when he woke in his first morning in the Luangwa Valley in Zambia to find elephants eating the roof of his hut. It was a homecoming, and he has been faithful to that passion ever since. Here, he has known peace, danger, discomfort, fear, and a profound sense of oneness with the Valley, with all nature, and with the world. With the Valley, he found completion. This book explores the special places of the mind and the world, with special reference to the Luangwa Valley and the glorious support of the Valley's great artist, Pam Carr. It's a book about the quest for paradise and the eternal human search to find such a paradise everywhere.

Following Christ's example of storytelling, he begins each discussion of a key biblical truth with a parable. Using familiar characters and settings from tales ranging from Huckleberry Finn to A Christmas Carol to King Arthur, Shaw covers the Trinity, the attributes of God, creation, providence, sin, redemption, and more.
