The Prince and the Page A Story of the Last Crusade by Charlotte M Yonge is a captivating historical fiction novel set in the 13th century during the final stages of the Crusades. The story follows the adventures of a young page boy and a prince immersing readers in the chivalric values and knightly code that defined the medieval era. Yonge's narrative beautifully combines elements of adventure and romance with the intricacies of battle and political intrigue. The novel explores themes of loyalty and bravery as the characters navigate the complexities of royal duties and the tumultuous events of the Crusades. Through its rich depiction of medieval life and its focus on the relationships between characters, The Prince and the Page offers a vivid portrayal of the last crusade, blending historical accuracy with engaging storytelling. The book captures the essence of chivalry and the personal conflicts faced by those involved in the final stages of the Crusades.

The Prince and the Page Charlotte Yonge, 2018-01-26. A fine evening six centuries ago shed a bright parting light over Alton Wood, illuminating the gray lichens that clung to the rugged trunks of the old oak trees and shining on the smoother bark of the graceful beech with that sidelong light that towards evening gives an especial charm to woodland scenery. The long shadows lay across an open green glade narrowing towards one end where a path nearly lost amid dwarf furze, crested heather and soft bent grass led towards a hut rudely constructed of sods of turf and branches of trees whose gray crackling foliage contrasted with the fresh verdure around. There was no endeavour at a window nor chimney but the door of wattled boughs was carefully secured by a long twisted withe.

The Prince and the Page By Charlotte Mary Yonge. Charlotte Mary Yonge was an English novelist known for her huge output, now mostly out of print. She began writing in 1848 and published during her long life about 160 works, chiefly novels. Her first commercial success, The Heir of Redclyffe (1853), provided the funding to enable the schooner Southern Cross to be put into service on behalf of George Selwyn. Similar charitable works were done with the profits from later novels. Yonge was also a founder and editor for forty years of The Monthly Packet, a magazine founded in 1851 with a varied readership but targeted at British Anglican girls; in later years it was addressed to a somewhat wider readership. We are delighted to publish this classic book as part of our extensive Classic Library collection. Many of the books in our collection have been out of print for decades and therefore have not been accessible to the general public. The aim of our publishing program is to facilitate rapid access to this vast reservoir of literature, and our view is that this is a significant literary work which deserves to be brought back into print after many decades. The contents of the vast majority of titles in Charlotte Mary Yonge,2017-04-05 Charlotte Mary Yonge 11 August 1823 24 May 1901 was an English novelist known for her huge output now mostly out of print Life Charlotte Mary Yonge was born in Otterbourne Hampshire England on 11 August 1823 to William Yonge and Fanny Yonge nee Bargus She was educated at home by her father studying Latin Greek French Euclid and algebra Her father s lessons could be harsh He required a diligence and accuracy that were utterly alien to me He thundered at me so that nobody could bear to hear it and often reduced me to tears but his approbation was so delightful that it was a delicious stimulus I believe in spite of all breezes over my innate slovenliness it would have broken our hearts to leave off working together And we went on till I was some years past twenty Yonge s devotion to her father was lifelong and her relationship with him seems to have been for her the standard for all other relationships including marriage His approbation was throughout life my bliss his anger my misery for the time She was born into a religious family background was devoted to the High Church and much influenced by John Keble Vicar of Hursley from 1835 a near neighbour and one of the leaders of the Oxford Movement Yonge is herself sometimes referred to as the novelist of the Oxford Movement as her novels frequently reflect the values and concerns of Anglo Catholicism She remained in Otterbourne all her life and for 71 years was a teacher in the village Sunday school In 1868 a new parish was formed to the south of Yonge s home village of Otterbourne the parish was to contain the villages of Eastley and Barton Yonge donated 500 towards the parish church and was asked to choose which of the two villages the parish should be named after She chose Eastley but decided that it should be spelt Eastleigh as she perceived this as being more modern Yonge died in her hometown of Otterbourne on 24 May 1901 Her obituary in The Times said Her friends and especially her poorer neighbours knew both the strength and the winning charm of her character Thus the late Archbishop Benson noted in his diary her odd majesty and kindness which are very strong But it is of course as a writer that Miss Yonge will be remembered She had an inventive mind and a ready pen and a bare list of the books written or edited by her would probably occupy nearly a whole column of The Times She wrote chiefly for young people especially young girls and her books are the result not only of a strong ethical purpose but also of her firm devotion to the High Church view of Christian doctrine and practice Cressy and Poitiers: The Story of the Black

two millions when our railways were bridle roads and our cornfields forests and when the capital was a little town enclosed by an old Roman fortified wall with towers and turrets no festival save Christmas and May Day was regarded with more interest than Midsummer Eve or the vigil of St John the Baptist Great was the commotion much the ceremony in London on such occasions and as the shades of evening fell young and old high and low rich and poor participated in the excitement of the hour The houses were decorated with branches of green birch long fennel St John s rush and orpine and as night closed over the city the inhabitants illuminated their dwellings with clusters of lamps and made the streets resound with merriment and song At the same time the ceremony of setting the watch a body of armed guards instituted in the reign of the third Henry to keep the peace and prevent robberies and outrages was performed with much show and splendour On this ceremony indeed large sums of money were expended and the watchmen arrayed in bright harness marched in procession accompanied by the Lord Mayor and aldermen the city officers a crowd of minstrels giants and morris dancers while blazing cressets and huge torches borne on men s shoulders threw a flood of light over the scene and raised the wonder of the thronging populace Meanwhile a large fire was kindled in the street and stirred to a blaze which was intended to typify the patron saint of the day Around this fire lads and lasses danced and disported themselves merrily to the sound of music Many and gay were the capers they cut as the flames rose and fell Sometimes they leaped over the fire amid many shouts and at others they looked through garlands at the flame believing that by so doing they freed themselves from various pains and diseases present and prospective Not till midnight sometimes not till dawn did the dancing cease and as soon as day broke while the dew was still on the grass and flowers the young women went forth to practise certain rites by which they believed they could assure themselves of the constancy or inconstancy of their wooers Collecting garlands of flowers the nymphs bound them on their heads and according as the dew remained a longer or shorter time on the flowers they augured more or less favourably of the fidelity of their lovers Moreover they secured a snow white wether decorated it with garlands and enclosing it in a hut of heath danced and sang around She who wished to test her fortune stood by the door and if the wether remained quiet she considered the omen good but if he pushed his horns through the door of the hut she concluded that her suitor was to prove false Such was the great medieval festival that was being celebrated at the time when our chronicle opens when Edward III was King of England and on the point of undertaking the war with France which resulted in mighty victories won and splendid conquests achieved against great odds and when the hero of this story entered upon the remarkable adventures which associated his name with that of the young conqueror of Cressy and Poitiers Edward Prince of Wales popularly known as the Black Prince
