The Power Of Language Texts And Translations:

The Power of Language Francis Ponge, 1979      The Power of Language Francis Ponge, 1979      Sociology of Translation Suryanarayan Ransubhe, 2018-09-25

Sociology of Translation is the translation of Suryanarayan Ransubhe's Hindi book. The translation is a process of dialogue among cultures. Hence translation plays an important role in social transformation. In the Indian context, which is layered with its intricacies of a caste-based society, there have been significant changes due to the process of translation. Dr. Surya Narayan Ransubhe has achieved a new insight due to his rich social and academic experience, and this long experience of translating various Dalit and other marginalized literature has helped him in delivering some original thoughts in the field of translation studies. This book is a journey of alternate knowledge systems and cultures.

Translation and Minority Lawrence Venuti, 2016-04-29

The premise of this volume is a question: What can the concept of minority bring to the practice and study of translation? Minority is understood here to mean a cultural or political position that is subordinate, whether the social context that so defines it is local, national, or global. This position is occupied by languages and literatures that lack prestige or authority, the non-standard and the non-canonical, what is not spoken or read much by a hegemonic culture. Yet minorities also include the nations and social groups that are affiliated with these languages and literatures, the politically weak or underrepresented, the colonized and the disenfranchised, the exploited and the stigmatized. Translation today is itself a minor use of language, a lesser art, an invisible craft that commands less cultural capital and fewer legal privileges than original composition. Yet the focus in this collection is not on what translators worldwide have in common, but on the distinctive forms that translating takes when it is done by or on behalf of minorities. The articles in this volume present a variety of case studies that illuminate the linguistic and cultural problems posed by such translating, as well as the economic and political agendas it has served. Together, these pieces show that the concept of minority is worth exploring because it inspires innovation in translation practice and research. Minor cultures are coincident with new translation strategies, new translation theories, and new syntheses of the diverse methodologies that constitute the discipline of translation studies.

Researching Language, Text and Technology in Translation Tengku Sepora Tengku Mahadi, 2022-11-03

With the intention to show to the world the rigor of translation research, Researching Language, Text and Technology in Translation came forward with a collection of recent translation studies focusing on the aspects of language, text, and technology in relation to translation. There is a total of seven studies, with the first chapter presenting the validity of translation research, while the rest portraying many different topics, such as the difference between human and machine translation, when translating the memoir of Tun Dr. Mahathir Mohamad, the translation of cultural humor for animated comedies, a look into the colonial perspective when it comes to translating literature from the East, and various other topics that are both interesting and bring many different cultures around the world into view. This book can benefit academics, students, particularly research and graduate students, translators, and those who are interested in language and translation. It is hoped that its casual yet educational content can open minds and stimulate ideas among its readers especially in the terms of translation and of how it connects the world together

Words, Texts and Worlds in Translation Aditya Kumar Panda, 2022-09-15 This book studies various aspects of translation It deals with the identity of translation its determinants politics and translation and the translation of scientific terminology It also discusses some translations in the light of various theoretical approaches and strategies The examples provided here as well as the translations discussed and the approaches adopted for analysis will definitely add to the knowledge system of translation studies comparative literature and applied linguistics

Translation as Text Albrecht Neubert, Gregory M. Shreve, 1992 The basic tenet here is that we do not translate words but texts and that these competing models can be integrated into a more global theory of translation by viewing the translation process as a primarily textual process The authors examine in detail the characteristics that make a good translation a text focusing particularly on the empirical relationship between the theory of translation and its practice

Translating Sensitive Texts Karl Simms, 1997 This volume brings together twenty two of the world's leading translation and interpreting theorists to address the issue of sensitivity in translation Whether in novels or legal documents the Bible or travel brochures in translating ancient texts or providing simultaneous interpretation sensitive subject matter contentious modes of expression and the sensibilities of the target audience are the biggest obstacles to acceptance of the translator's work The contributors bring to bear a wide variety of approaches generative cognitive lexical and functional in confronting this problem and in negotiating the competing claims of source cultures and target cultures in the areas of cultural political religious and sexual sensitivity All of the articles are presented here for the first time and in his Introduction Karl Simms gives an overview of the philosophical and linguistic questions which have motivated translators of sensitive texts through the ages This book will be of interest to all working translators and interpreters and to teachers of translation theory and practice

Essays on the Languages of the Bible and Bible-translations Robert Needham Cust, 1890

The Routledge Handbook of Intralingual Translation Linda Pillière, Özlem Berk Albachten, 2024-02-27 The Routledge Handbook of Intralingual Translation provides the first comprehensive overview of intralingual translation or the rewording or rewriting of a text This Handbook aims to examine intralingual translation from every possible angle The introduction gives an overview of the theoretical political and ideological issues involved and is followed by the first section which investigates intralingual translation from a diachronic perspective covering the modernization of classical texts Subsequent sections consider different dialects and registers and intralingual translation from one language mode to another explore concepts such as self translating transediting and the role of copyeditors and investigate the increasing interest in the role of intralingual translation and second language learning Final sections examine recent developments in intralingual translation such as the subtitling of speech for the hard of hearing simultaneous Easy Language interpreting and respeaking in parliamentary debates By providing an in depth study on intralingual translation the Handbook sheds light on other important areas of translation that are often bypassed including publishing practices authorship and ideological constraints Authored by a range of established and new voices in the field this is the essential guide to intralingual translation for advanced students and researchers of translation studies     The Routledge Handbook of Translation and Ethics Kaisa Koskinen,Nike K.

Pokorn,2020-12-16 The Routledge Handbook of Translation and Ethics offers a comprehensive overview of issues surrounding ethics in translating and interpreting The chapters chart the philosophical and theoretical underpinnings of ethical thinking in Translation Studies and analyze the ethical dilemmas of various translatorial actors including translation trainers and researchers Authored by leading scholars and new voices in the field the 31 chapters present a wide coverage of emerging issues such as increasing technologization of translation posthumanism volunteering and activism accessibility and linguistic human rights Many chapters provide the first extensive overview of the topic or present new takes on established areas The book is divided into four parts with the first covering the most influential ethical theories Part II takes the perspective of agents in different contexts and the ethical dilemmas they face while Part III takes a critical look at central institutions structuring and controlling ethical behaviour Finally Part IV focuses on special issues and new challenges and signals new directions for further study This handbook is an indispensable resource for all students and researchers of translation and ethics within translation and interpreting studies multilingualism and comparative literature     In

Translation Paul St-Pierre,Prafulla C. Kar,2007-01-01 With contributions by researchers from India Europe North America and the Caribbean In Translation Reflections refractions transformations touches on questions of method and on topics including copyright cultural hybridity globalization identity construction and minority languages which are important for the disciplinary development of translation studies but also of interest to other fields as well most notably comparative literature cultural studies and world literature The volume provides a forum for new voices to be heard alongside those of well established scholars and for current concerns to express themselves often focusing on practices in areas of the world other than Europe or North America which have until now tended to dominate the field Acknowledging difference and celebrating it the contributions conceive of translation as a process which reconstitutes and transforms which brings renewal and growth an interaction in a new context a new reading a new writing     Translation Susan Bassnett,2013-10-01 In a time when millions travel around the planet some by choice some driven by economic or political exile translation of the written and spoken word is of ever increasing importance This guide presents readers with an accessible and engaging introduction to the valuable position translation holds within literature and society Leading translation theorist Susan Bassnett traces the history of translation examining the ways translation is currently utilised as a burgeoning interdisciplinary activity and considers more recent research into developing technologies and new media forms Translation displays the importance of translation across disciplines and is essential reading for students and scholars of translation literary studies globalisation studies and ancient and modern languages     Lost and Found in Translation Martha J. Cutter,2006-05-18 Starting with

Salman Rushdie's assertion that even though something is always lost in translation something can always be gained Martha Cutter examines the trope of translation in twenty English language novels and autobiographies by contemporary ethnic American writers She argues that these works advocate a politics of language diversity a literary and social agenda that validates the multiplicity of ethnic cultures and tongues in the United States Cutter studies works by Asian American Native American African American and Mexican American authors She argues that translation between cultures languages and dialects creates a new language that in its diversity constitutes the true heritage of the United States Through the metaphor of translation Cutter demonstrates writers such as Maxine Hong Kingston Sherman Alexie Toni Morrison and Richard Rodriguez establish a place within American society for the many languages spoken by multiethnic and multicultural individuals Cutter concludes with an analysis of contemporary debates over language policy such as English only legislation the recognition of Ebonics and the growing acceptance of bilingualism The focus on translation by so many multiethnic writers she contends offers hope in our postmodern culture for a new condition in which creatively fused languages renovate the communications of the dominant society and create new kinds of identity for multicultural individuals Retelling the Caribbean Laura Ekberg, 2025-09-26 Retelling the Caribbean examines heterolingualism in Anglophone Caribbean novels and their Finnish translations Heterolingualism such as various types of code switching is utilised by many Caribbean authors to represent the linguistic multiplicity of Caribbean cultures Switching between different languages is a natural part of communication in Caribbean communities Consequently issues of language and cultural representation have become an integral part of the Caribbean literary tradition This study is located at an intersection between the notion of intercultural translation employed in Postcolonial Studies and the notion of interlingual translation that is at the centre of Translation Studies examining both the original novels and their Finnish translations as forms of translation The book maps the strategies used by the Finnish translators of these heterolingual texts comparing them to the strategies used by the authors in the representation of Caribbean language and culture in the original literary works Through textual analysis of works spanning five decades of translated Anglophone Caribbean fiction in Finnish as well as translator interviews the book sheds light on some of the central issues related to cultural representation in the translation of heterolingual literary works

DisOrientations Kristin Dickinson, 2021-05-04 The fields of comparative and world literature tend to have a unidirectional Eurocentric focus with attention to concepts of origin and arrival DisOrientations challenges this viewpoint Kristin Dickinson employs a unique multilingual archive of German and Turkish translated texts from the early nineteenth through the mid twentieth century In this analysis she reveals the omnidirectional and transtemporal movements of translations which she argues harbor the disorienting potential to reconfigure the relationships of original to translation past to present and West to East Through the work of three key figures Johann Wolfgang von Goethe Friedrich Schradler and Sabahattin Ali Dickinson develops a concept of translational orientation as a mode of omnidirectional encounter She sheds light on translations that are not bound by the terms of economic imperialism Orientalism or Westernization focusing on case studies that work against the basic premises of containment and originality that undergird Orientalism's system of discursive knowledge production By linking literary traditions across retroactively applied periodizations the translations examined in this book act as points of connection that produce new directionalities and open new configurations of a future German Turkish relationship Groundbreaking and erudite DisOrientations examines literary translation as a complex mode of cultural political and linguistic orientation This book will appeal to scholars and students of translation theory comparative literature Orientalism and the history of German Turkish cultural relations
