Souls Looking Back Andrew Garrod, Janie Victoria Ward, Tracy L. Robinson, Robert Kilkenney, 2002-09-11 Most of what is written these days about young black men and women emphasizes incarceration and mortality rates teen pregnancy drug use and domestic strife This collection of sixteen autobiographical essays by African Americans Africans in America Afro Caribbean and biracial college students who have tackled significant obstacles to achieve success and degrees of self understanding offers a broader more hopeful portrait of the adolescent experiences of minority youth Here are emotionally honest and reflective stories of economic hardship racial bias loneliness and anger but also of positive role models spiritual awakening perseverance and racial pride In these essays students explore the process of self discovery and the realization of cultural identity The pieces are accompanied by commentary from prominent African American scholars such as Jewelle Taylor Gibbs and Peter C Murrell Jr Together they create a vivid portrait of what it is like to grow up as a black person in America and offer a springboard to current debates about self discovery cultural identity and assimilation Often raw and painful always honest and affecting this collection of personal stories written by young people stands as an eloquent tribute to the courage of today s youth and to the power of their own words

Mixing It Up SanSan Kwan, Kenneth Speirs, 2013-09-13 The United States Census 2000 presents a twenty first century America in which mixed race marriages cross race adoption and multiracial families in general are challenging the ethnic definitions by which the nation has historically categorized its population Addressing a wide spectrum of questions raised by this rich new cultural landscape Mixing It Up brings together the observations of ten noted voices who have experienced multiracialism first hand From Naomi Zack s American Mixed Race The United States 2000 Census and Related Issues to Cathy Irwin and Sean Metzger s Keeping Up Appearances Ethnic Alien Nation in Female Solo Performance this diverse collection spans the realities of multiculturalism in compelling new analysis Arguing that society s discomfort with multiracialism has been institutionalized throughout history whether through the one drop rule or media depictions SanSan Kwan and Kenneth Speirs reflect on the means by which the monoracial lens is slowly being replaced Itself a hybrid of memoir history and sociological theory Mixing It Up makes it clear why the identity politics of previous decades have little relevance to the fluid new face of contemporary humanity

The Skin We're in Janie Victoria Ward, 2000 Drawing from hundreds of intimate interviews with African American parents and adolescents and 15 years of cutting edge research on the moral and psychological development of black children Ward shows parents how to better nurture discipline and support their teenagers

Black Women Undergraduates, Cultural Capital, and College Success Cerri A. Banks, 2009 This book documents the academic and social success of Black women undergraduates as they negotiate dominant educational and social discourses about their schooling lives Starting with the premise that Black women undergraduates are not a homogenous group and that they are being successful in college in greater numbers than Black men this book examines the ways they navigate being traditionally underprepared academically for college the discourse of acting white and oppressive classroom settings and practices This work expands the theoretical concept of cultural capital by identifying the abundant and varied forms of cultural capital that Black women undergraduates provide develop and utilize as they make their way through college The discussion of their raced classed and gendered experiences challenges the academy to make use of this understanding in its work towards educational equity This movement has wide reaching implications for ethos policy and practice in higher education

In and Out of Our Right Minds Diane Brown,Verna Keith,2003-10-01 African American women have commonly been portrayed as pillars of their communities resilient mothers sisters wives and grandmothers who remain steadfast in the face of all adversities While these portrayals imply that African American women have few psychological problems the scientific literature and demographic data present a different picture They reveal that African American women are at increased risk for psychological distress because of factors that disproportionately affect them including lower incomes greater poverty and unemployment unmarried motherhood racism and poor physical health Yet at the same time rates of mental illness are low This invaluable book is the first comprehensive examination of the contradictions between the strengths and vulnerabilities of this population Using the contexts of race gender and social class In and Out of Our Right Minds challenges the traditional notions of mental health and mental illness as they apply to African American women

The Crisis of Connection Niobe Way,Alisha Ali,Carol Gilligan,Pedro Noguera,2020-01-07 A collection of essays that examine the causes of and provide solutions to the widespread alienation and disconnection that beset modern society Since the beginning of the 21st century people have become increasingly disconnected from themselves each other and the world around them A crisis of connection stemming from growing alienation social isolation and fragmentation characterizes modern society The signs of this crisis of connection are everywhere from decreasing levels of empathy and trust to burgeoning cases of suicide depression and loneliness The astronomical rise in inequality around the world has contributed to the critical nature of this moment To delve into the heart of the crisis leading researchers and practitioners draw from the science of human connection to tell a five part story about its roots consequences and solutions In doing so they reveal how we in modern society have been captive to a false narrative that takes individualism as a universal truth The new story now emerging from across the human sciences underscores our social and emotional capacities and needs The science also reveals the ways in which the privileging of the self over relationships and of individual success over the common good as well as the perpetuation of dehumanizing stereotypes have led to a crisis of connection that is now widespread Finally the practitioners in the volume present concrete solutions that show ways we can create a more just and humane world This profoundly important book suggests that our innate human determination to bridge differences and live in vulnerable loving relationships is the antidote to rising fear and anxiety Lyn Mikel Brown author of Powered by Girl

Johnson, Funké Aladejebi, 2022-01-27 An exhaustive volume of leading scholarship in the field of Black Canadian history Unsettling the Great White North highlights the diverse experiences of persons of African descent within the chronicles of Canada s past The book considers histories and theoretical framings within the disciplines of history sociology law and cultural and gender studies to chart the mechanisms of exclusion and marginalization in multicultural Canada and to situate Black Canadians as speakers and agents of their own lives Working to interrupt the myth of benign whiteness that has been deeply implanted into the country s imagination Unsettling the Great White North uncovers new narratives of Black life in Canada

African-Centered Pedagogy Peter C. Murrell Jr., 2012-02-01 What can teachers administrators families and communities do to create schools that provide rich learning experiences for African American children Based on a critical reinterpretation of several key educational frameworks African Centered Pedagogy is a practical guide to accomplished teaching Murrell suggests integrating the historical cultural political and developmental considerations of the African American experience into a unified system of instruction bringing to light those practices that already exist and linking them to contemporary ideas and innovations that concern effective practice in African American communities This is then applied through a case study analysis of a school seeking to incorporate the unified theory and embrace African centered practice Murrell argues that key educational frameworks although currently ineffective with African American children hold promise if reinterpreted

Mi Voz, Mi Vida Andrew Garrod, Robert Kilkenny, Christina Gómez, 2012-11-07 Amid the flurry of debates about immigration poverty and education in the United States the stories in Mi Voz Mi Vida allow us to reflect on how young people who might be most affected by the results of these debates actually navigate through American society The fifteen Latino college students who tell their stories in this book come from a variety of socioeconomic regional and family backgrounds they are young men and women of Mexican Puerto Rican Cuban Dominican Central American and South American descent Their insights are both balanced and frank blending personal anecdotal political and cultural viewpoints Their engaging stories detail the students personal struggles with issues such as identity and biculturalism family dynamics religion poverty stereotypes and the value of education Throughout they provide insights into issues of racial identity in contemporary America among a minority population that is very much in the news This book gives educators students and their families a clear view of the experience of Latino students adapting to a challenging educational environment and a cultural context Dartmouth College often very different from their childhood ones

Hello Professor Vanessa Siddle Walker, 2009-08-16 Like many black school principals Ulysses Byas who served the Gainesville Georgia school system in the 1950s and 1960s was reverently addressed by community members as Professor He kept copious notes and records throughout his career documenting efforts to improve the education of blacks Through conversations with Byas and access to his extensive archives on his principalship Vanessa Siddle Walker finds that black principals were well positioned in the community to serve as conduits of ideas knowledge and tools to support black resistance to officially sanctioned regressive educational systems in the Jim Crow South Walker explains that principals participated in local regional and national associations comprising a black educational network through which power structures were formed and ideas were spread to schools across the South The professor enabled local school empowerment and applied the collective wisdom of the network to pursue common school projects such as pressuring school superintendents for funding structuring professional development for teachers and generating local action that was informed by research in academic practice The professor was uniquely positioned to learn about and deploy resources made available through these networks Walker s record of the transfer of ideology from black organizations into a local setting illuminates the remembered activities of black schools throughout the South and recalls for a new generation the role of the professor in uplifting black communities

Geographies of Girlhood Pamela J. Bettis, Natalie G. Adams, 2005-03-23 Geographies of Girlhood Identities In Between explores how adolescent girls come to understand themselves as female in this culture particularly during a time when they are learning what it means to be a woman and their identities are in between that of child and adult girl and woman It illuminates the everyday realities of adolescent girls and the real issues that concern them rather than what adult researchers think is important to adolescent girls The contributing authors take seriously what girls have to say about themselves and the places and discursive spaces that they inhabit daily Rather than focusing on girls in the classroom the book explores adolescent female identity in a myriad of kid defined spaces both in between the formal design of schooling as well as outside its purview from bedrooms to school hallways to the Internet to discourses of cheerleading race sexuality and ablebodiedness These are the geographies of girlhood the important sites of identity construction for girls and young women This book is situated within the fledgling field of Girls Studies All chapters are based on field research with adolescent girls and young women hence the voices of girls themselves are primary in every chapter All of the authors in the text use the notion of liminality to theorize the in between spaces and places of schools that are central to how adolescent girls construct a sense of self The focus of the book on the fluidity of femininity highlights the importance of race class sexual orientation and other salient features of personal identity in discussions of how girls construct gendered identities in different ways Geographies of Girlhood Identities In Between challenges scholars professionals and students concerned with gender issues to take seriously the everyday concerns of adolescent girls It is recommended as a text for education sociology and women s studies courses that address these issues The History of Blacks in Canada George H. Junne, 2003-03-30 This fascinating bibliography of source materials clearly demonstrates the significant roles blacks have played in the history and culture of Canada from its beginnings as well as their 400 year fight for equity and justice Organized by area of endeavor and by province the source materials detailed here reveal that blacks in Canada have created a rich diverse and complex legacy This volume lists resources that point to blacks history as soldiers prospectors educators cowboys homesteaders entertainers legislators athletes artists servants and writers The most comprehensive bibliography about blacks in Canada that has been published it is well organized to facilitate locating specific topics or people spanning black history Also included are newspapers and videos that add their own unique contribution Academicians researchers students and interested lay people will find an organized compilation of a vast number of primary and secondary sources about blacks in Canada
