The Great Evolution Mystery:

The Great Evolution Mystery Gordon Rattray Taylor, 1983 , The Naked Emperor Antony Latham, 2005 This thought provoking book fundamentally questions the foundations of Darwinism which has become widely accepted as fact through detailed biological arguments and the use of the author's own intricate knowledge of anatomy Challenging the suggestion that the flora and fauna of the world came about through a series of unlikely mutations the author makes many careful distinctions such as differentiating between micro and macro evolution and the characteristics of DNA Genesis and the Big Bang Theory Gerald Schroeder, 2011-09-21 A ground breaking book that takes on skeptics from both sides of the cosmological debate arguing that science and the Bible are not at odds concerning the origin of the universe The culmination of a physicist's thirty five year journey from MIT to Jerusalem Genesis and the Big Bang presents a compelling argument that the events of the billions of years that cosmologists say followed the Big Bang and those of the first six days described in Genesis are in fact one and the same identical realities described in vastly different terms In engaging accessible language Dr Schroeder reconciles the observable facts of science with the very essence of Western religion the biblical account of Creation Carefully reviewing and interpreting accepted scientific principles analogous passages of Scripture and biblical scholarship Dr Schroeder arrives at a conclusion so lucid that one wonders why it has taken this long in coming The result for the reader whether believer or skeptic Jewish or Christian is a totally fresh understanding of the key events in the life of the universe Religion and Scientific Naturalism David Ray Griffin, 2000-05-11 Winner of the 2000 Scientific and Medical Network Book Prize In this book David Ray Griffin argues that the perceived conflict between science and religion is based upon a double mistake the assumption that religion requires supernaturalism and that scientific naturalism requires atheism and materialism Milk Stuart Patton, 2017-07-28 Milk is the one food that sustains life and promotes growth in all newborn mammals including the human infant By its very nature milk is nutritious Despite this it has received surprisingly little attention from those interested in the cultural impact of food In this fascinating volume Stuart Patton convincingly argues that milk has become of such importance and has so many health and cultural implications that everyone should have a basic understanding of it This book provides this much needed introduction Patton's approach to his subject is comprehensive He begins with how milk is made in the lactating cell and proceeds to the basics of cheese making and ice cream manufacture He also gives extensive consideration to human milk including breasts lactation and infant feeding Pro and con arguments about the healthfulness of cows milk are discussed at length and with documentation Patton explores the growing gap between the public's impressions of milk and known facts about milk and dairy foods He argues that the layperson's understanding of milk has deteriorated as a result of propaganda from activists anxious to destroy milk's favorable image misinformation in the media and scare implications from medical research hypotheses Dionysus Reborn Mihai Spariosu, 2019-06-30 Mihai Spariosu here explores the significance of the closely linked concepts of play and aestheticism in philosophical and scientific discourse since the end of the eighteenth century Spurius points out that since its birth in archaic and classical Hellenic thought the concept of play has always been subject to the influences of various rational and prerational sets of values Spurius maintains that there have been not one but two major modern concepts of aestheticism artistic aestheticism related to a prerational mentality and introduced in modern thought by Schopenhauer and Nietzsche and philosophical scientific aestheticism initiated by Kant and Schiller and shaped by rationalism According to Spurius the first has often arisen in response to the attempts of philosophy and science to impose their standards on art and the second has often been called on to deal with the epistemological crises that periodically shake these disciplines Spurius also looks closely at some of the play concepts that surface in modern science in connection with the Darwinian theory of evolution and the play of scientific discourse itself as exemplified by the new physics and the contemporary philosophy of science A penetrating and cogently argued book Dionysus Reborn will be welcomed by readers interested in Continental philosophy scientific discourse and the aesthetics of play including literary theorists comparatists philosophers intellectual historians and social scientists

A History of African Societies to 1870 Elizabeth Isichei, 1997-04-13 This comprehensive and detailed exploration of the African past from prehistory to approximately 1870 is intended to provide a fully up to date complement to the Cambridge History of Africa Reflecting several emphases in recent scholarship it focusses on the changing modes of production on gender relations and on ecology laying particular stress on viewing history from below A distinctive theme is to be found in its analyses of cognitive history The work falls into three sections The first comprises a historiographic analysis and covers the period from the dawn of prehistory to the end of the Early Iron Age The second and third sections are for the most part organised on regional lines the second section ends in the sixteenth century the third carries the story on to 1870 A second volume now in preparation will cover the period from 1870 to 1995 This book attempts a more rounded view of African history than most of the other textbooks on the subject addressed to a largely undergraduate level student Earlier histories have tended to ignore some of the current foci in the scholarly literature on Africa generally not reflected in the textbooks these include discussions of topical issues like ecology and gender Isichei's book is also more radical

Gaia Connections Alan S. Miller, 2003 Gaia Connections addresses several arenas of concern as humankind faces an escalating ecological and moral crisis in this new millennium Beginning with an overview of the history of philosophy and the importance of traditional thinking on modern day ethical reflection the book then looks at the development of theories of justice the problems of equity in global human relations the inability of existing economic systems to resolve our human and environmental dilemmas the unnatural connections now obtaining between genuine human need and the technological drift of science the new genetics and reproductive technologies and the nature of modern war The study concludes with some historical perspectives on American environmental history and the urgent need for change in our ecoethical social and value systems The principal focal areas of the original edition are continued the actual state of the global environment today the imperative for the development of sustainable economic and resource systems the movement within much of science toward an almost universal biological determinism and the need for a reaffirmation of an ethical value system which places the needs of people before the needs of property and profits The revised edition not only updates these data and the concerns of the original book but also visits a number of new issues the movement for environmental justice the connections between global poverty and the now almost universal allegiance to a new world market and free trade system the progress and the dilemmas of molecular biology and genetic engineering and the growing disarray within the global systems of political economy

Dispute Poems and Dialogues in the Ancient and Mediaeval Near East G. J. Reinink, Herman L. J. Vanstiphout, 1991 In 1989 the University of Groningen celebrated its 375th anniversary Near Eastern Studies in one form or another have been part of the Groningen curriculum almost from the beginning For this reason the Department of Middle Eastern Languages and Cultures decided to contribute to the anniversary celebrations by organizing an international Symposium and a Workshop on The Literary Debate in Semitic and Related Literatures The topic of the Symposium and the Workshop was chosen and prepared by the members of the research programme Disclosure of Semitic Texts Since 1985 the literary debate in the Sumerian Akkadian Hebrew Aramaic Syriac and Arabic language and literature has been a central theme within this Groningen research programme Because the research group sees as one of its tasks to place the study of the literary and cultural heritage of the Ancient and Mediaeval Near East also in the wider context of its connection with Classical Antiquity and the European Middle Ages specialists in Byzantine and Mediaeval Studies were also invited to contribute to the Symposium and Workshop The present volume contains the contributions presented during the Symposium and Workshop on The Literary Debate in the Semitic and Related Literatures Some of the more important issues regarding matters of genesis development and possible interdependence of the dispute poems dialogues and related texts which can all be subsumed under the general type of debate are discussed in the introduction which also reflects a number of points raised in the discussions during the Workshop itself
