Cambridge Companion to Medieval Jewish Philosophy Daniel H. Frank, Oliver Leaman, 2003-09-11 From the ninth to the fifteenth centuries, Jewish thinkers living in Islamic and Christian lands philosophized about Judaism. Influenced first by Islamic theological speculation and the great philosophers of classical antiquity and then in the late medieval period by Christian Scholasticism, Jewish philosophers and scientists reflected on the nature of language, about God, the scope and limits of human understanding, the eternity or createdness of the world, prophecy, and divine providence, the possibility of human freedom, and the relationship between divine and human law. Though many viewed philosophy as a dangerous threat, others incorporated it into their understanding of what it is to be a Jew. This Companion presents all the major Jewish thinkers of the period, the philosophical and non-philosophical contexts of their thought, and the interactions between Jewish and non-Jewish philosophers. It is a comprehensive introduction to a vital period of Jewish intellectual history. Studies in the Formation of Medieval Hebrew Philosophical Terminology Reimund Leicht, Giuseppe Veltri, 2020-02-17 This volume contains studies based on papers delivered at the international conference of the PESHAT in Context project entitled Themes, Terminology, and Translation Procedures in Twelfth-Century Jewish Philosophy. The central figure in this book is Judah Ibn Tibbon. He sired the Ibn Tibbon family of translators, which influenced philosophical and scientific Hebrew writing for centuries. More broadly, the study of this early phase of the Hebrew translation movement also reveals that the formation of a standardized Hebrew terminology was a long process that was never fully completed. Terminological shifts are frequent even within the Tibbonide family, to say nothing of the fascinating terminological diversity displayed by other authors and translators discussed in this book. The Medieval Hebrew Encyclopedias of Science and Philosophy S.

Harvey, 2013-06-29 In January 1998, leading scholars from Europe, the United States, and Israel in the fields of medieval encyclopedias, Arabic, Latin, and Hebrew, and medieval Jewish philosophy and science gathered together at Bar Ilan University in Ramat Gan, Israel, for an international conference on medieval Hebrew encyclopedias of science and philosophy. The primary purpose of the conference was to explore and define the structure, sources, nature, and characteristics of the medieval Hebrew encyclopedias of science and philosophy. This book, the first to devote itself to the medieval Hebrew encyclopedias of science and philosophy, contains revised versions of the papers that were prepared for this conference. This volume also includes an annotated translation of Moritz Steinschneider's groundbreaking discussion of this subject in his Die hebraeischen Bersetzen. The Medieval Hebrew Encyclopedias of Science and Philosophy will be of particular interest to

Medieval Jewish Philosophy and Its Literary Forms Aaron W. Hughes, James T. Robinson, 2019-07-11 This well written accessible essay collection demonstrates a maturation in Jewish studies and medieval philosophy Choice Too often the study of philosophical texts is carried out in ways that do not pay significant attention to how the ideas contained within them are presented articulated and developed This was not always the case The contributors to this collected work consider Jewish philosophy in the medieval period when new genres and forms of written expression were flourishing in the wake of renewed interest in ancient philosophy Many medieval Jewish philosophers were highly accomplished poets for example and made conscious efforts to write in a poetic style This volume turns attention to the connections that medieval Jewish thinkers made between the literary the exegetical the philosophical and the mystical to shed light on the creativity and diversity of medieval thought As they broaden the scope of what counts as medieval Jewish philosophy the essays collected here consider questions about how an argument is formed how text is put into the service of philosophy and the social and intellectual environment in which philosophical texts were produced
