The Polluters A Community Fights Back:

The Polluters Susan Jezsik Varlamoff,1993 Recounts the experience of Varlamoff and her community in stopping the expansion of a local landfill offering insight into how citizens can confront this type of environmental issue Philosophy and Geography III Andrew Light,Jonathan M. Smith,1998 Places are today subject to contrary tendencies They lose some functions which may scale up to fewer more centralized places or down to numerous more dispersed places and they gain other functions which are scaling up and down from other places This prompts premature prophecies of the abolition of space and the obsolescence of place At the same time a growing literature testifies to the persistence of place as an incorrigible aspect of human experience identity and morality Place is a common ground for thought and action a community of experienced particulars that avoids solipsism and universalism It draws us into the philosophy of the ordinary into familiarity as a form of knowledge into the wisdom of proximity Each of these essays offers a philosophy of place and reminds us that such philosophies ultimately decide how we make use and understand places whether as accidents instruments or fields of care Fighting Back in Appalachia Stephen Fisher,2009 Citizen resistance and struggle in Appalachia since 1960

A Fierce Green Fire Philip Shabecoff,2012-09-26 In A Fierce Green Fire renowned environmental journalist Philip Shabecoff presents the definitive history of American environmentalism from the earliest days of the republic to the present He offers a sweeping overview of the contemporary environmental movement and the political economic social and ethical forces that have shaped it More importantly he considers what today s environmental movement needs to do if it is to fight off the powerful forces that oppose it and succeed in its mission of protecting the American people their habitat and their future Shabecoff traces the ecological transformation of North America as a result of the mass migration of Europeans to the New World showing how the environmental impulse slowly formed among a growing number of Americans until by the last third of the 20th Century environmentalism emerged as a major social and cultural movement The efforts of key environmental figures among them Henry David Thoreau George Perkins Marsh Theodore Roosevelt Gifford Pinchot John Muir Aldo Leopold David Brower Barry Commoner and Rachel Carson are examined So too are the activities of non governmental environmental groups as well as government agencies such as the EPA and Interior Department along with grassroots efforts of Americans in communities across the country The author also describes the economic and ideological forces aligned against environmentalism and their increasing successes in recent decades Originally published in 1993 this new edition brings the story up to date with an analysis of how the administration of George W Bush is seeking to dismantle a half century of progress in protecting the land and its people and a consideration of the growing international effort to protect Earth s life support systems and the obstacles that the United States government is placing before that effort In a forward looking final chapter Shabecoff casts a cold eye on just what the environmental movement must do to address the challenges it faces Now at this time when environmental law institutions and values are under increased attack and opponents of environmentalism are enjoying overwhelming political and economic power A Fierce Green Fire is a vital reminder of how far we have come in protecting our environment and how much we have to lose The Handbook of Community Practice Marie Weil, Michael Reisch, 2005 Encompassing community development organizing planning and social change as well as globalisation this book is grounded in participatory and empowerment practice The 36 chapters assess practice theory and research methods The Shocking Charles Fletcher, 2013-01-07 If you have an open mind and are seeking a much higher level of understanding the environment this book is for you This book is for those who are environmentally conscience As a resident living in the Victory Heights West Pullman Community under the name Abbas Hassain aka Charles Fletcher I lived in a corner house on 121st street and Elizabeth Street next door to the International Harvester and Old Dutch Boy contaminated waste site that was later identified as a Brown Field by the United States Environmental Protection Agency The International Harvester property was later sold to the Reverend Johnny Colman for one dollar and she built a church upon much of the contaminated site by sealing off all hazardous materials that was under the area where the church was built As the Founder of Reduce Recidivism by Industrial Development Inc R R I D I help organize the Environmental Committee along with Sarah Parran Cheryl Jackson and bought Illinois Environmental Agency Chicago Department of Environment along with the Chicago Department of Public Health Illinois Department of Public Health Owners of International Harvester and Old Dutch Boy Paint Company and other Community organizations like Community for People Recovery with the Founder Hazel Johnson The Mother of the Environment and her daughter Cheryl Hazel was called to Washington by then President Bill Clinton and Hazel also knew the present President Barrack Obama Hazel lived in Altgeid Garden on the far south side of Chicago where President Obama had done his community organizing Hazel Johnson knew both Presidents at a time where change was about to come to America Hazel had been meeting at Chicago State University for years and invited RRID and the West Pullman Community to attend an environmental meeting and from that point in 1995 RRID help organize The Victory Heights West Pullman Advisory Council As Chairperson of this environmental group we teamed up with Hazel Johnson at Chicago State University my focus had been on the impact of environmental hazards associated with those contaminated elements that cause air borne lead that affected many of the young students in and around the Edward White elementary school that was effected by the Brown Field Contaminated site causing illness disease behavior death and the effects of magnetic energy fields For many years we worked with Dr Joseph Balogun now Dean of the Health Science Department at Chicago State University because of the impact of the environmental hazards that was affecting the broader community in the West Pullman and Pullman communities later we brought in Roseland Community Hospital Sharon Thurman Southside Health Consortium Salim AlNurridan and Dr Thomas Britt Assistant Dean Balogun Professor Daniel Block of the Geography Department with Professor Mark Mauman and students who were interested in environmental education Dr Wayne Watson now President of Chicago State University we met years earlier when he was President of Kennedy King College who help us to better understand how recidivist behavior played an infallible effect on environmental factors We began to work with CSU on developing Environmental curriculum for students and professionals that did not have this form of education as part of their studies rather than medical nursing psychiatry psychology etc Today Chicago State University has implemented the Environmental Curriculum as part of the Universities Environmental Program This book is dedicated to all those individuals that help to make this program a reality and success We will forever be grateful for their hard work I wrote the following articles in an attempt to change the thinking and thought process of all those who read this book It is my hope that each and everyone that reads this book will be able to see what the author has seen by turning their attention inward to show how our thoughts and the process of thought really works Our public s

The Crisis ,1991-04 The Crisis founded by W E B Du Bois as the official publication of the NAACP is a journal of civil rights history politics and culture and seeks to educate and challenge its readers about issues that continue to plague African Americans and other communities of color For nearly 100 years The Crisis has been the magazine of opinion and thought leaders decision makers peacemakers and justice seekers It has chronicled informed educated entertained and in many instances set the economic political and social agenda for our nation and its multi ethnic citizens

The Coming of Age of the Green Community Erik Bichard, 2013-10-01 People organising to protect their environment is not a new phenomenon but the groups that have been pushing for environmental change since the 1970s have not convinced sufficient numbers make sustainable decisions or to lead sustainable lives Governments have serially failed to do the job at the international level Now climate change resource depletion and widening social aspirations threaten to destabilise human society unless sustainable change can be influenced from another direction The Coming of Age of the Green Community explores the activities of a new generation of community led initiatives that may herald the beginnings of the next wave of activism Erik Richard combines the testimonies of dozens of group activists with historic evidence and the views of a range of commentators from a variety of disciplines to put forward reasons why some green community groups succeed while others fail He concludes with a valuable prescription for both existing and emerging groups on how to be sustainable both over time and in their actions This book address one of the key questions of the twenty first century has the local perspective on this universal concern finally come of age

The Dark Truth About Industrial Pollution Joseph Hurts, Industrial pollution has reached levels that fundamentally threaten the stability of Earth s life support systems yet the full scope of environmental contamination remains largely hidden from public view through sophisticated corporate public relations campaigns regulatory capture and the deliberate complexity of pollution monitoring systems that obscure rather than illuminate the true extent of environmental degradation This invisible crisis operates on a scale that dwarfs historical environmental disasters while creating cumulative impacts that may be irreversible within human timescales Air pollution from industrial sources has transformed the atmosphere into a toxic mixture of particulate matter volatile organic compounds heavy metals and greenhouse gases that cause millions of premature deaths annually while contributing to climate change acid rain and ecosystem destruction across the globe The fine particulate matter released by power plants refineries and manufacturing facilities penetrates deep into human lungs and crosses the blood brain barrier causing cardiovascular disease cancer neurological damage and premature death while affecting air quality thousands of miles from pollution sources Water contamination through industrial discharge has poisoned groundwater aquifers rivers lakes and oceans with chemicals that persist in the environment for decades or centuries while bioaccumulating in food chains and affecting human health through drinking water food consumption and recreational water contact Chemical plants mining operations and manufacturing facilities release thousands of synthetic compounds into waterways many of which are not monitored or regulated despite their potential to cause cancer birth defects and chronic health problems

Community and the Problem of Crime Karen Evans, 2023-08-11 This book offers a useful theoretical overview of key approaches to the subject of crime and community and considers the ways in which these have been applied in more practical settings Written by an expert in the field and drawing on a range of international case studies from Europe North America Australia and Asia this book explores both why and how crime and community have been linked and the implications of their relationship within criminology and crime prevention policy Topics covered in the book include the different crime prevention paradigms which have been utilized in the fight against crime the turn to community in crime prevention policy which took place during the 1980s in the UK and US and its subsequent development the theoretical and ideological underpinnings to crime prevention work in and with different communities the significance and impact of fear of crime on crime prevention policy different institutional responses to working with community in crime prevention and community safety the ways in which the experiences of the UK and US have been translated into the European context a comparison between traditional western responses to the growing interest in restorative and community based approaches in other regions The new edition has been fully revised and updated to include discussion of the rise of populist politics and the centrality of crime and disorder as a divisive element used in populist political rhetoric the politics of austerity and the management of crises economic environmental and COVID 19 and the subsequent lockdowns the impact of Black Lives Matter MeToo and Extinction Rebellion the significance of social media and virtual community the further erosion of civil liberties and the right to protest and racialized US policing practices and police related deaths This book offers essential reading for students taking courses on crime and community crime prevention and community safety and community corrections

Toxic City Lindsey Dillon, 2024-04-09 Toxic City examines the politics of environmental repair and urban redevelopment in a historically segregated neighborhood of San Francisco The book argues that environmental racism is part of a broad history of harm linked to slavery and its afterlives and that environmental justice can be considered within a larger project of reparations The book also details how over many decades residents have argued that toxic cleanup and urban redevelopment ought to be a socially economically and ecologically reparative process that supports the self determination of Black residents

The Chickens Fight Back David Waltner-Toews,2009-03-01 If you have any interest at all in epidemiology modern medicine or the survival of the human race do read The Chickens Fight Back Georgia Straight Emerging diseases like mad cow SARS and avian flu are for the moment at least far more prevalent in animals than in humans Still the knowledge that measles TB and smallpox were at one time emerging diseases that eventually made a permanent and quite deadly jump to humans gives epidemiologists pause This book examines the various groups of animal diseases explains what attracts them to the human population from food to sex to living conditions and offers suggestions for keeping them at bay It also points out that diseases must be looked at from an ecological cultural and economic point of view as well as from a biological standpoint Cooking meat till its well done and slathering on insect repellent for a hike in the woods are effective preventative measures but as the author notes it s more important to fundamentally rethink humankind s place in the world Extension of Water Pollution Control Act United States. House. Committee on Public Works. Subcommittee on Rivers and Harbors,1952 Fighting The Wrong Enemy Edward Graham,2000-09-01 Antiglobalist forces have been gaining greater momentum in recent years in their efforts to reverse what they view as the negative effects of an integrating global economy Their influence was felt earlier when efforts to create a Multilateral Agreement on Investment MAI ended in failure in 1998 after France left the bargaining table at the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development effectively killing the initiative In this book through an evaluation of the MAI itself and the issues raised by its opponents Edward M Graham takes a fresh look at the growing backlash against globalization He first explores whether the MAI negotiations failed due to political maneuvering by antiglobalist nongovernmental organizations supported by US organized labor or because of irreconcilable differences among the negotiating parties over the substance of the issue of foreign direct investment He then objectively and thoroughly assesses antiglobalist assertions that the activities of multinational firms have had negative effects on workers both in the home investor and host recipient nations with a special focus on developing nations An important finding is that multinational firms tend to pay workers in developing nations wages that are significantly above prevailing wages Graham then examines the issue of globalized economic activity and the environment finding that economic growth in developing nations can lead to increased environmental stress but also finding that foreign direct investment can lead to reductions in this stress He finds that the worry of many environmentalists of a race to the bottom is not borne out by the evidence The final chapters assess whether or not a negotiation to create a comprehensive agreement on investment should be included in a multilateral negotiating round at the World Trade Organization in the near future The interests of developing nations in this agenda are given special attention Graham indicates that while many developing nations would accept such rules it might nonetheless be premature to press for a comprehensive agreement at this time Rather a limited investment agenda might be both more feasible and more productive

Frederick W. Lipfert,1994-05-17 Air Pollution and Community Health A Critical Review and Data Sourcebook Frederick W

Lipfert Air pollution has affected community health since the advent of the industrial age and arguably since the discovery of fire While organized societies have taken important steps to reduce and control emissions the quality of the air we breathe today remains a critical concern Air Pollution and Community Health transforms the major epidemiological works of the past 40 years into a coherent picture of the effects of air pollution on respiration hospitalization and mortality The book re evaluates these studies to clarify their findings within a consistent analytical framework and to define statistical relationships between various measures of community health and air quality Lipfert emphasizes observational studies and the quality of the data used The book is organized by health endpoint rather than by pollutant beginning with the major air pollution disasters that helped galvanize the environmental revolution His analysis shows that community air pollution acts primarily to exacerbate existing conditions in susceptible individuals rather than to create new cases of respiratory disease He concludes that the alarms that sounded over 40 years ago are still ringing substantial health risks are still presented by the current urban mixtures of air pollution Many of the studies reviewed suggest that the current ambient air quality standards required by the Clean Air Act fail to protect the health of the most susceptible individuals Further because of the role of natural sources of air pollution questions are raised as to whether complete protection can ever be achieved The book presents data from many of the epidemiological studies reviewed including those of the major disasters of 1930 1960 Graphical presentations are featured for easy reference many new analyses are presented here for the first time The book also includes introductory chapters on air pollution statistical analysis and respiratory physiology for the convenience of readers who may not be well versed in all of these topics The major technical chapters on mortality and hospitalization include reviews of the effects of air pollution episodes time series analyses cross sectional studies and long term studies of pollution abatement The chapters on respiratory function include both the effects of air pollution on function and the role of lung function as an independent predictor of longevity Air Pollution and Community Health presents one of the first comprehensive analyses of the subject It should be used to re examine the effectiveness of air pollution research and control policies in the United States and is essential reading for all professionals involved in air pollution control or public health
