How To Be An Effective Supervisor: Best Practice In Research

Student Supervision Eley, Adrian, Murray, Rowena, 2009-05-01 This is a practical guide aimed at supervisors of research students. It is written in a lively case study style and is designed to appeal to supervisors who need a quick fix and who have neither the time nor the inclination to read a more detailed in depth book on the subject such as Supervising the Doctorate. There is a growing need for such a volume as the QAA postgraduate code of practice in the UK indicates that all new doctoral supervisors must be trained appropriately. This book will be very suitable for such training courses. The authors both come from a medical background so the book is likely to be particularly well received within scientific and medical departments.

Writing a Science PhD Jennifer Boyle, Scott Ramsay, 2019-04-24 This practical guide will help scientific researchers navigate the core stages of their PhD writing journey from refining their research question to structuring editing and proofreading their thesis. The authors both of whom have first hand experience of working with PhD researchers set out what is expected from PhD writing help readers to establish good practice and provide tips on how to overcome common roadblocks during the writing process. Chapters are enriched with insights from nature editors and student researchers. Looking beyond the PhD the book also features a chapter on writing for publication which will help researchers to think about how to translate their research into high impact journal articles and papers. This is an essential companion for all PhD researchers in the sciences.

Developing Generic Support for Doctoral Students Susan Carter, Deborah Laurs, 2014-03-26

This multidisciplinary multi voiced book looks at the practice and pedagogy of generic across campus support for doctoral students. With a global imperative for increased doctoral completions universities around the world are providing more generic support. This book represents collegial cross fertilisation focussed on generic pedagogy provided by contributors who are practitioners working and researching at the pan disciplinary level which complements supervision. In the UK funding for two weeks annual training in transferable skills for each doctoral scholarship recipient has caused an explosion of such teaching which is now flourishing elsewhere too for example endorsed by the Carnegie Initiative on the Doctorate in the USA and developed extensively in Australia. Generic doctoral support is expanding yet is a relatively new kind of teaching practised extensively only in the last decade and with its own ethical practical and pedagogical complexities. These raise a number of questions. How is generic support funded and situated within institutions? Should some sessions be compulsory for doctoral students? Where do the boundaries lie between what can be taught generically or left to supervisors as discipline specific? To what extent is generic work pastoral? What are its main benefits? Its challenges? Its objectives? Over the last two decades supervision has been investigated and theorised as a teaching practice a discussion this book extends to generic doctoral support. This edited book has contributions from a wide range of authors and includes short inset narratives from academic authorities accumulatively enabling discussion of practice and the establishment of a benchmark for this growing topic Studying Postgraduate Healthcare: A Pre-Reader Dr Catherine Hayes, Dr John Fulton, 2015-05-14 Written by academics with long experience of dealing with new postgraduate healthcare students this helpful guide provides a much needed overview of the practical considerations that should be taken into account when embarking on any postgraduate healthcare course The authors have designed the book to be an easy read for those developing their thinking about study in general and studying at master's and doctoral level specifically The chapters can also be read independently and readers can dip into them as they wish Above all the authors hope this book will show that educational institutions care about their students in a holistic sense as human beings This is significant when we consider the huge impact that undertaking an educational journey in postgraduate healthcare can have on everyday life and the accompanying need to manage the changes it brings They strongly believe that long term education should be seen as an integral part of life and not something that exists separately from the individual's normal existence Contents include Managing expectations in postgraduate education Managing work life balance in postgraduate academic study Postgraduate level study skills Work based learning in postgraduate health curricula Constructing a thesis or dissertation Disseminating academic work Survival Skills for Thesis and Dissertation Candidates Robert S.
