Climate Change Coaching: The Power of Connection to Create Climate Action Charly Cox, Sarah Flynn, 2022-06-16 Climate change is not just an environmental problem; it's a human one. Yet as humans, we are not changing fast enough for ourselves and our planet. Our sense of powerlessness and the belief that our actions won't make a difference is holding us back from taking action, and working on the psychological dimension of change could make the difference to moving us forward. In this transformative book, climate change coaching trailblazers Charly Cox and Sarah Flynn explain why changing for our climate is so hard and why coaching offers a key to affecting behaviour. With practical, easy-to-grasp skills that shift mindsets and motivate action, they show how to build connection using a coaching approach to overcome resistance and empower people to embrace change. If people often tell you, "What difference can I really make?" or "How can we possibly succeed?" then Climate Change Coaching will help you. Understand the psychological barriers to change and how to address them. Gain practical connection-building skills to have more impact in every conversation. Build stronger, more trusting relationships to make long-term change more likely. Develop a new perspective on how individual change leads to systems change. Discover how to help organisations succeed at change and what creates social change. Learn to coach and support yourself to manage stress and avoid burnout. Human Rights, Power and Civic Action Bård A. Andreassen, Gordon Crawford, 2013-07-18
 Human Rights Power and Civic Action examines the interrelationship between struggles for human rights and the dynamics of power focusing on situations of poverty and oppression in developing countries It is argued that the concept of power is a relatively neglected one in the study of rights based approaches to development especially the ways in which structures and relations of power can limit human rights advocacy Therefore this book focuses on how local and national struggles for rights have been constrained by power relations and structural inequalities as well as the extent to which civic action has been able to challenge alter or transform such power structures and simultaneously to enhance protection of people s basic human rights Contributors examine and compare struggles to advance human rights by non governmental actors in Cambodia China Ghana Kenya South Africa and Zimbabwe The country case studies analyse structures of power responsible for the negation and denial of human rights as well as how rights promoting organisations challenge such structures Utilising a comparative approach the book provides empirically grounded studies leading to new theoretical understanding of the interrelationships between human rights struggles power and poverty reduction Human Rights Power and Civic Action will be of interest to students and scholars of human rights politics power development and governance

Handbook on the Geographies of Power Mat Coleman, John Agnew, 2018-07-27 The so called spatial turn in the social sciences means that many researchers have become much more interested in what can be called the spatialities of power or the ways in which power as a medium for achieving goals is related to where it takes place Most famous authors on the subject such as Machiavelli and Hobbes saw power as entirely equivalent to domination exercised by some over others Though this meaning is hardly redundant understandings of power have become more multidimensional and nuanced as a result of the spatial turn Much recent writing in human geography for example has rigorously extended use of the term power beyond its typical understanding as a resource that pools up in some hands and some places to a medium of agency that has different effects depending on how it is deployed across space and how actors cooperate or not to give it effect To address this objective the book is organized thematically into four sections that cover the main areas in which much of the contemporary work on geographies of power is concentrated bodies economy environment and energy and war
