Policies, Practices, and Protocols for the Implementation of Technology Into Language Learning El Shaban, Abir, Abobaker, Reima, 2021-11-19 Many research studies show that the use of technology inside and outside classrooms makes teaching and learning more engaging and motivating Technology can provide learners with endless opportunities and can improve the learning experience simplify access to educational resources enhance autonomous learning meet individual learning needs and prepare the learners for future career success when using it to foster 21st century skills However the range and number of technologies currently available can yield challenges for educators if they do not know how to effectively integrate them into their teaching pedagogy Policies Practices and Protocols for the Implementation of Technology Into Language Learning discusses the skills necessary for successful technology use in education and examines technology tools that assist in teaching different languages with a focus on English as a Foreign Language EFL Covering a range of topics such as reading writing and integrated language skills this book is ideal for instructors policymakers administrators researchers practitioners academicians and students

Assessing Listening for Chinese English Learners Pan Zhixin, 2016-12-08 This book reports in detail the newly developed Communicative Listening Comprehension Test CLCT for the National College English Test CET of China Following the principles of communicative testing in general and test construction approach proposed by Bachman and Palmer 1996 in particular the project develops CLCT for CET 4 and CET 6 The research begins with the construction of frameworks of listening task characteristics and communicative listening ability Subsequently based on a survey of Chinese college students English listening needs and an analysis of listening tasks in influential English listening course books and public tests CLCT 4 and CLCT 6 test specifications are developed Finally sample papers are produced and a series of posteriori studies are conducted to examine the difficulty and usefulness of the newly developed notes completion task type in two CLCT tests As an example of successful integration of communicative testing theories and test construction practice this research provides valuable insights into listening test development for other large scale tests Ease Seminar

Frances Luttikhuisen,2000 The NPEC Sourcebook on Assessment: Definitions and assessment methods for critical thinking, problem solving, and writing T. Dary Erwin,2000 Volume 1 of this sourcebook is a compendium of information about tests used to assess critical thinking problem solving and writing It serves as a tool for people who want comparative data about the policy relevance of specific student outcomes measured in these areas An interactive version of Volume 1 allows users to specify their areas of interest and create a customized search of assessment measures in the three domain areas The tests described in Volume 1 are those that are designed to measure cognitive variables for traditional students The compendium does not describe less traditional methods such as portfolios and competencies In addition the evaluations of the tests are based on the way test developers represent them in their materials and in some cases in information from third part reviews Volume 2 is a companion volume that provides eight case studies of institutions that have addressed related issues through the use of assessment methods in Volume 1 Volume 1 contains the following sections 1 General and Specific Issues in Selecting Assessments 2 Critical Thinking and Problem Solving 3 Templates Critical Thinking and Problem Solving 4 Writing 5 Templates Writing Commercially Developed Tests and 6 Templates Writing Locally Developed Tests Volume 2 discusses the eight case studies and contains four appendixes providing details about the methodology Volume 1 contains 10 tables and 150 references SLD

Writing in Foreign Language Contexts Rosa Manchón,2009 This book represents the most comprehensive account to date of foreign language writing Its basic aim is to reflect critically on where the field is now and where it needs to go next in the exploration of foreign language writing at the levels of theory research and pedagogy Learner-Centred Education for Adult Migrants in Europe ,2021-04-12 Learner Centred Education for Adult Migrants in Europe A Critical Comparative Analysis contributes to the field of Adult Education by investigating the ways in which Learner Centred Education LCE is being enacted implemented or neglected in specific settings The book addresses the lack of research on how LCE is used in adult education as a tool for social change across different national contexts This comparative approach is crucial for exploring the complex global regional national and local dynamics that account for varying implementations or non implementations of LCE in different settings for appreciating the thin or wide differences in practices of implementation and for assessing the successes failures and needs for improvement of diverse LCE programmes The book s primary focus on migration as a social process and migrants as active citizens is useful in unravelling the convergences and divergences of different national and urban settings where migrant adult learners live as citizens or as non citizens and how this intersects with their experiences as learners This research is contextualised in a larger political context What emerges from the parting reflection is a European scenario marked by ambivalent and contradictory relations with migrants and an educational intervention that is located somewhere between the assimilationist integrationist dialectic The four cases presented Estonia Malta Scotland and Cyprus generally respond to the learners needs on the ground while rarely problematising the ideological stance of the state in relation to the educational plight of migrants The final chapter introduces and elaborates on a new concept Emancipatory LCE to help generate a deeper analysis

Intensive vs. Extensive Approaches in Foreign Language Teaching Carmen Neagu,2023-01-22 The purpose of this theoretical and experimental paper is to clarify the influence of an extensive learning program on high school students language comprehension and attitude towards reading The experiment was administered throughout a school semester with a control group following the intensive approach and an experimental group subject to the extensive approach The intervention of the experiment was represented by the two teaching approaches extensive vs intensive whereas the measured outcome consisted in the learners changes in language proficiency and attitude towards reading Since both intensive and extensive approaches are necessary in order to prepare students for college tasks the senior high school period is an ideal moment to start introducing extensive language programs as a means of achieving and not substituting the communicative competence Furthermore the reading habit will outlast and accompany students as a lifelong second nature The NPEC sourcebook on assessment , Resources in Education ,1999 What has happened to Sub-Regional Public Sector Efficiency in England since the Crisis? Samya Beidas-Strom,2017-02-14 This paper estimates public sector service efficiency in England at the sub regional level studying changes post crisis during the large fiscal consolidation effort It finds that despite the overall spending cut and some caveats owing to data availability efficiency broadly improved across sectors particularly in education However quality adjustments and other factors could have contributed e g sector and technology induced reforms It also finds that sub regions with the weakest initial levels of efficiency converged the most post crisis These sub regional changes in public sector efficiency are associated with changes in labor productivity Finally the paper finds that regional disparities in the productivity of public services have narrowed especially in the education and health sectors with education attainment population density private spending on high school education and class size being to be the most important factors explaining sub regional variation since 2003 Literature Alan Maley,Alan Duff,2007-04-26 The Resource Books for Teachers series gives teachers trainers and trainee teachers practical guidance in key aspects of language teaching Each book includes an introduction and up to 100 classroom ideas materials and techniques The activities are clearly presented and offer teachers all the information they need about appropriate level time preparation materials variations and follow up activities Since the first edition of Literature new ways of using literary texts have emerged and there is now an even greater choice of stimulating texts available This is a revised edition of this prize winning book which has been widely used by teachers all over the world
