The Prehistory of the Mediterranean David H. Trump, 1980 The Archaeology of Mediterranean Prehistory Emma Blake, A. Bernard Knapp, 2008-04-15 This book offers a comprehensive introduction to the archaeology of Mediterranean prehistory and an essential reference to the most recent research and fieldwork Only book available to offer general coverage of Mediterranean prehistory Written by 14 of the leading archaeologists in the field Spans the Neolithic through the Iron Age and draws from all the major regions of the Mediterranean s coast and islands Presents the central debates in Mediterranean prehistory trade and interaction rural economies ritual social structure gender monumentality insularity archaeometallurgy and the metals trade stone technologies settlement and maritime traffic as well as contemporary legacies of the region s prehistoric past Structure of text is pedagogically driven Engages diverse theoretical approaches so students will see the benefits of multivocality Islands in Time Mark Patton, 2013-01-11 Islands in Time explores the ecological and cultural development of prehistoric island societies It considers the prehistory of the Mediterranean and offers an explanation of the effects of isolation on the development of human communities Evidence is drawn from a broad range of Mediterranean islands including Cyprus Crete and the Cyclades Malta Lipari Corsica and Sardinia Human Mobility and Technological Transfer in the Prehistoric Mediterranean Evangelia Kiriatzi, Carl Knappett, 2016-12-24 The diverse forms of regional connectivity in the ancient world have recently become an important focus for those interested in the deep history of globalisation This volume represents a significant contribution to this new trend as it engages thematically with a wide range of connectivities in the later prehistory of the Mediterranean from the later Neolithic of northern Greece to the Levantine Iron Age and with diverse forms of materiality from pottery and metal to stone and glass With theoretical overviews from leading thinkers in prehistoric mobilities and commentaries from top specialists in neighbouring domains the volume integrates detailed case studies within a comparative framework The result is a thorough treatment of many of the key issues of regional interaction and technological diversity facing archaeologists working across diverse places and periods As this book presents key case studies for human and technological mobility across the eastern Mediterranean in later prehistory it will be of interest primarily to Mediterranean archaeologists though also to historians and anthropologists The Prehistory of Asia Minor Bleda S. Düring, 2010-10-21 In this book Bleda Düring offers an archaeological analysis of Asia Minor the area equated with much of modern day Turkey from 20 000 to 2 000 BC During this period human societies moved from small scale hunter gatherer groups to complex and hierarchical communities with economies based on agriculture and industry Dr Düring traces the spread of the Neolithic way of life which ultimately reached across Eurasia and the emergence of key human developments including the domestication of animals metallurgy fortified towns and long distance trading networks Situated at the junction between Europe and Asia Asia Minor has often been perceived as a bridge for the movement of technologies and ideas By contrast this book argues that cultural developments followed a distinctive trajectory in Asia Minor from as early as 9 000 BC The Prehistory of Iberia María Cruz Berrocal,Leonardo García Sanjuán,Antonio Gilman,2013 This volume advances the archaeological study of social organisation in Prehistory and more specifically the rise of social complexity in European Prehistory Within the wider context of world Prehistory in the last 30 years the subject of early social stratification and state formation has been a key subject on interest in Iberian Prehistory This book illustrates the differing forms of resistances the interplay between change and continuity the multiple paths to and from social complexity and the failures of states to form in Prehistory Focusing on Iberia but with a permanent connection to the wider geographical framework this book presents for the first time a chronologically comprehensive up to date approach to the issue of state formation in prehistoric Europe The late prehistory of Malta: Essays on Borġ in-Nadur and other sites Davide Tanasi,Nicholas C. Vella,2015-05-31 Borġ in Nadur Malta is a major multi period site with archaeological remains that span several thousand years Excavations were carried out here in 1881 and again in 1959 This volume provides an exhaustive account of the stratigraphy the pottery the lithic assemblages the bones and the molluscs The Prehistory of European Society Vere Gordon Childe,2009 Prehistoric and Protohistoric Cyprus A. Bernard Knapp,2008-02-21 A new island archaeology and island history of Bronze Age and early Iron Age Cyprus set in its Mediterranean context In this extensively illustrated study A Bernard Knapp addresses an under studied but dynamic new field of archaeological enquiry the social identity of prehistoric and protohistoric Mediterranean islanders On the Ocean Barry W. Cunliffe,2017 The story of the contest between humans and the sea played out in the Mediterranean and the Atlantic from early prehistory until AD 1500

Rock Art and the Prehistory of Atlantic Europe Mr Richard Bradley,Richard Bradley,2002-11 Professor Bradley discusses the numerous rock carvings made four to five thousand years ago along the Atlantic seaboard from Scotland to Spain The Prehistoric Hunter-Gatherers of South-Eastern Europe Aitor Ruiz-Redondo,William Davies,2023-11-03 Situating the South Eastern European region at the crossroads between the Near East and the rest of Europe The Prehistoric Hunter Gatherers of South Eastern Europe provides an interdisciplinary exploration of the Balkan record of prehistoric foragers in terms of dispersal ecologies evolution and symbolism Human Dispersal, Human Evolution, and the Sea John F. Cherry,Thomas P. Leppard,2025-02-21 Human Dispersal Human Evolution and the Sea is the first book length treatment of what has become known as the global Palaeolithic seafaring debate Until recently common consensus dictated that only in the last ten thousand years have humans routinely permanently and cross culturally traversed seas and oceans to colonize new lands New and sometimes contentious data from the Mediterranean and Island Southeast Asia challenge that consensus suggesting to some researchers that long distance voyaging is a behavior of great antiquity These scholars suggest that oceans and seas facilitated and encouraged planetary dispersal in our own genus rather than acting as barriers to dispersal If this model is correct it necessitates a radical rethinking of not only the big patterns of human history but also more deeply our models of emergent human behavior and when the capacity for highly complex and coordinated group behaviors emerged Exploring the data in detail the authors here show how a complex series of interrelated problems has tended to be treated in reductionist or overly simplistic terms Cherry and Leppard elucidate this complexity by bringing to bear perspectives from archaeology ecology and evolutionary biology They demonstrate not only that a series of unique circumstances evolutionary behavioral environmental and economic conspired to drive mass ubiquitous global colonization over the last ten millennia but also that earlier sparser data provide real insight into key social and behavioral thresholds even if there is little evidence to support the oceans as highways model for species other than our own A major intervention in this important debate Human Dispersal Human Evolution and the Sea explains the deep significance of the problem and the profound implications for history archaeology and biological anthropology The Cycladic and Aegean Islands in Prehistory

Ina Berg,2019-02-01 This textbook offers an up to date academic synthesis of the Aegean islands from the earliest Palaeolithic period through to the demise of the Mycenaean civilization in the Late Bronze III period The book integrates new findings and theoretical approaches whilst at the same time allowing readers to contextualize their understanding through engagement with bigger overarching issues and themes often drawing explicitly on key theoretical concepts and debates Structured according to chronological periods and with two dedicated chapters on Akrotiri and the debate around the volcanic eruption of Thera this book is an essential companion for all those interested in the prehistory of the Cyclades and other Aegean islands ARCHAEOLOGY - Volume II Donald L. Hardesty,2010-06-15 Archaeology is a component of Encyclopedia of Social Sciences and Humanities in the global Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems EOLSS which is an integrated compendium of twenty one Encyclopedias Archaeology is a road for traveling into the past that is independent of and complementary to documents and memory The archaeological record provides historical perspectives on variability and change in human life support systems with the potential for use in planning for future sustainable development The Theme is organized into four different topics which represent the main scientific areas of the theme Foundations of Archaeology The Archaeology of Life Support Systems World Cultural Heritage Preserving Archaeological Sites and Monuments which are then expanded into multiple subtopics each as a chapter The first topic deals with historical methodological and theoretical foundations of archaeology The second topic explores the archaeological record of human life support systems and includes chapters on foraging food production such as farming and nomadic lifestyles civilizations water management systems and sustainability World cultural heritage is the third topic Finally the fourth topic covers the preservation of cultural memorials such as archaeological sites landscapes and monuments These two volumes are aimed at the following five major target audiences University and College Students Educators Professional Practitioners Research Personnel and Policy Analysts Managers and Decision Makers NGOs and GOs Prehistoric Farming in Europe Graeme Barker,1985-07-11 Drawing upon his own extensive knowledge of European archaeology Graeme Barker has impressively integrated the full range of archaeological data to produce in this book a masterly account of prehistoric farming in Europe on a unique scale He makes use of modern archaeological techniques to reconstruct the lives of prehistoric farmers in remarkable detail Not only do we now have a vivid picture of the prehistoric farmyard but we know what animals were kept how they were fed and why they were bred Evidence for crops grown and techniques of cultivation and husbandry helps recreate the prehistoric landscape Even the social organisation that determined the use of resources and provided the crucial stimulus for agricultural change can be relived Graeme Barker develops his argument through analogies with the agricultural history of classical and medieval Europe and concludes that today's industrial farmers can learn much from the successes and failures of early European farming

Chieftdoms Timothy K. Earle, 1993-04 These eleven case studies of different chieftdoms examine how ruling elites retain and legitimize their power

Faunal Extinction in an Island Society Alan H. Simmons, 2006-01-22 The multidisciplinary research program at Akrotiri Aetokremnos is important in my opinion for three reasons two empirical and one conceptual Quite apart from the archaeology work at the site is a major contribution to island biogeography in that the Phanourios sample certainly the best from Cyprus and probably the best anywhere in the world has already provided and will continue to provide important ecological and behavioral data on these intriguing creatures Dwarfed island faunas are important to our understanding of the complex factors that shape natural selection in ecologically closed environments over the evolutionary long term At Aetokremnos we seem to have the end of a long sequence of hippo evolution on the island With comparative studies of other Cypriot hippo faunas we should be able to pin down the interval of initial colonization by what were presumably normal sized hippos and if the other sites can be dated document the dwarfing process in considerable detail Aetokremnos would still be a significant paleontological quality even in the absence of evidence of a human presence there While reading the text of the monograph a number of questions strictly related to the paleontology occurred to me One was how to model the colonization process There seems to be little question that the large mammals colonized the island by swimming to it because I gather Cyprus has not been connected to the mainland for roughly 5.6 million years

The Archaeology of Malta Claudia Sagona, 2015-08-25 The Maltese archipelago is a unique barometer for understanding cultural change in the central Mediterranean Prehistoric people helped reshape the islands economy and when Mediterranean maritime highways were being established the islands became a significant lure to Phoenician colonists venturing from their Levantine homeland Punic Malta also sat at the front line of regional hostilities until it fell to Rome Preserved in this island setting are signs of people's endurance and adaptation to each new challenge This book is the first systematic and up to date survey of the islands archaeological evidence from the initial settlers to the archipelago's inclusion into the Roman world c 5000 BC 400 AD Claudia Sagona draws upon old and new discoveries and her analysis covers well known sites such as the megalithic structures as well as less familiar locations and discoveries She interprets the archaeological record to explain changing social and political structures intriguing ritual practices and cultural contact through several millennia adaptations have generated much new knowledge and understanding. Researchers working on problems of adaptations in the Holocene from those of simple hunter gatherers to those of complex sociopolitical entities like the state have found this approach suitable for comprehension of both ecological and social aspects of human behavior. This research focus has however until recently left virtually untouched a major spatial and temporal segment of prehistory: the Old World during the Pleistocene. Extant literature on this period by and large presents either detailed site specific accounts or offers continental or even global syntheses that tend to compile site specific information but do not integrate it into whole constructs of functioning sociocultural entities. This volume presents our current state of knowledge about a variety of regional adaptations that characterized prehistoric groups in the Old World before 10 000 B.P. The authors of the chapters consider the behavior of humans rather than that of objects or features and present data and models for various aspects of past cultures and for culture change. These presentations integrate findings and understandings derived from a number of related disciplines actively involved in researching the past. Data and interpretations are offered on a range of Old world regions during the Paleolithic including Africa, Asia, Australia and Europe and chronological coverage spans from the Early to Late Pleistocene.
