The Principles of Development Aid Edward Kenneth Hawkins, 1970 Textbook on the principles underlying the operational activities of economic aid to developing countries analyses the relationships between recipients and donors under the concessional terms of financial assistance the role of UN and specialized agencies and prospective trends in development assistance with particular reference to the recommendations of the Pearson Commission Bibliography pp 141 to 143 and references

The Politics and Policies of Relief, Aid and Reconstruction Fulvio Attina, 2012-10-15 Disaster policies present a new challenge to the practitioners and students of global politics this book explains how political science enriches the contribution of the social sciences to the study of disaster relief aid and reconstruction following the major disaster events both natural and man made of recent times Report on the Foreign Policy of the Czech Republic, 2000-01-01

Development Aid and Sustainable Economic Growth in Africa Simone Raudino, 2016-11-25 This book offers an original analysis of the long term impact of western and Chinese economic and development cooperation policies in Africa It argues that western Official Development Assistance ODA has failed to create viable and autonomous economies in beneficiary countries not only because of corruption inefficiencies and cultural differences but because it was never meant to do so Raudino demonstrates rather that it was always designed to provide relief measures and nurture political relations rather than create genuinely industrialized and self reliant economies Similarly by analyzing the nature of Chinese economic investments in Africa the author shows that China's governmental policies hardly represent a revolutionary departure from the cooperation standards set by the West In making these observations he also taps into the broader question of why wealth continues to be generated unequally across the world Based on extensive fieldwork quantitative economic analysis and historical qualitative research this thought provoking work will appeal to students and scholars of politics economics and development studies as well as to those involved more directly in the aid process Contending Theories on Development Aid Leslie O. Omoruyi, 2017-09-20 This title was first published in 2001 This thorough and comprehensive examination of the nature and pattern of post Cold War aid to sub Saharan Africa provides incisive comparative case studies of the motivations behind the foreign aid policies of key members of the Development Association Committee DAC In one of the most rigorous contemporary efforts to evaluate the adequacy of the dominant theories of international relations on an important subject like foreign aid Dr Omoruyi eschews easy answers to the problem of Africa's marginalization in the international system He provides thoughtful innovative suggestions for promoting a new development partnership between industrialized countries and Africa using a sophisticated quantitative method of inquiry making this text a valuable contribution to social science literature on research methods Emerging Trends in Social Policy from the South

Ilcheong Yi, Alexandra Kaasch, Kelly Stetter, 2024-05-21 Drawing on international case studies from emerging economies and developing countries including South Africa India Egypt Morocco Jordan Tunisia Indonesia China and Russia this book examines the rise nature and effectiveness of recent developments in social policy in the Global South By analysing these new emerging trends the book aims to understand how they can contribute to meaningful change and whether they could offer alternative solutions to the social economic and environmental policy challenges facing low income countries within a contemporary global context It pays particular attention to reforms and innovations relating to the objectives of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development including the move away from a welfare state towards a welfare multitude in which new actors such as civil society organisations play an increasingly important role in social policy

Do-Gooders at the End of Aid Antoine de Bengy Puyvallée, Kristian Bjørkdahl, 2021-07-22 Scandinavian countries are routinely considered exceptional for their commitment to development cooperation peace mediation and humanitarian action This book highlights how the political culture of Scandinavia is indeed characterized by the idea of doing good on the world stage but then shows how this Scandinavian humanitarian brand is an asset that policymakers and others can capitalize on to legitimize policy interventions and ideas or to advance commercial diplomatic and security interests Providing case studies from all Scandinavian countries this book shows how the brand is made reinforced and used in a variety of policy contexts from foreign aid and humanitarian assistance to military operations peace building and mediation to migration policy global health and international cooperation A key objective of the book is to explain why the Scandinavian humanitarian brand retains such apparent resilience in a time when Scandinavia s characteristic approach to world affairs seems challenged from many sides at once This title is also available as Open Access on Cambridge Core Reconceiving International Refugee Law James C. Hathaway, 2023-07-24 Violence and other human rights abuses continue to force desperate people to migrate in search of protection Yet because the political and economic reasons that induced an historical openness to the arrival of refugees have largely withered away there is no longer a guarantee that any state will be prepared to receive these involuntary migrants Governments of both North and South are withdrawing from the international legal duty to provide potentially indefinite protection to any and all refugees who arrive at their borders The challenge is to reconceive refugee protection in a way that is reconcilable with the legitimate concerns of modern states yet which does not sacrifice the critical right of at risk people to seek asylum The essays in Reconceiving International Refugee Law offer a response to the concerns of many states that refugee protection has become no more than a back door route to permanent immigration and that its costs are not fairly apportioned among states Drawing on the research of leading migration scholars from around the world and vetted through dialogue with senior officials and non governmental experts this volume explores the potential for a shift to a robust and empowering system of temporary asylum supported by a pragmatic system of guarantees to share both the costs and human responsibilities of refugee protection

Global Civil Society Gideon Baker, David Chandler, 2004-11-23 For many commentators global civil society is revolutionising our approach to global politics as new non state based and border free expressions of political community challenge territorial sovereignty as the exclusive basis for political community and identity This challenge from below to the nation state system is increasingly seen as promising nothing less than a reconstruction or a re imagination of world politics itself Whether in terms of the democratisation of the institutions of global governance the spread of human rights across the world or the emergence of a global citizenry in a worldwide public sphere global civil society is understood by many to provide the agency necessary for these hoped for transformations Global Civil Society asks whether this idea is such a qualitatively new phenomenon after all whether the transformation of the nation state system is actually within its reach and what some of the drawbacks might be

United Nations Development Aid Digambar Bhouraskar, 2007 This comprehensive survey presents a critical analysis of the United Nations programs that offer aid to developing countries for their economic and social growth Explaining in detail the political struggles and considerations underlying the birth of each of the programs this study covers the inherent flaws in their conceptualization while analyzing the growth and changes in structure over the last five decades This reference explores the chronic problems encountered in implementation discussing the need for further progress in coordination and for simplifying the legislative decision making structure relating to development aid

Specialized Administrative Law of the European Union Herwig C. H. Hofmann, Gerard C. Rowe, Alexander H. Türk, 2018-11-30 This volume deals with the law governing the administrative implementation of European Union public policy Much of this law is specific to individual policy sectors The volume provides a study of such specialized administrative law for more than twenty sectors This cross sectoral approach allows for detailed comparisons of EU administration in diverse policy fields It identifies situations where legal structures and approaches may be unnecessarily duplicated thus indicating where a comprehensive general system could be advantageous for both Union

law and policy achievement The comparative nature of the study also draws attention to policy fields which have proven to be testing grounds for approaches adopted subsequently in other areas In addition the work highlights the distinctive highly networked and strongly cooperative character of EU administration as a reflection of and a foundation for the operative nature of the European Union as a whole Research Handbook on International Law and Terrorism Ben Saul,2020-04-24 This newly revised and updated second edition provides a comprehensive overview of international counter terrorism law and practice Brand new and revised chapters provide critical commentary on the law from leading scholars and practitioners in the field including new topics for this edition such as foreign terrorist fighters the nexus between organized crime and terrorism and the prevention of violent extremism Policy-Making in the GCC Neil Quilliam,Mark C. Thompson,2017-09-11 The GCC is a major player in the post 2011 reordering of the Middle East Despite the rise in prominence of individual Gulf states especially Kuwait Qatar Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates and the growth of the GCC as a collective entity surprisingly little attention has been paid to the actual mechanics of policy making in the region This book analyses the vital role that institutions are coming to play in shaping policy in the Gulf Arab states The research coincides with two key developments that have given institutions new importance in the policy process the emergence of a new generation of leaders in the Gulf and the era of low oil prices Both developments along with dramatic demographic change have compelled state and citizens to re evaluate the nature of the social contract that binds them together Contributors assess the changing relationship between state and citizen and evaluate the role that formal and informal institutions play in mediating such change and informing policy The book shows how academic social and economic institutions are responding to the increasingly complex process of decision making where citizens demand better services and further empowerment and states are obliged to seek wider counsel although wanting to retain ultimate authority With contributions from both academics and practitioners this book will be highly relevant for researchers and policymakers alike Congress and the European Parliament United States. Congress. House. Committee on Foreign Affairs,1980 European Food Aid Policy John Cathie,2019-01-15 Published in 1997 this book traces the development of European Food Aid Policy from its inception in the 1960s through to the 1990s This covers the change from a surplus disposal programme in the early days to the present policy The European Food Aid Policy is one of the few areas of development policy that is European rather than national in character John Cathie therefore also examines the links forged with non governmental organizations at an international level for food aid and humanitarian operations The Critical Villager Eric Dudley,2002-03-11 When aid to the Third World actually works it is usually on such a small scale that it makes little impact on the world s problems Can demands for generalizable actions be reconciled with location specific solutions The Critical Villager considers how community based technical aid can be made more effective and sustainable Calling for development workers policy makers and researchers to put themselves in the place of the intended beneficiaries of aid it suggests concrete principles for action and research It

argues that participatory research and transfer of technology should not be regarded as rival models for development but rather as complementary components in a single process of effective aid The Forest Certification Handbook Christopher Upton,2019-08-21 From forester to retailer stakeholders in the industry are under increasing pressure to assure customers that their wood products have come from well managed sustainable forests The Forest Certification Handbook gives practical advice on developing selecting and operating a certification programme which provides both market security and raises standards of forestry management It provides a thorough analysis of all the issues surrounding certification including the commercial benefits to be gained the policy mechanisms required the interpretation and implementation of forestry management standards and the process of certification itself Three unique directories give details of currently certified forests international and national initiatives and active certification programmes The Politics of US Aid to Pakistan Murad Ali,2019-01-22 This book aims at uncovering the politics behind the provision of US foreign aid to Pakistan during three distinctive periods the Cold War the post Cold War and the war on terror Focusing on a comprehensive analysis of aid allocation and delivery mechanisms this book uncovers the primary factors behind historical as well as contemporary US aid to Pakistan so far not thoroughly and empirically studied especially in the post 2001 period of the war on terror Furthermore based on findings that have emerged from interviews with over 200 respondents including government officials representatives of donor aid agencies the private sector civil society organizations and primary beneficiaries of US funded projects this book offers significant insights to researchers policy makers and practitioners interested in the discipline of aid and development effectiveness Making use of both quantitative and qualitative data and based on extensive fieldwork and primary data this book fills a significant gap in the empirical analysis of US aid to Pakistan As such it will be of great interest to students and scholars of Asian and US politics as well as to those who have teaching and research interests in disciplines such as international relations history strategic studies international political economy and development studies
