The Politics Of Public Enterprise Oil And The French State:

The Politics of Public Enterprise Harvey B. Feigenbaum, 2017-03-14 Through a study of French petroleum policy over the last fifty years Harvey B Feigenbaum presents a theoretical analysis of public enterprise and a general analysis of the relationship of state to society Originally published in 1985 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

The Politics of Public Enterprise Harvey B. Feigenbaum, 1981 Energy Abstracts for Policy Analysis , 1986 Do Institutions Matter? R. Kent Weaver, Bert A. Rockman, 2010-12-01 As a stunning tide of democratization sweeps across much of the world countries must cope with increasing problems of economic development political and social integration and greater public demand of scarce resources That ability to respond effectively to these issues depends largely on the institutional choices of each of these newly democratizing countries With critics of national political institutions in the United States arguing that the American separation of powers system promotes ineffectiveness and policy deadlock many question whether these countries should emulate American institutions or choose parliamentary institutions instead The essays in this book fully examine whether parliamentary government is superior to the separation of powers system through a direct comparison of the two In addressing specific policy areas such as innovation and implementation of energy policies after the oil shocks of 1970 management of societal cleavages setting of government priorities in budgeting representation of diffuse interest in environmental policy and management of defense forces the authors define capabilities that allow governments to respond to policy problems Do Institutions Matter includes case studies that bear important evidence on when and how institutions influence government effectiveness The authors discover a widespread variation among parliamentary systems both in institutional arrangements and in governmental capabilities and find that many of the failings of policy performance commonly attributed to American political institutions are in fact widely shared among western industrial countries Moreover they show how American political institutions inhibit some government capabilities while enhancing others Changing American institutions to improve some aspects of governmental performance could hurt other widely valued capabilities The authors draw important guidelines for institutional reformers wh

The Light-Green Society Michael Bess, 2003-11-15 The accelerating interpenetration of nature and culture is the hallmark of the new light green social order that has emerged in postwar France argues Michael Bess in this penetrating new history On one hand a preoccupation with natural qualities and equilibrium has increasingly infused France s economic and cultural life On the other human activities have laid an ever more potent and pervasive touch on the environment whether through the intrusion of agriculture industry and urban growth or through the much subtler and more well intentioned efforts of ecological management The Light Green Society limns sharply these trends over the last fifty years The rise of environmentalism in the 1960s stemmed from a fervent desire to save wild nature nature conceived as a qualitatively distinct domain wholly separate from human designs and endeavors And yet Bess shows after forty years of environmentalist agitation much of it remarkably successful in achieving its aims the old conception of nature as a separate sphere has become largely untenable In the light green society where ecology and technological modernity continually flow together a new hybrid vision of intermingled nature culture has increasingly taken its place

Boom - Crisis - Heritage Lars Bluma, Michael Farrenkopf, Torsten Meyer, 2021-10-11 Boom Crisis Heritage these terms aptly outline the history of global coal mining after 1945 The essays collected in this volume explore this history with different emphases and questions The range of topics also reflects this broad approach The first section contains contributions on political social and economic history They address the European energy system in the globalised world of the 20th and 21st centuries as well as specific social policies in mining regions The second section then focuses on the medialisation of mining and its legacies also paying attention to the environmental history of mining The anthology which goes back to a conference of the same name at the Deutsches Bergbau Museum Bochum thus offers a multi faceted insight into the research field of modern mining history

Resisting Protectionism Helen V. Milner, 2021-02-09 Why didn't the protectionist spiral of the 1920s reappear in the 1970s in light of similar economic and political realities In Resisting Protectionism Helen Milner analyzes the growth of international economic interdependence and its effects on trade policy in the United States and France She argues that the limited protectionist response of the 1970s stems from the growth of firms international economic ties which reduces their interest in protection by increasing its cost Thus firms with greater international connections will be less protectionist than more domestically oriented firms The book develops this thesis by examining the international ties of export dependence multinationality and global intra firm trade After studying selected U S industries Milner also examines French firms to see if they respond to increased interdependence in the same way as American firms despite their different historical ideological and political contexts

Historical Dictionary of France Gino Raymond, 2008-10-23 From the construction of Notre Dame and the Eiffel Tower to the Fall of the Bastille and the Declaration of the Rights of Man and the Citizen to Napoleon's defeat at Waterloo to Albert Camus L'Etranger and the existentialism of Jean Paul Sartre France has been a part of some of the greatest and most memorable events in human history Author Gino Raymond relates the history of these events in the second edition of the Historical Dictionary of France Through a chronology an introductory essay a bibliography and hundreds of cross referenced dictionary entries on kings politicians authors architects composers artists and philosophers a thorough history of France is presented

State Autonomy Or Class Dominance? G. William Domhoff, In his new book G. William Domhoff provides the most thorough critique to date of state autonomy theory as it has been applied to the American federal government The view under attack holds that the federal government rather than the banks and corporations wields greater power in the United States Utilizing new arguments and new archival findings this book challenges every case study that state autonomy theorists have done on the Progressive Era the New Deal and World War II Domhoff then concludes with an analysis of why the theory received so much attention In addition to demonstrating the weaknesses of state autonomy theory in the case of the U S the book presents a step by step statement of the author s non Marxian class dominance theory defining each concept clearly and suggesting the kind of evidence necessary to support it The chapters on the origins of the Social Security Act 1935 and on the role of corporations in the industrial mobilization for World War II lead to general statements on the factors that limit the effectiveness of liberal and labor political forces in America the chapter on the Progressive Era contains an analysis of why the corporate community has been more powerful in the United States than in Europe Although it is part of a continuing debate with other experts the author has marshaled his argument in a style that is always accessible As a result the book is ideal for use in courses in which the instructor wants to compare and contrast original presentations of rival viewpoints by major proponents of the debated theories The Political Economy of International Air Safety Vicki L Golich,1990-01-05

Measuring the Impact of the Nonprofit Sector Patrice Flynn, Virginia A. Hodgkinson,2013-11-11 One of the major tasks facing researchers practitioners and funders is the development of empirical tools to measure the inherent worth of nonprofit organizations as well as the sector as a whole Renowned scholars present chapters on the state of the art of performance measurement in the nonprofit sector and seek to establish a framework for a long term research agenda to identify quantify and self assess those qualities that make the nonprofit sector unique The Power Elite and the State G. William Domhoff,2017-09-29 This volume presents a network of social power indicating that theories inspired by C Wright Mills are far more accurate views about power in America than those of Mills s opponents Dr Domhoff shows how and why coalitions within the power elite have involved themselves in such policy issues as the Social Security Act 1935 and the Employment Act 1946 and how the National Labor Relations Act 1935 could pass against the opposition of every major corporation The book describes how experts worked closely with the power elite in shaping the plans for a post World War II world economic order in good part realized during the past 30 years Arguments are advanced that the fat cats who support the Democrats cannot be understood in terms of narrow self interest and that moderate conservatives dominated policy making under Reagan The European Union and National Industrial Policy Hussein Kassim, Anand Menon,2002-09-11 Although the implications of EU membership have been the subject of intense political debate and academic enquiry throughout the member states the actual impact of EU action on those states remains under researched The lack of empirical investigation has meant that it has not been possible to arrive at any informed judgement about how the EU has affected traditional policy making in the member states or to evaluate competing claims The European Union and National Industrial Policy investigates the extent to which action at the EU level in a range of industrial financial and service sectors has affected the substance of national policy and the behaviour of and relationships between national actors It looks at the policies pursued by the four larger member states in these areas discussing the initiatives launched by the EU and assessing the Union's impact on national policy compared with other internal and external factors The European Union and National Industrial Policy offers a unique investigation of the relationship between the Union and member states that is empirically based and theoretically reflective In an attempt to overcome the boundaries that have traditionally separated international relations political science public policy and other social sciences it uses insights from a number of perspectives to assess the impact of the EU on the ability of member states to choose and implement their goals

The Political Economy Of Public Sector Reform And Privatization Ezra Suleiman, John Waterbury, 2019-07-09 This book suggests some of the ways in which levels of development shape public sector reform and privatization in developed and developing countries showing that conservative as well as socialist governments were committed to increasing the state's guiding role in the political economy

Fossil Energy Update, 1982

Interest-Group Politics in France Frank Lee Wilson, 1987 This book represents a comprehensive examination of interest group politics in France focusing on the overall pattern of interaction between interest groups and government Wilson examines the structures and methods of group politics the perspectives and attitudes of group leaders and the place of interest groups in the broader pattern of French politics

European Energy Policies in a Changing Environment Francis McGowan, 2012-12-06 Across the European Union energy policy remains a highly controversial issue despite the relative stability of energy markets and the lack of concern of energy availabilities and prices which marked previous debates on the issue The debates on nuclear power in Germany on the coal industry in the UK indicate the continuing resonance of energy policy as a source of dispute at the national level Moreover while the urgency which the 1970s energy crises brought to policy discussions may no longer exist the emergence of new issues such as the environment and economic liberalisation have offered new challenges for energy policy These issues also arise in a European setting Early in 1995 the European Commission published a Green Paper on Energy Policy indeed as the manuscript was completed the Commission was finalising a White Paper and the issue will be on the agenda of the 1996 Intergovernmental Conference The outcome of these discussions is far from clear but there is no doubt that in one way or another the European Union will help to shape national energy policies for many years to come

Oil, the State, and Federalism John Erik Fossum, 1997-01-01 John Erik Fossum explores the reasons for the federal government's intervention in the energy industry between 1973 and 1984 and shows how its initial objectives failed culminating in the privatization of Petro Canada in 1990

Mediating Globalization Andrew P. Cortell, 2012-02-01 Has globalization fundamentally altered international relations producing a race to the bottom in which states compete for economic growth and development by adopting similar liberal economic strategies Mediating Globalization challenges this increasingly dominant perspective demonstrating that national governments often respond to global competitive pressures with more not less economic intervention Using interviews archival research and secondary sources Andrew P Cortell explores the strategies adopted by the United States and Britain with regard to one of the world s most globalized sectors the semiconductor industry From the early 1970s through the mid 1990s he argues increasing globalization pressures in each country led them to more actively intervene in the evolution of their semiconductor markets rather than assume a more marginal role The empirical evidence moreover indicates that the two countries adopted similar responses whether liberal or interventionist as a consequence of similar domestic institutional incentives rather than constraints identified to emerge from globalization

New Departures Anthony Perl, 2014-10-17

North America faces a transportation crisis Gas guzzling SUVs clog the highways and air travelers face delays cancellations and uncertainty in the wake of unprecedented terrorist attacks New Departures closely examines the options for improving intercity passenger trains capacity to move North Americans where they want to go While Amtrak and VIA Rail Canada face intense pressure to transform themselves into successful commercial enterprises Anthony Perl demonstrates how public policy changes lie behind the triumphs of European and Japanese high speed rail passenger innovations Perl goes beyond merely describing these achievements translating their implications into a North American institutional and political context and diagnosing the obstacles that have made renewing passenger trains so much more difficult in North America than elsewhere New Departures links the lessons behind rail passenger revitalization abroad with the opportunity to recast the policies that constrain Amtrak and VIA Rail from providing efficient and effective intercity transportation
