The Prehistoric Archaeology Of Ireland:

Prehistoric Archaeology of Ireland John Waddell,2023-04-30 This book provides a chronological account of this timespan and with numerous illustrations charts the development of the first hunting and foraging communities the achievements of the agriculturalists with their remarkable megalithic tombs and the technological advances of the later bronze and iron using societies

Prehistoric Archaeology of Ireland John Waddell,2010 The Prehistoric Archaeology of Ireland John Waddell,1998 The Prehistory of Britain and Ireland Richard Bradley,2007-03-05 Sited at the furthest limits of the Neolithic revolution and standing at the confluence of the two great sea routes of prehistory Britain and Ireland are distinct from continental Europe for much of the prehistoric sequence In this landmark 2007 study the first significant survey of the archaeology of Britain and Ireland for twenty years Richard Bradley offers an interpretation of the unique archaeological record of these islands based on a wealth of current and largely unpublished data Bradley surveys the entire archaeological sequence over a 4 000 year period from the adoption of agriculture in the Neolithic period to the discovery of Britain and Ireland by travellers from the Mediterranean during the later pre Roman Iron Age Significantly this is the first modern account to treat Britain and Ireland on equal terms offering a detailed interpretation of the prehistory of both islands

Ireland in Prehistory Michael Herity,George Eogan,1989 The authors examine Irish prehistory from the economic sociological and artistic viewpoints enabling the reader to comprehend the vast amount of archaeological work accomplished in Ireland over the last twenty years The authors examine Irish prehistory from the economic sociological and artistic viewpoints enabling the reader to comprehend the vast amount of archaeological work accomplished in Ireland over the last twenty years

The Archaeology of Celtic Britain and Ireland Lloyd Robert Laing,2006-06-29 This book first published in 2006 surveys the archaeology of the Celtic speaking areas of Britain and Ireland AD 400 to 1200 The Prehistoric Artefacts of Northern Ireland Harry Welsh,June Welsh,2022-01-20 The last in a trilogy of monographs designed to provide a baseline survey of the prehistoric sites of Northern Ireland this monograph considers the prehistoric artefacts that have been found in Northern Ireland It aims to provide a basis for further research and also to stimulate local interest in the prehistory of Northern Ireland

Landscapes of Neolithic Ireland Gabriel Cooney,2012-12-06 Landscapes of Neolithic Ireland is the first volume to be devoted solely to the Irish Neolithic using an innovative landscape and anthropological perspective to provide significant new insights on the period Gabriel Cooney argues that the archaeological evidence demonstrates a much more complex picture than the current orthodoxy on Neolithic Europe with its assumption of mobile lifestyles suggests He integrates the study of landscape settlement agriculture material culture and burial practice to offer a rounded realistic picture of the complexities and the realities of Neolithic lives and societies in Ireland Past Perceptions Elizabeth Shee Twohig,1993-01-01 A collection of eighteen original essays which discusses the prehistoric archaeology of southwest Ireland from the earliest human settlement to the beginnings of the Iron Age The early prehistory in the west of Ireland: Investigations into the social archaeology of the Mesolithic, west of the Shannon, Ireland ,

Ireland's First Settlers Peter Woodman, 2015-12-31 Ireland's First Settlers tells the story of the archaeology and history of the first continuous phase of Ireland's human settlement. It combines centuries of search and speculation about human antiquity in Ireland with a review of what is known today about the Irish Mesolithic. This is in part provided in the context of the author's 50 years of personal experience searching to make sense of what initially appeared to be little more than a collection of beach-rolled and battered flint tools. The story is embedded in how the island of Ireland, its position, distinct landscape and ecology impacted on when and how Ireland was colonized. It also explores how these first settlers evolved their technologies and lifeways to suit the narrow range of abundant resources that were available. The volume concludes with discussions on how the landscape should be searched for the often ephemeral traces of these early settlers and how sites should be excavated. It asks what we really know about the thoughts and life of the people themselves and what happened to them as farming began to be introduced. Environmental Archaeology in Ireland Eileen M. Murphy, Nicki J. Whitehouse, 2007-10-10 This edited volume of 16 papers provides an introduction to the techniques and methodologies, approaches and potential of environmental archaeology within Ireland. Each of the 16 invited contributions focuses on a particular aspect of environmental archaeology and includes such specialist areas as radiocarbon dating, dendrochronology, palaeoentomology, human osteoarchaeology, palynology and geoarchaeology, thereby providing a comprehensive overview of environmental archaeology within an Irish context. The inclusion of pertinent case studies within each chapter will heighten awareness of the profusion of high standard environmental archaeological research that is currently being undertaken on Irish material. The book will provide a key text for students and practitioners of archaeology, archaeological science and palaeoecology. Defining a Regional Neolithic Kenneth Brophy, G. Barclay, 2009-05-29 This book is the ninth published collection of papers from a Neolithic Studies Group day conference and it continues the Group's aim of presenting research on the Neolithic of all parts of the British Isles. The topic, regional diversity, is an important theme in Neolithic studies today and embraces traditions of monumentality, settlement patterns and material culture. The contributors to this volume address issues of regionality through a series of case studies that focus not on the traditional cores of Wessex and Orkney but rather on other areas: the Irish Sea Zone, Ireland, Scotland, Yorkshire and the Midlands. The volume commences with an introduction by Gordon Barclay that expands on the initial impetus and research questions behind the 2001 conference; this volume is based on that. This is followed by a more abstract contribution analysing that most familiar of tools for the display of regional archaeological data: the distribution map. Kenneth Brophy. Two papers follow that address the role material culture plays in both defining and characterising regional trends: one addressing the distinctive regionality of querns in the Neolithic, Fiona Roe; the other a wide-ranging analysis of high status material culture and monumentality in Yorkshire, Roy Loveday. A series of regional studies follows with three papers focusing explicitly on a range of evidence from the Irish Sea zone: Vicki Cummings

Tom Clare and Aaron Watson and Richard Bradley A large and detailed body of evidence from the East Midlands is also considered Patrick Clay and the volume is completed by two papers considering very different regional scales in Ireland At a more localised level a series of islands off the east coast of Ireland are discussed in a local and wider context Gabriel Cooney and a still wider scale approach is taken to landscape and routeways across Ireland as a whole Carleton Jones These papers do not simply set up rival distinctive regions but rather suggest that local regional and national traditions cross cut and combine in different ways in different places The interaction between regions is as significant as intra regional distinctiveness This volume addresses how we might begin to develop a more nuanced vision of the Neolithic of the British Isles

Archaeology and Folklore Amy Gazin-Schwartz, Cornelius J. Holtorf, 2005-06-23 Archaeology and Folklore explores the complex relationship between the two disciplines to demonstrate what they might learn from each other This collection includes theoretical discussions and case studies drawn from Western Europe the Mediterranean and North They explore the differences between popular traditions relating to historic sites and archaeological interpretations of their history and meaning

Uisneach or the Center of Ireland Frédéric Armao, 2022-12-30 The hill of Uisneach lies almost exactly at the geographical center of Ireland Remarkably a fraction at least of the ancient Irish population was aware of that fact There is no doubt that the place of Uisneach in Irish mythology and more broadly speaking the Celtic world was of utmost importance Uisneach was and probably still is best defined as a sacred hill at the center of Ireland possibly the sacred hill of the center of Ireland Uisneach or the Center of Ireland explores the medieval documents connected with the hill and compares them with both archeological data and modern Irish folklore In the early 21st century a Fire Festival started being held on Uisneach in connection with the festival of Bealtaine in early May arguably in an attempt to echo more ancient traditions the celebration was attended by Michael D Higgins the current president of Ireland who lit the fire of Uisneach on 6 May 2017 This book argues that the symbolic significance of the hill has echoed the evolution of Irish society through time be it in political spiritual and religious terms or perhaps more accurately in terms of identity and Irishness It is relevant for scholars and advanced students in the fields of cultural history Irish history and cultural studies

The Intersection of Sacredness and Archaeology Donna L. Gillette, Thomas L. Sanders, 2024-10-01 At the point of the often contentious intersection of sacred site preservation and resource development archaeology has a unique and valuable role Archaeology has been criticized as a destroyer of sacred sites through the unbridled pursuit of knowledge through excavation or aiding unbridled development by failing to identify sacred sites However archaeology can act as a mitigator between the conflicting goals of preservation and development while giving the indigenous a voice At the heart of this mitigation is understanding the sacred how it might be physically manifested how those of diverse cultures understand it and how it is effected by the laws and norms of diverse cultures The purpose of this book is to enhance the discussion surrounding contemporary human interaction with our natural and cultural landscape Its first goal is make this discussion more productive and less contentious by presenting and thus recognizing the cultural ways of knowing and perspectives of indigenous people Its second goal is to foster the preservation of our sacred landscape As more and more of our physical landscape is being altered worldwide through rapid growth and development the cultural landscape is also being changed and challenged These changes often reflect the interests of some members of society while the interests of others including those of Native and Indigenous communities and many archaeologists environmentalists and others who understand the importance of knowing the past are disregarded The latter group is dedicated toward preserving special places and continuing to provide for Native people the ability to celebrate their traditions and focusing on defining the sacred landscape

A History of Settlement in Ireland Terry Barry, 2012-11-12 A History of Settlement in Ireland provides a stimulating and thought provoking overview of the settlement history of Ireland from prehistory to the present day Particular attention is paid to the issues of settlement change and distribution within the contexts of environment demography culture The collection goes further by setting the agenda for future research in this rapidly expanding area of academic interest This volume will be essential reading for all those with an interest in the archaeology history and social geography of Ireland

A New History of Ireland, Volume I Dáibhí Ó Cróinín, 2005-02-24 A New History of Ireland is the largest scholarly project in modern Irish history In 9 volumes it provides a comprehensive new synthesis of modern scholarship on every aspect of Irish history and prehistory from the earliest geological and archaeological evidence through the Middle Ages down to the present day Volume I begins by looking at geography and the physical environment Chapters follow that examine pre 3000 neolithic bronze age and iron age Ireland and Ireland up to 800 Society laws church and politics are all analysed separately as are architecture literature manuscripts language coins and music The volume is brought up to 1166 with chapters amongst others on the Vikings Ireland and its neighbours and opposition to the High Kings A final chapter moves further on in time examining Latin learning and literature in Ireland to 1500

From Bann Flakes to Bushmills Nyree Finlay, Sinead McCartan, Nicky Milner, Caroline Wickham-Jones, 2009-06-01 This volume of papers is dedicated to Peter Woodman in celebration of his contribution to archaeology providing a glimpse of the many ways in which he has touched the lives of so many The twenty one contributions cover many aspects of predominantly Mesolithic archaeology in Ireland mainland Britain and North west Europe reflecting the range and breadth of Peters own interests and the international esteem in which his work is held His particular interest in antiquarians and the material they collected began early in his career and Part 1 presents papers which deal with artefacts and finds by antiquarians Part 2 is concerned with papers on fieldwork projects both new sites and sites which have been re investigated predominantly focusing on the Mesolithic period Part 3 presents papers on the theme of people and animals particularly the topic of the Mesolithic Neolithic transition from different angles

Warfare and Society Ton Otto, Henrik Thrane, Helle Vandkilde, 2006-11-01 This book straddles the disciplines of archaeology and social anthropology Its 25 contributions divided into 6 sections with separate introductions successively scrutinise the concept of war in philosophy social theory and the history of anthropological and archaeological research discuss warfare in pre state and state societies and assess its relationship to rituals social identification and material culture

Enjoying the Song of Appearance: An Mental Symphony within The Prehistoric Archaeology Of Ireland

In some sort of eaten by screens and the ceaseless chatter of instantaneous conversation, the melodic splendor and mental symphony created by the prepared term often diminish into the back ground, eclipsed by the persistent noise and disturbances that permeate our lives.
