alive and relevant Chicago's White City of 1893 David F. Burg, 2021-10-21 In 1893 the year that marked the four hundredth anniversary of the landing of Columbus in the New World Chicago was host to an exposition to mark the occasion Although the World's Columbian Exposition was the fifteenth world's fair it was of vastly greater scope than any of its predecessors Chicago created a veritable new city It was not only larger than any previous exposition but also more elaborately designed more precisely laid out more fully realized and more prophetic It was the first exposition truly to solicit the participation of the entire world In this study of the White City David F. Burg shows America at a crossroads in its development It was in the process of moving from a largely agricultural society to a predominately urban and industrial one The exposition was an index of American values achievements and expectation in this era of profound and complex change The exposition was an achievement of cooperative endeavor and expertise It demonstrated that both artistic capacity and technology were available to transform in agreeable combination burgeoning industrial cities into well designed centers of business culture and community Burg places his discussion in the context of the United States and Chicago during the early 1890s Besides dealing with the multifaceted fair itself its architecture artworks music technological achievements he discusses the congresses that were held on a variety of subjects two of the most significant being the Congresses of Women and the World's Parliament of Religions In the exposition's theme was the potential of fashioning the Kingdom of God on earth in contrast to the chaotic dirty industrial cities of the time Burg finds in the exposition a significant legacy to architecture city planning and civic organization Its most promising aftereffect occurred in the City Beautiful movement its influence extended also to such ordinary concerns as well lighted streets efficient waste disposal and honest government

Sweet Clover (Esprios Classics) Clara Louise Burnham, 2023-12-12 Clara Louise Burnham nee Root May 25 1854 June 20 1927 was an American novelist After the success of No Gentlemen 1881 other books followed including A Sane Lunatic 1882 Dearly Bought 1884 Next Door 1886 Young Maids and Old 1888 The Mistress of Beech Knoll 1890 and Miss Bagg's Secretary 1892 The daughter of George Frederick Root she wrote the text for several of his most successful cantatas The 1923 film A Chapter in Her Life is based on Burnham's 1903 novel Jewel A Chapter in Her Life Born in Massachusetts she died at the family home in Maine in 1927 The Atlantic Monthly, 1895 Chicago Frederik Byrn Køhlert, 2021-09-23 Chicago occupies a central position in both the geography and literary history of the United States From its founding in 1833 through to its modern incarnation the city has served as both a thoroughfare for the nation's goods and a crossroads for its cultural energies The idea of Chicago as a crossroads of modern America is what guides this literary history which traces how writers have responded to a rapidly changing urban environment and labored to make sense of its place in and implications for the larger whole In writing that engages with the world's first skyscrapers and elevated railroads extreme economic and racial inequality a growing middle class ethnic and multiethnic neighborhoods the Great Migration of African Americans and the city's contemporary incarnation as a cosmopolitan urban center Chicago has been home to a diverse literature that has both captured and guided the themes of modern America Literary Chicago Greg Holden, 2001 A collection of anecdotes and excerpts collected from Chicago's rich literary legacy with profiles of the neighborhoods featured in key works and those that inspired some of the city's authors
