Survey Of Health Reform In Central Asia:

A Survey of Health Reform in Central Asia Jeni Klugman, George Schieber, Timothy E. Heleniak, 1996-01-01 World Bank Technical Paper No 352 Six years into the transition from planned to market economies in Central and Eastern Europe high unemployment rates including a growing proportion of the long term unemployed represent a serious challenge to social welfare systems and policymakers This paper analyzes labor market development in nine transition countries of the region by focusing on the dynamics of labor force behavior employment and unemployment The countries include Bulgaria Croatia the Czech Republic the Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia Hungary Poland Romania the Slovak Republic and Slovenia

Implementing Health Sector Reform in Central Asia Zuzana Feachem, Martin Hensher, Laura Rose, 1999 It is easy for reformers and their overseas advisers to develop conceptually strong plans for health sector reform that appeal to governments donors and academics Transforming these plans into successful action has proved to be extremely difficult Toward the goal of improving assistance to this sector the Economic Development Institute EDI of the World Bank held a seminar in Ashgabat Turkmenistan in June 1996 This publication provides a summary of the proceedings and papers presented at that seminar It was attended by delegations from five countries in Central Asia and from Azerbaijan and Mongolia The content of this volume emphasizes topics central to the restructuring of health sector financing and health care delivery systems at a time of transition to market economies and to democracy Maintaining and improving the health status of the population while preventing rapid escalation of health care expenditure were the recurrent themes throughout the seminar

Who is Paying for Health Care in Eastern Europe and Central Asia? Maureen A. Lewis, 2000-01-01 Informal payments in the health sector of Eastern and Central Asia are emerging as a fundamental aspect of health care financing and a serious impediment to health care reform These informal payments made to individuals or institutions in cash or in kind are nearly always for services that are meant to be covered by the health care system Such private payments to public personnel have created an informal market for health care and are a form of corruption This problem's roots are traced to declining revenues which have not coincided with a reduction in buildings hospital beds and health personnel In these circumstances informal payments compensate for lost earnings and therefore reforms to modernise the region's health systems must compete with individuals' personal revenues Options for addressing this problem include comprehensive anticorruption policies downsizing of the public health system reducing the set of services subsidised by the state encouraging cost sharing with those who can afford it improving accountability and promoting private alternatives The

Transformation of Central Asia Pauline Jones Luong, 2018-08-06 With the fall of the Soviet Union in 1991 former Communist Party leaders in Central Asia were faced with the daunting task of building states where they previously had not existed Kazakhstan Kyrgyzstan Tajikistan Turkmenistan and Uzbekistan Their task was complicated by the institutional and ideological legacy of the Soviet system as well as by a more actively engaged international community These nascent states inherited a set of institutions that included bloated bureaucracies centralized economic planning and patronage networks Some of these institutions survived others have mutated and new institutions have been created Experts on Central Asia here examine the emerging relationship between state actors and social forces in the region Through the prism of local institutions the authors reassess both our understanding of Central Asia and of the state building process more broadly They scrutinize a wide array of institutional actors ranging from regional governments and neighborhood committees to transnational and non governmental organizations With original empirical research and theoretical insight the volume s contributors illuminate an obscure but resource rich and strategically significant region Prospects for Improving

Nutrition in Eastern Europe and Central Asia Claudia Rokx,Rae Galloway,Lynn Brown,2002 This report presents an overview of critical nutrition issues effecting the Eastern European and Central Asian ECA countries and suggests strategies for improvement The ECA region is diverse in economic political and social structures as are the nutrition problems in the region The report finds that in addition to poverty lack of knowledge about basic nutrition among populations is also a key determinant of malnutrition in the ECA region The Family in Central Asia Sophie Roche,2020-08-10 No detailed
