packaging that can provide to food the necessary protection conditions but at the same time is biodegradable and can be disposed as organic waste to the landfills in order to biodegrade through a natural procedure. In this way, sustainable packaging becomes part of the circular economy. Sustainable Food Packaging Technology deals with packaging solutions that use engineered biopolymers or biocomposites that have suitable physicochemical properties for food contact and protection and originate both from renewable or non-renewable resources but in both cases are compostable or edible. Modified paper and cardboard with increased protective properties towards food while keeping their compostability are presented as well. The book also covers natural components that can make the packaging functional, e.g., by providing active protection to the food, indicating food spoilage. Addresses urgent problems food packaging creates a lot of hard-to-recycle waste; this book puts forward more sustainable solutions using biodegradable materials. State-of-the-art Sustainable Food Packaging Technology provides knowledge on new developments in functional packaging. From lab to large-scale applications, expert authors report on the technology aspects of sustainable packaging.
