The Muslim World After 9/11 Angel Rabasa, 2004 Examines the dynamics that drive changes in the religious political landscape of the Muslim world the effects of 9 11 the global war on terrorism and the war in Iraq The authors present a typology of ideological tendencies identify the factors that produce religious extremism religious violence assess key cleavages along sectarian ethnic regional and national lines and identify possible strategies and military options for the United States to pursue in this critical and volatile part of the world The Muslim World After 9/11, 2004 The tectonic events of the past three years September 11 and Operation Enduring Freedom the global war on terrorism and the war in Iraq and its aftermath have dramatically affected the Muslim world and attitudes toward the United States However some of the dynamics that are influencing the environment in Muslim countries are also the product of trends that have been at work for many decades The continuation of these trends will make management of the security environment in the Muslim world more difficult in years to come and could increase the demands on U S political and military resources Consequently it is important to develop a shaping strategy toward the Muslim world that will help to ameliorate the conditions that produce religious and political extremism and anti U S attitudes This RAND Corporation study has several purposes 1 to develop a typology of ideological tendencies in the different regions of the Muslim world to identify the sectors with which the United States can find common ground to promote democracy and stability and counter the influence of extremist and violent groups 2 to identify the factors that produce religious extremism and violence i e the conditions processes and catalytic events that have given rise to Islamic radicalism 3 to identify the key cleavages and fault lines among sectarian ethnic regional and national lines and to assess how these cleavages generate challenges and opportunities for the United States and 4 to identify possible strategies and sets of political and military options to help the United States meet challenges and exploit opportunities presented by changed conditions in the Muslim world The regional structure of the report recognizes that while events since September 11 have affected U S relations with all parts of the Muslim world they have done so in different ways in different regions Abbreviations glossary and an extensive bibliography are included Freedom of Expression Debates in Europe and the Muslim World after 9/11 Haris bin Aziz, 2023-10-03 Freedom of Expression Debates in Europe and the Muslim World after 9 11 discusses freedom of expression debates as it relates to Islam that emerged in Europe after 9 11 and subsequent Muslim reaction The major controversies covered are the Jyllands Posten 2005 cartoons in Denmark the Charlie Hebdo caricatures and the attacks on its offices in 2015 in France as well as Dutch film controversy of 2008 are analyzed at length Socio political conditions in respective countries in relation to Muslims are also taken into account along with detailed description of the background of each controversy The Western concept of freedom of expression and religion is examined both theoretically and in light of relevant laws at domestic regional and international levels Minor controversies regarding freedom of Muslim expression in different European countries are also surveyed with reactions of international human rights organizations The Laws governing freedom of expression freedom of religion and blasphemy in major European and Muslim countries are also given space The book tries to find the answer to a burning question i e what is freedom of expression and what are its limitations In search of the answer the book tries to encompass all relevant aspects of the debate both from the West in general Europe in particular and the Muslim World
