The Mind Of The Universe Understanding Science Religion:

The Mind of the Universe Mariano Artigas,2000 The Mind of the Universe written by a philosopher and physicist provides a study in which a competent presentation of physical discoveries is combined with a rational search for philosophical presuppositions of science An important contribution to the dialogue between religion and science it will inspire new attempts at bridging science and philosophy in their common search for the hidden meaning of the new scientific theories

Science and Faith within Reason Jaume Navarro,2016-04-01 Scientists historians philosophers and theologians often engage in debates on the limitations and mutual interactions of their respective fields of study Serious discussions are often overshadowed by the mass produced popular and semi popular literature on science and religion as well as by the political agendas of many of the actors in these debates For some reducing religion and science to forms of social discourse is a possible way out from epistemological overlapping between them yet is there room for religious faith only when science dissolves into one form of social discourse The religion thus rescued would have neither rational legitimisation nor metaphysical validity but if both scientific and religious theories try to make absolute claims on all possible aspects of reality then conflict between them seems almost inevitable In this book leading authors in the field of science and religion including William Carroll Steve Fuller Karl Giberson and Roger Trigg highlight the oft neglected and profound philosophical foundations that underlie some of the most frequent questions at the boundary between science and religion the reality of knowledge and the notions of creation life and design In tune with Mariano Artigas s work the authors emphasise that these are neither religious nor scientific but serious philosophical questions

The Mystery of Reason Paul Haffner,2001 The Mystery of Reason investigates the enterprise of human thought searching for God People have always found stepping stones to God s existence carved in the world and in the human condition This book examines the classical proofs of God s existence and affirms their continued validity It shows that human thought can connect with God and with other aspects of religious experience Moreover it depicts how Christian faith is reasonable and is neither blind nor naked Without reason belief would degenerate into fundamentalism but without faith human thought can remain stranded on the reef of its own self sufficiency This book proposes that the human mind must be in partnership with the human heart in any quest for God Paul Haffner is lecturer in systematic and dogmatic theology in Rome at the Pontifical Gregorian University the Pontifical Lateran University and the Pontifical Athenaeum Regina Apostolorum In this series he has published The Mystery of Creation The Mystery of Mary and The Sacramental Mystery

Calvinism and the Making of the European Mind ,2014-09-18 Calvinism must be assigned a significant place among the forces that have shaped modern European culture Even now despite its history of religious fragmentation and secularization Europe continues to bear the marks of a pervasive Calvinist ethos The character of that ethos is however difficult to pin down In this volume many of the traditional scholarly conundrums about the relationship between Calvinism and the cultural history of Europe are revisited and re investigated to see what new light can be shed on them For example how has the ethos of Calvinism or more broadly the Reformed tradition affected economic thinking and practice the development of the sciences views on religious toleration or the constitution of European polities In general what kind of transformations did Calvinism s distinct spirituality bring about Such questions demand painstaking and detailed scholarly work a fine sample of which is published in this volume Truth Matters John G. Trapani, 2004 Drawing upon the richness and breadth of Jacques Maritain s thought the contributors to this volume engage readers with philosophical essays about the search for truth in human life and civic engagement The essays examine a broad range of topics from those that are more properly theoretical such as God science natural law practical reason education and democracy to those that are more practical such as capital punishment eugenics friendship love and art In each essay the author implicitly challenges the claims of relativism and postmodernism specifically the idea that there is no real truth and that what matters is merely the perspective of one s own frame of reference The essays argue instead that theoretical truth claims have practical consequences that truth matters to those who are affected by it In addition to the editor the contributors are Gavin T Colvert John A D Cuddeback Raymond Dennehy Bernard E Doering Desmond J FitzGerald Sarah J Fodor William J Fossati W Matthews Grant James G Hanink Katie Hollenberg Gregory Kerr James P Mesa Peter Pagan Matthew S Pugh James V Schall S J Michael D Torre John R Traffas Cornelia A Tsakiridou Timothy S Valentine S J A Leo White Anne M Wiles and Henk E S Woldring John G Trapani Jr is Professor of Philosophy and Chair of the Humanities Division at Walsh University in North Canton Ohio The Promise and Peril of AI and IA Ted Peters, 2023-12-31 How should public theologians and social ethicists assess anticipate and amend the projected path taken by Artificial Intelligence and Intelligence Amplification With the advent of generative AI along with large language models suddenly our techie whiz kids are sounding the fire alarm Will a Frankenstein monster escape its creator s design Will more highly evolved superintelligence render today s human race extinct Is this generation morally obligated to give birth to a tomorrow in which we outdated humans can no longer participate This book collects foresighted analyses and recommendations from computer scientists neuroscientists AI ethicists along with Christian and Muslim theologians Belief or Unbelief Joseph Ramos, 2023-12-29 There are two tragedies in life to live life believing God exists and finding this to be an illusion and to live life believing God does not exist but finding that God does exist Nonbelievers readily concede that belief in God is the more hopeful cosmovision but the issue is if in fact this belief corresponds to reality But can anything new be said on the issue of God s existence Rather than arguing deductively as is typical in philosophy Belief or Unbelief innovates by following an inductive approach as is typical in science where it infers the existence of God as more reasonable in the light of philosophic considerations and the findings of modern science Inferential arguments sacrifice rigor and definitive conclusions but rather aim at arriving at the likelier conclusion Belief or Unbelief concludes that belief in God is not only a more hopeful cosmovision than unbelief but that it is also the more reasonable inference It is addressed to intellectually curious and open minded lay persons believers and nonbelievers courageous enough to reexamine their basic convictions

Between Rhetoric and Reality Munyaradzi Mawere, Samuel Awuah-Nyamekye, 2015-04-03 Since time immemorial indigenous peoples around the world have developed knowledge systems to ensure their continued survival in their respective territories. These knowledge systems have always been dynamic such that they could meet new challenges. Yet since the so-called enlightenment period, these knowledges have been supplanted by the Western enlightenment science or colonial science hegemony and arrogance such that in many cases they were relegated to the periphery. Some Eurocentric scholars even viewed indigenous knowledge as superstitious, irrational, and anti-development. This erroneous view has since the colonial period spread like wild fire to the extent of being internalised by some political elites and Eurocentric academics of Africa and elsewhere. However, for some time now, the potential role that indigenous peoples and their knowledge can play in addressing some of the global problems haunting humanity across the world is increasingly emerging as part of international discourse. This book presents an interesting and insightful discourse on the state and role that indigenous knowledge can play in addressing a tapestry of problems of the world and the challenges connected with the application of indigenous knowledge in enlightenment science dominated contexts. The book is not only useful to academics and students in the fields of indigenous studies and anthropology but also those in other fields such as environmental science, social and political ecology, development studies, policy studies, economic history, and African studies.

Cosmic Prayer and Guided Transformation Robert Govaerts, 2012-08-29 This book presents a realistic and thoroughly spiritual outlook upon the entire created reality. It lets us envisage that various created entities are participant in a relationship with God that becomes increasingly one of an intimate personal quality that is a relationship of love. It thus invites discernment that the universal reality is valuable in its own right and not only as a good for the use of humanity. Drawing mainly upon Scripture, ancient writers especially Maximus the Confessor, as well as contemporary natural sciences, this book encourages the reader to perceive human salvation not as a lifting of humanity out of creation but as a transformation into God's presence in the midst of the wider created order. It shows that Christian faith at its best does not exclude the wider creation but provides us with insight and hope for a harmonious being in God that is inclusive of creation. It shows that Christian faith can be a resource that helps overcome the ecological crisis.

Relationality and Resilience in a Not So Relational World? Nhemachena, Artwell, 2017-03-08 This book critically examines the relevance of the increasingly popular theories on relationality by interfacing those theories with the African Shona modes of engagement known as chivanhu, often erroneously narrowly translated as tradition. In other words, the book takes seriously concerns by African scholars that much of the theories that have been applied in Africa do not speak to relevance and faithfulness to the continent. Situated in a recent Zimbabwean context marked by multiple crises producing multiple forms of violence and war, the book examines the relevance of relational ontologies and epistemologies to the everyday life modes of engagements by villagers in a selected district. The book unflinchingly surfaces the strengths and weaknesses of popular theories while at the same time underlining the exigencies of theorising from Africa using African data as the millstones. By meticulously and painstakingly unpacking pertinent issues, the book provides unparalleled intellectual grit for the contemporary and increasingly popular discourses on decoloniality and resilience in relation to the African peoples and their often deliberately contested environments, past, present and future. In other words, the book loudly sounds the bells for the battles to decolonise and transform Africa on Africa's own terms. This is a book that would be extremely useful to scholars, activists, theorists, policy makers and implementers as well as researchers interested not only in Africa's future trajectory but also in the simultaneities of temporalities and worlds that were sadly overshadowed by colonial epistemologies and ontologies for the past centuries.
