Hezbollah, Islamist Politics, and International Society Filippo Dionigi, 2014-12-16 How do the norms of the liberal international order affect the activity of Islamist movements This book analyzes and assesses the extent to which Islamist groups which have traditionally attempted to shield their communities from alien moral conceptions have been affected by the rules and principles that regulate international society Through an analysis of Lebanon's Hezbollah Filippo Dionigi concludes that international norms are among the most significant factors changing Islamist politics The result is a precarious but innovative equilibrium in which Islamists are forced to rethink idea of an allegedly authentic Islamic morality and the legitimacy of international norms

Reading Germany Gideon Reuveni, 2006 By closely examining the interaction between intellectual and material culture in the period before the Nazis came to power in Germany the author comes to the conclusion that contrary to widely held assumptions consumer culture in the Weimar period far from undermining reading used reading culture to enhance its goods and values Reading material was marked as a consumer good while reading as an activity raising expectations as it did influenced consumer culture Consequently consumption contributed to the diffusion of reading culture while at the same time a popular reading culture strengthened consumption and its values Gideon Reuveni is Director of the Centre for German Jewish Studies at the University of Sussex He is the co editor of The Economy in Jewish History Berghahn 2010 and several other books on different aspects of Jewish history Presently he is working on a book on consumer culture and the making of Jewish identity in Europe

Political Literacy in Composition and Rhetoric Donald Lazere, 2015-07-20 In Political Literacy in Composition and Rhetoric Donald Lazere calls for revival of NCTE resolutions in the 1970s for teaching the critical reading listening viewing and thinking skills necessary to enable students to cope with the persuasive techniques in political statements advertising entertainment and news and explores the reasons these goals have been eclipsed in composition studies over recent decades Obstacles to those goals have included the emphasis in the profession on basic and first year writing at the expense of more advanced study in argumentative rhetoric and on the privileging of students personal writing over critical study of both academic and political discourse Lazere further argues that theorists who legitimately champion students pluralistic local communities sometimes fail to recognize that liberal education can enable students to grow beyond their home cultures to critical awareness of national and international politics

Finally he argues that the fixation in recent composition studies on liberally inclined students and communities on the margins has eclipsed attention to the conservative conformity long prevalent in mainstream American society and education. His proposals for curriculum and pedagogy seek to introduce students to a more highly informed cogent and open ended level of debate between the political left and right.
