Challenging Global Inequality Alastair Greig, David Hulme, Mark Turner, 2007-01-16. This major introductory text written by 3 leading names in the field provides an accessible overview of the challenges faced in overcoming global poverty and inequality in the 21st century. Through an in-depth assessment of development theory and practice, the authors set out to advance two key arguments: the first being the importance of historically contextualizing contemporary developmental problems in order to assess policy proposals, and the second that inequality matters and how this notion has continually remained a central feature of development debates from colonial times to present day. Ideal for undergraduate students taking development modules as part of political science and international relations degrees, this engaging text proves to be essential reading when exploring the impacts of development on today's international political economy. With each chapter covering inequalities from all different angles, the authors clearly outline the impact of models such as globalization and neoliberalism as well as offering alternative views on the challenges posed by the UN's Millennium Development Goals. Microcredit and Women's Empowerment Aminul Faraizi, Taskinur Rahman, Jim McAllister, 2014-04-04. Using a case study of Bangladesh and based on a long-term participatory observation method, this book investigates claims of the success of microcredit as well as the critiques of it in the context of women's empowerment. It confronts the distinction between women's increasing wealth as a consequence of the success of microcredit programmes and their apparent non-commensurate empowerment. Looking at two organisations, the Grameen Bank and the Bangladesh Rural Advancement Committee as they operate in two localities in rural Bangladesh in order to discover how enrichment and empowerment are often confused. The book goes on to establish that the well-publicised success stories of the microcredit programme are blown out of proportion and that the dynamics of collective responsibility for repayment of loans by a group of women borrowers, usually seen to be a tool for the success of microcredit, is in fact no less repressive than traditional debt collectors This book makes a contribution to development debates challenging adherents to more closely specify those conditions under which microcredit does indeed have validity as well as providing insights relevant to South Asian Studies and Development Studies      Phases of Rural Development in Malaysia: Shifting Towards Human Resource Development and Well-being (UUM Press) Kalthum Hassan ,Chamhuri Siwar,2021-11-28 The rural development approach should be flexible and dynamic to correspond with the transformation of the rural economy and society Therefore the phases of rural development in Malaysia illustrate the transformation of rural development approaches in Malaysia and how these approaches have changed the overall rural landscape Different from other books on rural development this book presents discussion and analysis on rural development approaches since after independence until during the COVID 19 pandemic The content of the book is a mixture of primary and secondary information gathered from literature reviews interviews and on site observation It provides a diverse and rich discussion on various aspects of rural development approaches The early phase of development approach which was at macro level targeting the mass of rural poverty since the poverty incidence was high The goal of rural development was two prongs to develop the economy infrastructure and facility of the rural areas and to alleviate poverty As the incidence of poverty has reduced remarkably the development approach has separated from the poverty alleviation programmes Development initiatives was more to provide basic urban infrastructure and facilities to develop human resources through skill training and improve level of education of the rural residents In addition rural development provides employment opportunities through decentralization of industrial sector to rural areas and fosters entrepreneurship activities Meanwhile the poverty alleviation programmes are tackled at micro level that is more towards individual or a household level The outbreak of COVID 19 pandemic alters the approach of rural development focusing on providing facilities services and assistance to preserve the well being of rural community especially the low income group      Religion and Development in Southern and Central Africa: Vol 2 Amanze, James N.,Masango, Maake,2020-01-19 This book is a result of a joint conference which was held from 18th 22nd July 2017 under the theme Religion Citizenship and Development Southern African Perspectives The theme of the conference was adopted in order to underline the importance and significance of religion in the socio economic development of people in the world generally and in Southern and Central Africa in particular The papers in the book are divided into two volumes Volume one consists of papers which directly discuss religion and development in one form or another The second volume contains papers that discuss religion and other pertinent issues related to development The papers are grouped into sub themes for ease of reference These include Citizenship and Development Migration and Development Disability and Development Pentecostal Churches and Development and Religion and Society All in all despite a divergence of sub themes in volume two all point to issues to do with the role of religion in development in Southern and Central Africa today      Gender Economics: Breakthroughs in Research and Practice Management Association, Information Resources,2018-12-07 Gender Economics

Science and Technology in a Developing World T. Shinn, J. Spaapen, V.V. Krishna, 2013-04-17 block possible Soviet expansion by mobilizing European democracies the policy soon extended to some developing countries in Asia and Latin America In response the USSR gradually initiated development programs for newly independent nations in Asia and Africa In this context super power rivalry operated in the South to i expand spheres of influence and control ii guard Southern nations from the influence and incursions launched by the opposed camp iii stimulate indigenous development With few exceptions Southern nations provided little input to the definition and execution of North South dynamics during this period In the case of Africa and to some extent Asia the acquisition of independence was so recent and often sudden that there was little time to reflect on the kind of policies and measures needed to build balanced relations with the former mother country In Latin America the Monroe Doctrine had long insured that the region was a virtual captive of the US Aid for development was contingent on conformity to US political and economic interests The cognitive component of South North dealings strongly reflected the two above mentioned dispositions The relative lack of political experience in the South and the dearth of an organized and sizable intellectual academic community meant that there were few cognitive and human resources for undertaking careful study and analysis of the conditions and needs of development from a Southern perspective influential exceptions existed though such as Raul Prebisch in Latin America or Gandhi in India
