

THE STRAITS CHINESE

A Cultural History

Since ancient times, Southeast Asia has been an important link in the trade routes connecting China with India, Arabia and Europe. Contacts between China and the states of the Malay-Indonesian archipelago were reported as early as the fifth century AD, and Chinese tradespeople began to settle in this region in the 15th century. Chinese communities emerged in the port cities of Java, Sumatra and other islands of the archipelago, and especially along the west coast of the Malay Peninsula, in what would become known as the Straits Settlements: Penang, Malacca and Singapore.

These 'Straits Chinese' adapted to a wide variety of local conditions, and — subjected to Malay, European and Indian cultural influences — eventually developed a unique cultural identity. The main characteristics of Straits Chinese arts and architecture are their highly ornate nature, intricate detail and especially their idiosyncratic style, which reflects the above mentioned blend of influences.

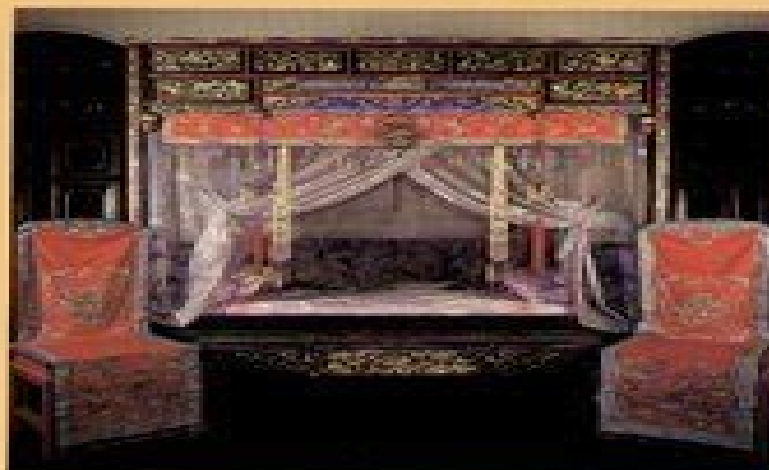

This book provides a detailed account of the development of the Straits Chinese social and material culture. The text is illustrated with many historical photographs, and a very large selection of high quality colour plates of architecture, furniture, costumes, beadwork, textiles, embroidery, gold and silver jewellery, domestic objects and ceramics.

Dr Khoo Joo Ee, a Straits Chinese from Penang, is the curator of the Asian Art Museum in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia. She studied fine art and history of art in Malaysia, the Netherlands, England and the USA, and obtained her Doctorate from the University of London in 1976. She has focused more than twenty years of scholarly research on the cultures of Southeast Asia, particularly the Straits Chinese, culminating in this first comprehensive publication on this subject.

Straits Chinese A Cultural History:

The Straits Chinese Joo Ee Khoo, 1996 Imagining Malaya Bernard Z. Keo, 2025-01-02 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4.0 International licence. It is free to read on the Oxford Academic platform and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations. The end of Britain's empire in Southeast Asia in the wake of World War II generated new opportunities for colonial subjects across the region to reimagine themselves as citizens of a dizzying array of potential new nations. While post-war optimism and a global push for decolonisation created an environment where myriad communities felt a palpable sense of possibility for bringing their aspirations of nationhood to life, many of these desires were unfulfilled. Imagining Malaya is an exploration of one of those many imagined nations that never came to be. It narrates a series of seemingly disparate and contradictory political acts by the Peranakan Chinese, a creolised community borne of intermarriage between the earliest Chinese migrants to the region and indigenous Malays in the post-World War II period, to demonstrate that the community were in fact seeking to bring to life a cosmopolitan, inclusive and multi-ethnic imagination of the Malay si an nation. Engaging in a critical re-examination of the intertwined processes of decolonization and nation-making, Imagining Malaya provides an alternative reading of Malay si an s path to merdeka, independence from the perspective of the Peranakan. It narrates how a once powerful community at the centre of Malay si an politics and society came undone by their attempts to present an alternative imagination of the nation which challenged the ethnocentrism that came to dominate the country's political life. Rewriting the Peranakan into the centre of Malaysia's national story rather than its periphery is a parable on the complexities and pitfalls of attempting to forge a representative nation-state from a multi-ethnic society during the transition between colony and nation. By bringing the Peranakan imaginary of the nation to life, Bernard Z. Keo makes a case for how studying nations that were unrealized can reveal just as much as investigating those that were.

The Straits Chinese Joo Ee Khoo, 1996 Geschiedenis van Chinese kooplieden die zich vestigden in Maleisie aan de Straat van Malakka Legal Histories of the British Empire Shaunnagh Dorsett, John McLaren, 2014-04-24 This book is a major contribution to our understanding of the role played by law's in the British Empire. Using a variety of interdisciplinary approaches, the authors provide in-depth analyses which shine new light on the role of law in creating the people and places of the British Empire. Ranging from the United States through Calcutta across Australasia to the Gold Coast, these essays seek to investigate law's central place in the British Empire and the role of its agents in embedding British rule and culture in colonial territories. One of the first collections to provide a sustained engagement with the legal histories of the British Empire in particular beyond the settler colonies, this work aims to encourage further scholarship and new approaches to the writing of the histories of that Empire. Legal Histories of the British Empire: Laws, Engagements and Legacies will be of value not only to legal scholars and graduate students but of interest to all of those who want to know more about the laws in and of the British Empire.

Gateway to Peranakan Culture (2009 Edition - EPUB)

Catherine Lim GS,2018-10-11 You are probably familiar with the spicy Peranakan cuisine or even have friends who are great at cooking it But there is definitely more to the Peranakan culture than what s cooking in the kitchen Have you ever wondered why they speak the way they do Why are they always singing the dondang sayang What is the big deal about cherki games And more importantly what does it mean to be a Peranakan With a heritage that combines the best of the Chinese and Malay cultures the hybrid nature of the Peranakans has yielded enviable works of art in the realm of architecture embroidery beadwork and the culinary arts Join us on a colourful journey into the history lifestyle and unique character of the Peranakan people Singapore Ethnic Mosaic, The: Many Cultures, One People Mathews Mathew,2017-10-31 Far from being a melting pot multi racial Singapore prides itself on the richness of its ethnic communities and cultures This volume provides an updated account of the heterogeneity within each of the main communities the Chinese Malay Indian Eurasian and Others It also documents the ethnic cultures of these communities by discussing their histories celebrations cultural symbols life cycle rituals cultural icons and attempts to preserve culture While chapters are written by scholars drawing insight from a variety of sources ranging from academic publications to discussions with community experts it is written in an accessible way This volume seeks to increase intercultural understanding through presenting ample insights into the cultural beliefs and practices of the different ethnic communities While this book is about diversity a closer examination of the peoples and cultures of Singapore demonstrates the many similarities communities share in this Singaporean space The Baba of Melaka Tan Chee-Beng,2022-12-07 The fullest and most comprehensive ethnography of the Baba community in Malaysia The author is a meticulous ethnographer and provides three chapters of richly detailed information on Baba kinship and marriage practices ancestor worship Chinese folk religion and festivals and a variety of Baba social patterns and organizations This is certainly a necessary and pleasurable reading materials for scholars of Malaysia and for those interested in ethnicity more generally Professor Judith Nagata Pacific Affairs 62 2 1989 Based on a long term ethnographic study the new edition of this book provides a comprehensive description of Baba culture and identity in Melaka Malaysia Tan Chee Beng s landmark study analyses the term Baba the development of Baba society their distribution in Melaka and overt features of identity the Baba Malay dialect customs and religion kinship and social interactions all of which tie in to changes in Baba identity By discussing cultural change and ethnic identification of a Chinese Peranakan community in Malaysia the reader can gain a more complete understanding of this unique minority group within a minority in a rapidly changing Malaysian context A Grammar of Modern Baba Malay Nala H. Lee,2022-02-07 This book documents modern Baba Malay a critically endangered Austronesian based contact language with a Sinitic substrate Formed via intermarriage between Hokkien speaking male traders and indigenous women in the Malay Peninsula the language has less than 1 000 speakers in Singapore and less than 1 000 speakers in Malacca Malaysia This volume fills a gap for reference grammars of contact languages in general Reference grammars written on contact languages are rare and much rarer is a reference grammar written about a critically endangered Austronesian based contact language The reference grammar which aims to be useful to linguists and general readers interested in Baba Malay describes the language s sociohistorical background its circumstances of endangerment and provides information regarding the phonology parts of speech and syntax of Baba Malay as spoken in Singapore A chapter that differentiates this variety from that spoken in Malacca is also included The grammar demonstrates that the nature of Baba Malay is highly systematic and not altogether simple providing structural information for those who are interested in the typology of contact languages

Rethinking Chinese Transnational Enterprises Leo Douw,Cen Huang,David Ip,2013-10-11 Affinity to the Chinese culture personalized social networks and a firm control of ownership and management have often been considered the key ingredients for the success of many diaspora Chinese transnational enterprises in South China and Southeast Asia In view of the recent Asian crisis and the rapid changes imposed by globalization scholars are increasingly concerned whether these family owned Chinese transnational enterprises would survive the challenges in the new millennium

Indian and Chinese Immigrant Communities Jayati Bhattacharya,Coonoor Kripalani,2015-03-01 This interdisciplinary collection of essays offers a window onto the overseas Indian and Chinese communities in Asia Contributors discuss the interactive role of the cultural and religious other the diasporic absorption of local beliefs and customs and the practical business networks and operational mechanisms unique to these communities Growing out of an international workshop organized by the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies in Singapore and the Centre of Asian Studies at the University of Hong Kong this volume explores material cultural and imaginative features of the immigrant communities and brings together these two important communities within a comparative framework
