Empires of Print Patrick Scott Belk, 2017-05-08 At the turn of the twentieth century the publishing industries in Britain and the United States underwent dramatic expansions and reorganization that brought about an increased traffic in books and periodicals around the world Focusing on adventure fiction published from 1899 to 1919 Patrick Scott Belk looks at authors such as Joseph Conrad H G Wells Conan Doyle and John Buchan to explore how writers of popular fiction engaged with foreign markets and readers through periodical publishing Belk argues that popular fiction particularly the adventure genre developed in ways that directly correlate with authors experiences and shows that popular genres of the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries emerged as one way of marketing their literary works to expanding audiences of readers worldwide Despite an over determined print space altered by the rise of new kinds of consumers and transformations of accepted habits of reading publishing and writing the changes in British and American publishing at the turn of the twentieth century inspired an exciting new period of literary invention and experimentation in the adventure genre and the greater part of that invention and experimentation was happening in the magazines

Narrative Hospitality in Late Victorian Fiction Rachel Hollander,2013-01-17 Bringing together poststructuralist ethical theory with late Victorian debates about the morality of literature this book reconsiders the ways in which novels engender an ethical orientation or response in their readers explaining how the intersections of nation family and form in the late realist English novel produce a new ethics of hospitality Hollander reads texts that both portray and enact a unique ethical orientation of welcoming the other a narrative hospitality that combines the Victorians commitment to engaging with the real world with a more modern awareness of difference and the limits of knowledge While classic nineteenth century realism rests on a sympathy based model of moral relations novels by authors such as George Eliot Thomas Hardy and Olive Schreiner present instead an ethical recognition of the distance between self and other Opening themselves to the other in their very structure and narrative form the visited texts both represent and theorize the ethics of hospitality anticipating twentieth century philosophy s recognition of the limits of sympathy As colonial conflicts nationalist anxiety and the intensification of the woman question became dominant cultural concerns in the 1870s and 80s the problem of self and other known and unknown began to saturate and define the representation of home in the English novel This book argues that in the wake of an erosion of confidence in the ability to understand that which is unlike the self a moral code founded on sympathy gave way to an ethics of hospitality in which the concept of home shifts to acknowledge the permeability and vulnerability of not only domestic but also national spaces Concluding with Virginia Woolf s reexamination of the novel s potential to educate the reader in negotiating relations of alterity in a more fully modernist moment Hollanders suggest that the late Victorian novel embodies a unique and previously unrecognized ethical mode between Victorian realism and a post World War I ethics of modernist form

Theoretical Schools and Circles in the Twentieth-Century Humanities Marina Grishakova, Silvi Salupere, 2015-04-10 Schools and circles have been a major force in twentieth century intellectual movements They fostered circulation of ideas within and between disciplines thus altering the shape of intellectual inquiry This volume offers a new perspective on theoretical schools in the humanities both as generators of conceptual knowledge and as cultural phenomena The structuralist semiotic phenomenological and hermeneutical schools and circles have had a deep impact on various disciplines ranging from literary studies to philosophy historiography and sociology The volume focuses on a set of loosely interrelated groups with a strong literary linguistic and semiotic component but extends to the fields of philosophy and history the interdisciplinary conjunctions arising from a sense of conceptual kinship It includes chapters on unstudied or less studied groups such as Tel Aviv School of poetics and semiotics or the research group Poetics and Hermeneutics The volume presents a significant supplement to the standard historical accounts of literary critical and related theory in the twentieth century It enhances and complicates our understanding of the twentieth century intellectual and academic history by showing schools and circles in the state of germination dialogue controversy or decline in their respective historical and institutional settings while reaching simultaneously beyond those dense settings to the new cultural and ideological situations of the twenty first century

John G. Peters, 2006-09-14 Joseph Conrad is one of the most intriguing and important modernist novelists. His writing continues to preoccupy twenty-first century readers. This introduction by a leading scholar is aimed at students coming to Conrad's work for the first time. The rise of postcolonial studies has inspired interest in Conrad's themes of travel, exploration, and racial and ethnic conflict. John Peters explains how these themes are explored in his major works Nostromo, Lord Jim, and Heart of Darkness, as well as his short stories. He provides an essential overview of Conrad's fascinating life and career and his approach to writing and literature. A guide to further reading is included, which points to some of the most useful secondary criticism on Conrad. This is a most comprehensive and concise introduction to studying Conrad and will be essential reading for students of the twentieth-century novel and of modernism.      Measuring the Sadness Birgit Neuhold, 2009 Originally presented as the author's thesis doctoral Fernuniversität Hagen 2008
