Service Cores Ken Yeang, 2000 The Detail in Building series is an essential source of contemporary data covering the key elements of building design that form the vocabulary of current architecture Previous titles include Staircases Soft Canopies Glass Canopies Columns Cable Nets and Wind Towers and a publication on Balconies is currently in preparation Each is clearly analysed both historically and in terms of recent examples by key practices around the world The combination of building context design aesthetics and technical solution as revealed in the case studies is highly informative as well as unique in a field where specific technical quality of design detailing is often insufficiently exposed by the superficial presentation of designs Service Cores the seventh title in the series deals with the internal vertical cores of buildings the parts that contain the elevators elevator shafts lobbies staircases mechanical electrical and IT riser ducts toilets and other components necessary both for environmental servicing and to provide access to the building's useable spaces Initially associated mainly with skyscrapers and science buildings service cores are becoming equally essential in the design of other highly serviced building types from laboratories and high tech buildings to hotels shopping malls and stadiums The author discusses the historical treatment and development of service cores and provides an outline guide to the considerations required in their design This is supported by a series of case studies featuring mainly skyscraper buildings from all over the world by a range of architects of international renown Guide to Natural Ventilation in High Rise Office Buildings Antony Wood, Ruba Salib, 2013 This guide sets out recommendations for every phase of the planning construction and operation of natural ventilation systems in these buildings including local climatic factors that need to be taken into account how to plan for seasonal variations in weather and the risks in adopting different implementation strategies All of the recommendations are based on analysis of the research findings from richly illustrated international case studies This is the first technical guide from the Council on Tall Buildings and Urban Habitat's Tall Buildings Sustainability Working Group looking in depth at a key element in the creation of tall buildings with a much reduced environmental impact while taking the industry closer to an appreciation of what constitutes a sustainable tall building and what factors affect the sustainability threshold for tall The Urban Vernacular in Southeast Asia Nor Zalina Harun, Shireen Jahn Kassim, 2025-05-16 This book constructs a number of discourses dialectics and analyses across the disciplines of urban form architecture and urban experience thus incorporating both conservation and design issues It bridges the gap between practice and theory by reconstructing the role of the village or vernacular in the discourses and trends of the twenty first century post Covid19 environment Bringing together for the first time the confluences of theory and practice in the urban vernacular and the urban village the contributors use vernacular concepts and settings as a common framework serving as cultural bridges connecting traditional forms ecologies and habitats to new global ideas industrial economies and access to developing urban sustainability design planning and services in Asia's rising megacities The book begins with concerns of urban layout and morphology aiming to establish discourse shared principles and terminology around conventional ideas of the village or traditional settlements apparently organic and disordered nature It then moves into architectural dimensions capturing formal cases of how the vernacular or traditional indigenous local concepts have inspired new ideas in award winning architecture and hence the importance of re examining the vernacular in light of the ongoing need to produce a more sustainable and place conscious fit in modern architecture and urban planning The book will be of interest to researchers in the fields of architecture urban planning and design urban geography design studies landscape architecture history of architecture urbanism and Asian Studies in particular those concerning Southeast Asia
